DANUBE REOPENED TO TRAFFIC BY AUSTRO-GERMANS; BULGARS WILL RECEIVE AMMUNITION FIRST PHASE OF CAMPAIGN COMPLETED

Flotilla of Steamers Ready

Teutons Confident Serbia Cannot Interfere With Arrangements.

Progress of Bulgarian Troops on Nish Threatens the Capital.

London, Oct. 28.—The first phase of the Austro-German-Bulgarian campaign in Serbia is completed. Not only have the invaders of Serbia realized the important objective of joining hands in the northeastern corner of the country, but they have enhanced this military advantage by procuring free passage down the Danube.

A flotilla of steamers is said to be already waiting to transport war material and it is stated confidently by Austro-German and Bulgarian leaders, Serbia cannot interfere with these arrangements. Bulgarian ammunition shortage should soon be relieved and their offensive power greatly strengthened.

The progress of Bulgarian troops east and northeast of Nish has threatened the city and places the Serbian army in a position of increased danger. Moreover, like the union of Bulgarian and Teutonic armies further north, the capture of Nish would have more than mere military or strategic advantage, since it would make possible rapid establishment of railway communications through Bulgaria, Nish and Serbia.

"Yesterday evening there was fighting of particular violence with bombs and hand grenades in the sectors of Palsel and Quevenneville."

"In the Champagne district the bombardment in which both sides took part, previously reported, continued during the night in the same locality, namely near Tahure, as well as in the vicinity of the Meuse called in Courme."

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

AWAITING BATTLE

Stage All Set for Big En-

Prieta, Sonora.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 28.—Preparations were completed today for the third battle at Agua Prieta, Sonora, between various factions since Madero opened the war in Mexico in 1910. Five thousand American troops, with sixteen three-inch guns, are mobilized here to see that the Mexicans shoot only on their own side of the boundary. Carranza troops lie behind an elaborate system of earthworks awaiting the approach of the Villa army.

Fighting may begin today, or some time next week. That is dependent upon the plans, disposition and condition of Villa's troops.

Bandits Attack U. S. Troops.

London, Oct. 28.—Sir Bryan T. Mahon has taken command of the British forces in Serbia. This announcement was made in the house of commons by Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under-secretary for war. He is 53 years old.

Moreover, like the union of Bulgarian and Teutonic armies further north, the capture of Nish would have more than mere military or strategic advantage, since it would make possible rapid establishment of railway communications through Bulgaria, Nish and Serbia.

Peabody, Mass., Oct. 28.—Within the blackened brick shell of what yesterday morning was St. John's parochial school, men searched today for the cause of the fire which cost the lives of twenty-one girls.

Daily today five bodies remained unidentified while five girls were reported missing by their families. Owing to the condition of unclaimed bodies, identification probably will be impossible.

Search for possible additional bodies was made under the direction of Chief of Police Grady, while inspectors of the state police were trying to ascertain the cause of the fire.

from here. No casualties were reported on either side.

The attacks occurred shortly after 1:30 this morning. The numbers in the attacking party were not obtainable by the troops. In the Capote district the brush is known as the most dense growth along the border. After the first attack the infantry was reinforced by half a troop of the Third cavalry from Hidalgo, three miles distant.

News of a battle fought on Mexican soil between a detachment of Carranza soldiers and a band of bandits, said to be under Luis de La Rosa, who was earlier reported to have moved his camp, was received in Matamoros today. It was rumored that De La Rosa has been captured.

This is coincident with the announcement from Matamoros headquarters that First Chief Carranza had issued an order for his soldiers to chase the bandits from the Mexican border, until all were killed or captured.

While working on a steel junction tower of the Great Northern Power company near Nopeming yesterday afternoon, Harry W. Hayden, 22, walked into a 33,000-volt wire and was knocked to the ground by the powerful charge, dying a short time later.

Members of the crew in which Hayden worked ran to his assistance, and worked over his body for more than an hour. Physicians arrived on the scene shortly after 4 o'clock, but life had been extinct for some time.

Hayden was an iron worker and lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayden, flat No. 1, Miller block, 1801 West Superior street.

"I heard the wire snap," said Herbert Hanson, a chum of Hayden's, who was on the tower but a few feet distant, "and turned quickly. Harry was Montreal, Oct. 28.—The steamer Donaconna foundered in mid-Atlantic and was not torpedoed by a German submarine as at first reported, according to advices received here. The crew took to the boats and were saved.

The Donaconna, which was owned by the Canada Steamship company, has been engaged in carrying iron ore between Sydney, N. S., and English ports. Her captain when she left here was A. Lawrence of Hantsport, N. S. The mate was J. Levesque of Gaspe. The first engineer was Hugh McMillan of Fort William, Ont., and the second engineer was Herbert Burton of Port Arthur, Ont. It is presumed that these would still be aboard.

The following official announcement was made:

"While the king this morning (Thursday) was inspecting his army in the field, his horse, excited by the cheers of the troops, reared up and fell. The king was bruised severely and will be confined to bed for the present."

A later bulletin, under today's date, says:

"The king has had a fair night, with some sleep. The temperature is now 99.2 and pulse 75. His majesty's general condition has improved and no complications have arisen."

"ANTHONY BOWLEY,"
"BERTRAND DAWSON."

It is understood that the accident to the king was not serious, although no details have been made public beyond those disclosed in the official announcement.

Announcement was made on Monday that King George was in France, having gone to visit the British army. On Tuesday the king, with the prince of Wales, President Poincare and the then French war minister, Alexander Miller, reviewed the British troops. He then called on Gen. ACCIDENT CONFINES KING OF GREAT BRITAIN TO HIS BED

KING GEORGE.

London, Oct. 28.—Rumor continues to ascribe to the Greek government intentions hostile to the Entente powers, even going so far as to say Greece has an understanding with Bulgaria, and at the psychological moment will fall upon the allied troops which landed at Saloniki. No such designs are really credited to Greece in London, but England and France continue to watch the political situation at Athens with unequipped anxiety.

Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, said today that Greece's espousal of the cause of the Central powers was an impossibility, and similar assurances come from authoritative Greek sources. The inactivity which has marked the situation on the western front for some time is still unbroken. In the east, Field Marshal von Hindenburg's attack in the Riga district has entered upon a new phase.

FOUR HELD FOR MURDER

November Grand Jury Has Big Grist of Criminal Cases.

Embezzlement and Spectacular Robbery Will Also Come Up.

Several cases of more than usual public interest will be brought to the attention of the grand jury which will convene at the opening of the November term of court next Wednesday, according to Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney.

No less than four men will face the grand jury on charges of murder. They are Anders Stream, who shot and killed his wife on their farm in Kenwood park, Sept. 23; Edward Poole, negro, also charged with wife murder; Mike Hastings and Mack Hammond, accused of the slaying of William Saari, Brookton homesteader, on Oct. 28. All four men are held prisoners at the county jail.

"Sunny" Green, another negro, has been bound over to the grand jury on a charge of first degree assault. He shot his wife, but she will probably recover.

The grand jury will probably investigate the death of Edward Dalton, D. & L. R. section hand, who is believed to have been murdered on Oct. 8 by an unidentified person, who put strychnine in whiskey which Dalton drank.

Other cases of public interest which will come before the attention of the grand jury will be those involving charges of misappropriation of county funds which have been lodged against Gust L. Wedan and Joseph T. Nelson, former deputies in the office of the county treasurer.

The grand jury will also investigate the Ralph H. Miller case. Miller was held following a spectacular robbery in which he is believed to have been implicated. He was arrested in connection with the theft of $1,700 from S. L. Reichert, treasurer of the Duluth Street Railway company, on Sept. 25.

It is expected that about twenty-five cases will be presented to the jury. The list also includes the usual number of small and unimportant cases.

County Attorney Greene will probably retry Walter J. Richeson, former deputy municipal clerk of court, on a charge of misappropriation of city funds next term, and it item, and charges, that George K. Robertson, Northern Pacific switchman on a charge of burglary will be brought to trial.

OATMEAL HILL HAS TWO BIG NIGHTS

Double Celebration Friday
Saturday.

The children and grown people of Woodland will celebrate Halloween tonight at the Cobb school in good, old-fashioned style. The school has been appropriately decorated with jack-o'-lanterns and other timely things, and there will be dancing in the assembly hall and games everywhere. Some of the children are planning to attend in costume, and it may be that some of the grown folks will do the same. There will be a program as well as games, and it is expected that the evening will prove a delightful one.

Another attraction for "Oatmeal Hill" in general will be the annual initiation of newcomers to the district by the Glen-Hill club. This is usually the occasion of a general mingling, which is characteristic of the people for "Oatmeal Hill" knows no caste. Quite a number of people have built homes in that section of the city during the past year and are eligible for membership. Except those who are provisionally "sick" they will be brought out and put through the stunts which usually characterize these affairs.

Tomorrow night there will be a Halloween celebration at Washburn school by the community center just organized there. It will be in charge of Miss Pearl Dell and Miss Anna Macfarlane.

CAMELS OPEN NEW LODGE ROOMS

Dance Given in New Quarters—Public Reception Will Follow.

About 200 persons were present last night at the dancing party given by the Camels of the World at their new hall in the old Empress theater building. The Camels are spending their new quarters with a three-day program.

The new clubrooms are among the largest in the city, and every department of the lodge is adequately provided with rooms and equipment. The lodge proper is large enough to seat 350 people. In addition, there is a ladies' waiting room, smoking and lounging rooms for men, kitchen, dining room and a locker room.

A reception to the public will be given tonight. Tomorrow's program comprises a banquet in the evening, at which prominent men of the city will speak. Among the out-of-town speakers will be ex-Governor A. C. Guberhart, Henry R. Adams and William N. Brown of Minneapolis, and C. H. Moore, international organizer. There will be quartet numbers, two vaudeville numbers and a program by Flaxen's orchestra. Dr. C. J. Wallace will preside.

WOMEN'S CLUBS IN RUSSIA TO FEDERATE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Petrograd, Oct. 5.—Steps have been taken to form a federation of women's clubs in Russia under the leadership of the Women's Equal Rights association.

Parents' committees, in connection with Russian high schools, have had a somewhat checkered trial in the past. Under the present administration of the department of education they are to be given freer scope. Elections have been held recently in all the Petrograd gymnasiums or high schools for boys and girls.

BUS RECEIPTS GROW IN DARKEST LONDON

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 15.—Darkest London has swelled the bus receipts, as a large part of the public would rather pay a penny to cross the street than take a bus. The way a new saying puts it. At any rate the number of short fares has increased noticeably since the new driving order has gone into effect. While bus receipts suffered from a slacking in the summer months after the big Zeppelin raid, this loss was made up many fold by the visitors to the ruined buildings.

"MURDER" IS VERDICT OF THE CORONER'S JURY

liam Saari, Brookston Homesteader.

Mike Hastings Is Accused
Shot.

Murder was the verdict of a coroner's jury which held an inquest yesterday afternoon at the Crawford morgue over the body of William Saari, homesteader, who was shot and killed Tuesday morning on a lonely stretch of tote road three miles south of the village of Brookston. Mike Hastings and Mack Hammond, the two men under arrest as suspects, were charged by the jury as being responsible for the crime. The two men will probably be arrested today on warrants formally charging them with the crime.

The jury found that "Saari came to his death as a result of a gunshot wound" and that the shot was "fired from a revolver by one Hastings." The verdict also included a finding that "one Hammond was a party to and aided and abetted in the killing."

Only three witnesses were called before the coroner's jury and the testimony and evidence introduced was practically the same as previously related to the authorities. Matt Niemi, who was with Saari when he was murdered, was the principal witness. He was positive in his identification of Hastings and Hammond as the murderers.

Matt Niemi, neighbor and companion of Saari and an eye witness to the murder, wiped an occasional tear from his eyes while he related his story of how two desperadoes had attacked Saari and himself and had shot down his friend. Niemi testified through an interpreter. His story is the same as he told it to the Brookston village marshal and to the county authorities.

Neighbors for Years.
Niemi said that Saari and himself had been neighbors for years on farms in section 1, 19-18, located about twelve miles south of Brookston. About five weeks ago, the two men went to the harvest fields of North Dakota, where they found employment on a threshing crew. On Monday evening of that week, they left Grand Forks to return to Brookston. Arriving in the village about 10 o'clock, they passed about one hour visiting various grocery stores and saloons. The grocery store they purchased something to eat for a lunch on their way to their farms and in a saloon conducted by Frank McMahon, Saari purchased several bottles of beer. These were placed in a sack which Saari carried.

Niemi testified that he first saw Hastings and Hammond on the road about one and one-half miles from Brookston. The witness stated that he and Saari had stepped off the road a distance of about twenty feet and were engaged in eating their lunch when the two men passed. Hastings and Hammond, he noticed that they were laying behind a windmill beside the road a short distance ahead. After Niemi and Saari had refreshed themselves, the witness said, they proceeded on their way. Hastings and Hammond also were walking at the same direction. Niemi declared that he and his companion were walking at a faster pace and that they passed them.

Held Up by Strangers.
About one-half mile down the road from the place where the lunch was eaten, Niemi testified, he and Saari were overtaken by two strangers who commanded them to do something which Niemi says that they could not understand. When Niemi looked back, he noticed that the larger one of the two (Hammond) had a red handkerchief tied across his mouth. Hastings wore no mask, he said.

"They began shooting right away—the little fellow did—and the big one tried to pull him away by the coat, but he pulled the trigger two or three times again before the second shot came out. I saw him fall. He was hit—he took a couple of steps forward and fell. 'Did he hit?' I asked. 'Yes,' 'Where?' 'In my heart.' Then I asked him what I could do for him. The witness testified that after Hastings had shot two or three shots, he and his accomplice turned and ran down the road towards Brookston. Saari was lying crumpled up in a heap, unconscious and dying from loss of blood which was oozing from his wound and from his mouth and nose. Niemi testified that he thought perhaps the highwaymen might shoot him if he lingered in the vicinity, and he struck off across country. About three-fourths of a mile away he came to a shingle mill where he reported the affair to J. M. Miettunen, Finnish storekeeper at Brookston, who immediately notified the police.

Niemi testified that neither Saari nor himself had a gun or revolver with them. The witness testified that he had not owned a revolver or small gun for several years. Saari owned a revolver, he said, but he had left it at home.

Marshal Notified.
Thomas Flynn, village marshal, when examined by County Attorney Greene, testified that he was eating dinner at a hotel when some one informed him that there had been a murder. Miettunen gave him the message he had received from Niemi, and he picked up a posse and started to search for them.

The marshal stated that at a point on the county road out of Brookston about three-quarters of a mile distant from the village, he saw two men in the road about forty rods ahead of him. Heiving the two men within ten rods of them, the two men struck off in the woods. Flynn said that he followed them in the woods to head them off and that he later saw both men stepped out onto the road. Flynn was called back and he commanded the two strangers to throw up their hands. They were then handcuffed and searched for weapons and placed under arrest.

Prisoners Identified.
"On the way back to the village," Flynn testified, "the smaller man (Hastings) asked me what the trouble was. He said that he had been murdered. He didn't ask any more questions. I didn't say anything further to either one of them until later in the day when they gave me their names as Hastings and Hammond."

The witness declared that both of the prisoners had admitted that they had seen Niemi and another Finn purchase some beer in the McMahon saloon that morning. The marshal declared that he had seen the larger of the two men (Hammond) hanging around Brookston the night before. He also testified that when he asked Niemi, the eye witness to the murder, to identify the two prisoners, he gave an accurate description of the two suspects. Later at the village lockup he positively identified Hastings as the man who had done the shooting and pointed to Hammond as the accomplice.

When the two men were taken to the police, the red handkerchief which Niemi testified had been worn by Hammond was found on the person of both prisoners. Hammond's pocketbook was handed over to the deputy sheriffs, but Flynn testified that he gave Hastings his notebook back.

Flynn's testimony may also clear up the mystery surrounding the financing of an employment ticket issued to John Peterson on the person of Hammond. The ticket was dated Oct. 26 and was issued in Duluth on the morning of the same day that the murder occurred. John Peterson shipped out of Duluth for Brookston on the morning train here at 8:45 o'clock and arriving at his destination at 11:15 o'clock.

Cannot Recollect Facts.
When the authorities found the Peterson ticket on Hammond and subsequently on Hastings, the Duluth employment agency that the ticket had been issued on Tuesday morning, they could not recollect the fact that the statements of the Brookston police and Niemi testified that the ticket had been issued on Tuesday morning. Flynn testified that yesterday John Peterson had made a complaint to him that his pack had been stolen. The theory of the authorities now is that the ticket was issued on Tuesday morning, his pack containing his employment ticket was stolen by the two desperadoes on the road and that after helping themselves to what they wanted they threw away the pack.

Peterson May Be Witness.
Peterson told Flynn that he had secured an employment ticket on Tuesday morning for a position with the Muller-Dickson Bros. Packing Co. of their camps near Brookston, but that he had missed his pack soon after he arrived in the morning. Peterson may be held as a witness in the case.

J. L. McDonald, who with Dr. McGiffert, conducted an autopsy over Saari's body, described the wound he found in the chest. The bullet, he said, had entered the back at the level of the eleventh rib on the left side and was found lodged under the fourth rib on the right side. The bullet was evidently fired from a 32-caliber revolver, the surgeon testified.

THIEVES OVERLOOK COINS AND JEWELS
Take Old Revolver From Bureau Containing Valables at Erickson Home.

They were careless burglars who ransacked the house of Carl Erickson, 627 North Central avenue, early last night and took an old rusty revolver from a bureau containing jewelry and gold coins worth $100. The revolver is all that is missing.

Shortly after 10 o'clock, when Mr. Erickson returned home, he found the place in great confusion. The thieves evidently had gained entrance through a basement window.

On the bureau in which the revolver was kept there were two $250 gold pieces, two $100 gold pieces, a brooch and several small rings and a watch worth in all about $500. These articles were not even disturbed, although not an arm's length from the revolver.

GERMANY GETS LARGE AMOUNT OF COTTON

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Lausanne, Switzerland, Oct. 10.—According to news received here from Muterz, a heavy consignment of cotton that arrived there recently is being sent across the frontier into Germany notwithstanding the rigorous measures against contraband. The consignment said to have received from Germany about the same time 1,000 large tin boxes. It was noted that the cotton was gradually disappearing; the tin boxes also. The cotton, compressed in the boxes found its way into the Rhine and was shipped out by the Baden ferry-men who operate the line between Switzerland and Germany a little farther down stream.

Justified in Killing Peddler.
San Francisco, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Pamel, a bride, who confessed to the police that on Oct. 18 she had killed Michael Weinstein, a crippled peddler, with an ax and then chopped his body into small pieces, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday. The jury held that the killing of Weinstein by Pamel was justified by the ground that she was defending herself.

EXTRA SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Will Establish Safety Zone and Consider Electrical Inspection.

Action establishing a safety zone in front of the Jackson school will be taken by the city commissioners at a special meeting tomorrow morning.

The resolution to be introduced by Mayor Prince, grants the school children use of the street in front of the school during five specified periods of the day.

In addition, the commissioners will designate the city depositaries for the next two years and formally authorize Commissioner Farrell to enter into a contract with the village of Proctor giving sewer connection to property owners along the city limits.

Mayor Prince will also introduce an ordinance taking the first step toward centralizing the duties of building, plumbing and electrical inspection in this city.

The ordinance, which will be given its first reading tomorrow, amends the electrical ordinance passed in 1908 so that the duties of electrical inspection will no longer be in the hands of the electrical engineer, but in the building inspector's office. The announcement of this change was made by Mayor Prince in The Herald yesterday.

DECISION AT EARLY DATE

Municipal Judgeship Controversy May Be Settled Next Week.

Only Supreme Judges Can Hold Over, Is Phelps' Claim.

That a judge can hold over only on the supreme bench and in no other court of the state of Minnesota is the contention of H. H. Phelps, attorney for W. H. Smallwood, in a supplementary brief filed with the state body yesterday in connection with the Windom-Smallwood quo warranto proceedings. At the hearing last Monday Mr. Phelps was given a stay of five days in which to prepare the brief.

"I expect an early decision," said Mr. Phelps this morning, "and would not be surprised if an opinion was handed down a week from today. We have cited cases and opinions on the question of a judge holding over and am certain that the supreme body will decide in our favor."

Should the supreme court decide that only a supreme court judge can hold over, then the argument in the Windom-Smallwood controversy will rest on the question of first and second choice votes and on the governor's appointment. Judge Windom contends that he was elected by first choice votes, while Mr. Smallwood claims that the voting system was in force and that its provisions were known to all the candidates before the election last April. He claims a legal election on all the ballots. In addition Mr. Smallwood has raised the point that he was appointed by Governor Hammond to fill a vacancy declared by the attorney general.

Attorneys for both sides are confident of victory in the quo warranto proceedings. The decision to be made by the supreme court either next Friday or the one following will bring to a final settlement the controversy over the local municipal judgeship.

DECREASE IN CITY RATE

Commissioners Disclaim Responsibility for Higher Taxes.

Only Division Showing a Lower Rate Than in 1900.

Statements that the city's tax burden is growing were declared by commissioners this morning to be misleading. Figures prepared this morning by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, in answer to a statement made in a local labor publication, show that the city's tax rate from 1900 to 1914 has decreased from 17.70 mills to 16.07 mills, instead of increased and that the city's rate today would have been 4.88 mills more than it is not for the fact that a levy must now be made for street intersections, whereas property owners were assessed for the entire street improvement formerly, and another levy for the fire and police pension funds.

The statements by advocates of a government change who say that the rate paid by Duluthians in 1900 was 30 cents, or $30 per one thousand on the city's valuation, while the rate today is $4.90, an increase of 4.90 mills in more than doubled during that time.

This is admitted by the commissioners, but by dividing the total levy into the various divisions, they show that the city's rate is the only one that has decreased.

The figures follow:

	1900.	1914.	Inc.	Dec.
State	2.83	4.75	1.92
County	2.77	3.45	.68
School	6.70	10.63	3.93
City	17.70	16.07		1.63
Total	29.00	34.90	5.90	1.63

Several years ago the old charter was amended so that the cost of street intersections would be paid by general taxation, instead of by assessments against property. This necessitated a special levy for the improvement, which amounted to the practically $150,000. Added to the mills for the pension fund and the decrease of the four-year term, it was a total decrease of 4.88 mills. It was pointed out that, for these extra levies now necessary, the total levy for the city in 1914 would have been 12.87 mills instead of 16.07 mills.

FINDS AUTO ON FIRE.
Blaze Is Extinguished and Abandoned Car Towed to City.

While driving toward the city on the Howard-Green road yesterday, R. I. Davis, 326 Winona street, found an automobile in flames, abandoned by the roadside.

After extinguishing the fire with water-soaked grass, he towed it to Duluth. Chief McKencher, through the license tag, identified the machine as that of Neil T. Fuller, chauffeur, 826 East Fifth street.

Mr. Fuller explained that he was on a hunting trip, and that the engine back-fired, starting a small blaze. "I put the fire out," he said, "but I couldn't start the engine again." A few minutes later he was picked up by a passing machine and returned to Duluth. There was some smoke coming from the car when he left, he said, but there was no sign of fire. He was unable to explain how the flames had rekindled.

In the year 1913 120,000 persons left the United States with the help of the settlement in Canada, compared with 140,143 in 1912.

Facts About GLOBE

Tailor-Made Union Suits (With Trouser Seat) For Men.

Instead of the customary rigid single seam to tear the fabric with every strain, GLOBE Garments are made with a patented elastic gusset crotch. This gusset gives with every move of the body, and distributes all strain over the entire fabric, so that the crotch—the first place to wear in ordinary garments—is generally the last place to show signs of wear in a GLOBE.

After the first full season of usage, your GLOBE Underwear will still be good for one or two seasons more of wear.

For economy's sake, try a suit today. In cotton, worsted Merino, silk and wool.

Three weights, $5.00 down to $1.50.

Children Need Shrinkless Underwear

When underwear shrinks, it loses more than just size. It loses your children's comfort—binds their bodies, draws their shoulders and cramps their chests at the most formative period of life. Every inch of fabric in

GLOBE

Tailor Made Underwear is thoroughly shrunk before cutting. That's why the finished garments are as shrinkless as good underwear can ever be made.

And then—there's the economy of these SHRINK PROOF garments to consider, when you realize that children outgrow their underwear fast enough, without its shrinking away in the wash.

For the children's comfort and your own economy, try GLOBE UNDERWEAR.

SAY GIRL IS SHOPLIFTER

Police Believe They Have One Member of Organized Gang.

Companion Accused of Stealing Dress From Superior Street Store.

In the person of Mary Ahro, 16, a smiling, red-headed Finnish girl, police believe they have one member of a gang of shoplifters who have been robbing Duluth mercantile establishments systematically for several weeks. At first officers were disarmed by the girl's frank countenance and seeming innocence, but after she had been in a cell for a while her stories began to conflict, and orders to release her were countermanded.

The Ahro girl, in company with a man, entered the National Cloak company's store yesterday morning and picked out a hat and suit, the man paying for it.

The girl appeared to be interested in a silk dress, and promised to return later.

In the middle of the afternoon the pair returned with another girl. The Ahro girl, under pretense of showing the man the dress, called him to her side, and while they were talking together he slipped the dress under his coat.

One of the clerks noticed the theft and notified Lyle Oreck, manager. When the man started out Mr. Oreck stopped him, but the thief, accompanied by the girl, pushed him aside and dodged out before the manager could spread the alarm.

Officer Montgomery, in charge of traffic at Lake avenue and Superior street, arrested the girl shortly afterwards as a suspect. Police Matron Cernelly found a large sum of money on the girl, who said she had driven to Superior from Parkdale, Wis., that morning.

HAS ARRAIGNED

CAPT. A. G. FISKETT.

Twenty-two years ago today Capt. A. G. Fiskett was given a police star and began walking a beat along Lake avenue, then as big a business street as Superior street. He began his duties as a patrolman Oct. 29, 1893.

His record as an officer probably is more interesting than that of any other man on Duluth's police force, for during his long period of service, and particularly in more recent years, he has been connected with some of the biggest "cases" handled by the department.

Since he was appointed captain by former Chief of Police C. H. Trower eight years ago, Capt. Fiskett has been in charge of the daily municipal court criminal grist, and officers estimate that he has arraigned between 50,000 and 60,000 prisoners before the municipal judge during that time. The average is twenty a day.

Altogether, in the twenty-two years, fellow officers say that he has been connected with 100,000 cases, at a conservative estimate. He was patrolman six and one-half years, officer for four years, then sergeant and lieutenant.

BURGLARS TAKEN AT CAMP DOUGLAS

Storekeeper Shoots One While Another Is Captured in Store.

Camp Douglas, Wis., Oct. 28.—One burglar was perhaps fatally shot, and another captured when they were interrupted in an endeavor to loot the store of Frohman & Son, early today.

The breaking of window glass aroused Mrs. Frohman and in a few moments the store was surrounded by a posse of neighbors.

Mr. Frohman, with a shotgun, shot and captured one of the robbers when he refused to surrender. The other, rendered, both were lodged in jail.

An examination of the injured man showed that one shot penetrated his brain and forty-seven others lodged in his face and chest.

The man who surrendered gave his name as Fred Evans, Scranton, Pa. Evans claims he does not know the name or address of his pal. The injured man is unconscious.

BRITISH CONSCRIPTION IN FAR EAST POSSIBLE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Yokohama, Japan, Sept. 15.—Preparations for a possible British conscription have been extended to the far East. The British conscription act at Yokohama has published a notice requesting British subjects to register in view of the present state of war and the desirability of having as complete a record as possible of all British residents.

The Japan Gazette, the organ of the British community, expresses the hope that, though the registration is voluntary, all British citizens will willingly fall into line and give the necessary information. Residents are particularly requested to state what they are prepared and qualified to do in case of need.

DRINKING AMONG WOMEN IN LONDON

Believed That No-Treating Law Will Have Good Effect.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 15.—The no-treating law now enforced in the London district will from present indications greatly decrease drinking among women, for it is among the women of the lower classes that treating is the most prevalent. Even in the most poverty stricken slums of the East, a woman who drinks by herself is considered mean, greedy and unsocial and she is accordingly ostracized. The only social life among these women is at the public houses. At all times of the day they may be seen around the bars or in the street in front with beer taken as a joke. Since the law prevents minors entering the barrooms, the women with children in their arms stand outside, and the babies are provided with pines and games, and tea and other soft drinks are sold at cut prices. Heretofore, the

RUSS WOULD MAKE BIG LOAN IN UNITED STATES

New York, Oct. 29.—It was reported here from sources considered reliable that agents of the Russian government are seeking to establish a credit loan in this country from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 and even more if the money can be obtained. The details of the reported loan were lacking, but it was said to be somewhat similar to the recently consummated Anglo-French loan, save that no bond issue was contemplated. In one quarter it was reported that the Russian government was willing to pay as high as 8 per cent interest. This report added that the loan probably would be for eighteen months and would be in the neighborhood of $50,000,000. It is said that negotiations looking to the establishment of a loan have been under way for some little time, and that a definite announcement might be forthcoming soon. This, however, could not be confirmed. The sum which would be sought by Russia would be spent entirely in this country in the payment of supplies shipped to Russia by American exporters.

GERMAN WEIGHTS CAN BE MADE OF IRON NOW

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Berlin, Oct. 16.—Because copper, nickel and brass are so much more valuable for other things—namely ammunition—the Imperial Normal Assaying commission has decreed that weights and measures no longer must be made from them, but that iron may be utilized. Iron heretofore has been forbidden because weights fashioned from it have been inaccurate.

PLANTS WORK NIGHT AND DAY

Enormous Demand for Iron and Steel Cannot Be Supplied.

Volume of Business More Than Double That of Year Ago.

New York, Oct. 25.—So great has been the sudden and general revival in the iron and steel trade of the United States, it was said by authorities yesterday, that with virtually every blast furnace and steel mill in the country working night and day to capacity, the demand for iron, steel and steel products cannot be satisfied, and it is today almost impossible to buy for immediate delivery pig iron, scrap or ingots in sizable quantities at any industrial plant in the country. The revival began about the first of last July, has been coming on rapidly with a deluge of orders since the middle of August, and may not yet have reached its high mark.

Within these three months the price of pig iron, long regarded as the barometer of trade, has increased approximately 35 per cent, and that of steel and steel products—except steel rails—has gone up about 15 per cent.

Demand Exceeds Capacity.
At the present time the demand for pig iron and for the various lines of steel is in excess of the producing capacity of the furnaces and mills of the United States, a statement issued by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation.

The manufacturers are unable to make deliveries entirely satisfactory to the purchasers with respect to a large majority of the different kinds of finished steel.

There is nothing to indicate that there will be a decrease in the demand for any of these products for some time. While prices received are still low, they have been and are increasing, and apparently will go higher, so that fair and reasonable profits may be expected.

Of course, these very satisfactory conditions are more or less affected by the war business, so-called, yet it is undoubtedly true that there is a better feeling throughout the general iron and steel trade than has been experienced for some time.

Business More Than Doubled.
Experts who have followed the rising fortunes of iron and steel within the past twelve months asserted that the volume of business in both domestic and foreign, at present is more than double what it was a year ago and that there are today 125,000 men employed at iron and steel plants throughout the United States who were not on the payroll a year ago. This is about 50 per cent increase. The reason for the increased number of men employed being disproportionate to the volume of business, they assert is that during dull times many men were retained for the purpose of making repairs, cleaning up and preparing the plants for the resumption of work.

The fires have been lighted in virtually every blast furnace in the United States. In the case of the Steel corporation the last remaining idle furnace at Columbus, Ohio, is now being put into operation. Plants closed for long periods, due to the high cost of operation and the prevailing low prices of their products, have been blown in during the last three months. To find a parallel for the greater activity in the iron and steel trade, it was said today, it was necessary to go back eight years to the middle of 1907.

Products Enormous.
Steel and steel products are rolling out of the mills today at the rate of 50,000,000 tons a year, it is conservatively estimated, and iron is being manufactured at the rate of 40,000,000 tons. Yet with all this present activity, so great is the demand, it is stated, especially the foreign demand, that it is virtually impossible today to buy for immediate delivery.

Prices have increased somewhat slowly, it is said, but there seems to be every indication that further rises are on the way. At the present time it is estimated there are employed in the producing end of the industry approximately 325,000 men.

WOULD TAKE TARIFF OUT OF POLITICS

Wilson Administration Desires to Remove Question From Party Disputes.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 29.—Efforts of the Wilson administration to prevent certain fundamental questions, such as the tariff, from being battlefield and shuttlecock of party politics, were discussed here by Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo at a breakfast tendered him by state officials and prominent citizens of Montana. "We are trying," said Mr. McAdoo, "to take certain fundamental questions out of politics, so that they may not be party questions in the future as they have been in the past. Among them is the tariff. "Politicians have gone up and down the country," he continued, "urging us that their particular party could bring prosperity. First it was the Republicans, then the Democrats. The politicians have been playing this game of seaway to get into office, but their predictions and promises are all bunk. We have not had any real prosperity in the United States for ten years, because our business out-grew the clumsy financial system which we have been talking about correcting for thirty years, but which we did not get to until President Wilson insisted on Congress taking it up as soon as the tariff bill was out of the way."

FRENCH OPERA TO BE OPENED NEXT MONTH

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 15.—The long-delayed opening of the Opera is now promised for next month. Monsieur Rouche, the new director, says he will give only two matinees a week, on Sunday and Thursday, with French operas to begin with, followed by works of the "Allies." Monsieur Albert Carré of the Comédie Française, adopting the same idea of favoring ally authors, is preparing a production of "Gloconda," by Gabriel d'Annunzio, to be followed by "Le Cid" by the French poet Voltaire. New pieces are not lacking, Monsieur Carré says, but the opera theater will rely mostly upon revivals of old favorites until the staff, depleted by the mobilization, has been brought to its full strength. The Opera Comique, laboring under great difficulties, has succeeded in supporting all of the company not mobilized. Out of seven leaders there remained but one after the mobilization.

"MISSING!—George Warham offers a reward of $1000.00 for information as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Susan Ferguson, nee Susan Lenox, his young niece."

Susan Lenox was forced by her uncle to marry a brutal farm hand. After the first night with him she fled, finding safety with a troupe of river actors. Now the words of that fateful newspaper paragraph seemed to threaten her security and imperil her future.

These new companions were social outcasts—and pathetically poor. A thousand dollars meant a fortune to them. With money so scarce and so useful, little would they scruple how they got it. It would be natural for them to recognize in her the missing niece of George Warham.

Would they deliver her back to the life which now was but a hideous memory? Better death than further degradation at the hands of her drunken husband.

"The Story of Susan Lenox" will stir your very soul. Susan's trials have only just begun. You will read with breathless interest her hard struggle against hunger, cold, anxiety, and the last, worse danger that threatens every helpless woman. GOVERNMENT WANTS INDIAN LANDS BACK

Federal Authorities Claim Two Pieces in Becker County.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond today conferred with Attorney General Smith regarding the proposed return to the interior department at Washington of two pieces of land in Becker county which, it is claimed, is the property of White Earth Indians. The two pieces of land were part of allotments made to the Indians some years ago, but by mistake were included in a large tract of swamp land patented to the state by the Federal government. The interior department has requested that the state deed the land back to the Federal government, but Attorney General Smith is inclined to give the whole thing a thorough investigation before acting. In the White Earth Indian district there is much land covered under Indian allotments and this is claimed by the state. It is feared that if the government request is heeded that it may cause trouble in the case of other lands now held by the state.

WOULD STOP THEFTS OF GRAIN

Numerous Law Violations Stir Railway Officers to Action.

Special officers of railroads entering Duluth, aroused by numerous cases of wheat sweeping and boxcar thefts, have started a campaign against law violations of this nature. Mike Contas, 33, was caught climbing between cars in the Northern Pacific yard last night with a bag of flour on his shoulder. N. P. Officer Jacobson, who saw him, grappled with Contas and brought him to headquarters after a struggle. Arraigned on a charge of burglary today, he waived examination and was bound over to await grand jury action in $300 bail. Contas is an old offender, police say. John Kurie, 38, arrested in the N. P. yards by Officer Sundberg, said he was not guilty of trespass, and will be heard this afternoon. Annie Siebek, 40, caught picking up coal by a special officer, was brought to headquarters today by Lieut. Holmstrom of the West end station. She was sentenced to ten days in jail on a petty larceny charge.

ISABEL WILLIAMS IS PROBABLE PRESIDENT

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications are that Miss Isabel Williams, president of the St. Paul Grade Teachers' association, will be the next president of the Minnesota Educational association now in convention in Minneapolis. Miss Williams' election seems assured by the statement of Maria L. Sanford, professor emerita of the university, the other nominee, that she could not serve if elected and must be withdrawn from consideration.

MINNESOTA NOW HAS 90,100 AUTOMOBILES

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Licensed automobiles in Minnesota went over the 90,000 mark today when license No. 90,100 was issued. Secretary of State Schmah says the 100,000 figure will undoubtedly be reached before the close of the year.

CUPID HITS OCTOGENARIAN

David H. Hammond, Aged 85, Weds Mrs. Burk, Aged 67.

"Never Yet Bought Ring When I Got Married," He Says.

Although David H. Hammond has passed his eighty-fifth milestone along life's pathway, he is not yet out of range of the darts of Dan Cupid. This became evident this morning when the spry old gentleman marched up to the office of the district court clerk, plunked down $2.25 and called for a marriage license.

"We want to get married," the octogenarian told Frank Smith, the marriage-license man, as he nodded his head in the direction of a demure little woman at his side. She was Mrs. Barbara Burk and she confided with the clerk that she had just passed her sixty-seventh birthday.

It was a chipper old gentleman who walked out of the clerk's office with his bride-to-be on his arm. The wedding was solemnized a few minutes later in the office of Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court. Judge Gilpin was out of the city and the honor fell to James E. Gardner, whose official title is court commissioner of St. Louis county.

"Have you a ring?" inquired Mr. Gardner of the groom.

"Nope, never yet bought a ring when I got married," was the curt and decisive reply.

The bride allowed that a ringless marriage would be all right and the ceremony proceeded without further interruptions.

Mr. Hammond said that he hailed from Roberts county, S. D., where he owns a farm. Mrs. Burk's former home has been in Juneau county, Wis. Both have been married before.

Picked to Win From Illini—Wisconsin Choice Over Chicago.

Interest in the big football games of both the West and East is beginning to be shown in the wagers that are being made on the result of some of the various games that will be played tomorrow.

Minnesota is being installed a 10-to-7 favorite over the Illini, while Wisconsin is also held the popular choice over Stagg's Maroons. Some of those who like to have a piece of change up on the result of the big Western games, are willing to wager 10 to 6 on Wisconsin's chances.

Some of the followers of the dope peddlers are willing to wager that Penn State trumps Yale. Most of the local interest is in the outcome of the Minnesota-Illinois game. RULING ON LANGUAGE TEST IN SEAMAN'S LAW

Washington, Oct. 28.—A ruling on the language test required by the new seaman's law made today by the department of commerce will minimize the rigidity of that provision, which has been much complained of by shipping interests. It orders customs collectors to make no examinations if the master of a vessel certifies that his crew fulfill the requirements and that sufficient knowledge of language to insure obedience to orders given in the usual line of duty is the only test to be required.

ROUMANIANS ANGRY WITH GOVERNMENT

Paris, Oct. 28.—A dispatch to the Havas News agency from Bucharest, filed last Sunday and delayed in transmission, says a violent public demonstration against the policy of the government took place there on that day. One faction of the manifestants sought to reach the palace, but was prevented by a large force of troops. Two of the leaders asked for an audience with King Ferdinand. A number of minor street disturbances occurred.

Dispatches from Amsterdam and Berlin on Tuesday referred briefly to this

Two Pieces in Becker

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond today conferred with Attorney General Smith regarding the proposed return to the interior department at Washington of two pieces of land in Becker county which, it is claimed, is the property of White Earth Indians. The two pieces of land were part of allotments made to the Indians some years ago, but by mistake were included in a large tract of swamp land patented to the state by the Federal government. The interior department has requested that the state deed the land back to the Federal government, but Attorney General Smith is inclined to give the whole thing a thorough investigation before acting. In the White Earth Indian district there is much land covered under Indian allotments and this is claimed by the state. It is feared that if the government request is heeded that it may cause trouble in the

Special officers of railroads entering Duluth, aroused by numerous cases of wheat sweeping and boxcar thefts, have started a campaign against law violations of this nature. BOMBARDMENT WAS TERRIFIC

British Army Is Singing
Praises of Guns and Planes.

How Loos Was Taken After the Night of Bombardment.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
British Headquarters, France, Oct. 10.—Since the talking of Loos all the army is singing the praises of the guns and the planes. No such bombardment had ever been heard on the British front as that which preceded the attack.

WOMEN! TRY IT!

Save five dollars by dry cleaning
with gasoline.

It is very easy and inexpensive to dry clean and brighten all the ribbons, laces, yokes, neckties, silks, net work, suits, shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, furs, children's clothes, suits, caps, woolen garments, fancy vests, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, draperies, rugs, in fact, anything and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

machine guns or be hung up in the barbed wire. A year ago when we held the Germans back from the channel ports we were doing it with flesh and blood against the outnumbering German artillery. The most comforting sight in the world is an eight-inch shell fired from the first line.

Watching For the Time.
As morning approached after the night of bombardment, officers on the British front were looking at their wrist watches. In front of Loos the figure six marking the half hour—half-past six—was the goal of the creeping minute hand. At that moment a wave of men rose from the first line trench, and the volume of the stream from a hose lifted from one flower bed to another. Meanwhile, every man in the charge tried to out-run every other man. The sooner they were in the German trench the less likelihood of the Germans coming out of their dugouts and recovering their senses after the bath of shells and machine gun fire. If only one machine gun could be manned before the charge goes home the charge may be successful. The Germans had learned that it is a matter of wrist watches, of speed, team play and of seconds.

With the drive and the rush of dawn the birds of war had come from their aerodromes. The shell fire and the planes were all that the onlooker might see.

Concentrated Planes.
"I should think that we had eight planes that day to one of the Germans," said an aviator. "We had concentrated planes as well as guns."

Only when the secret of the point of concentration is kept can such an attack succeed against a modern defensive position. The Germans had learned that the British were preparing an attack; for their soldiers called out from their trenches to the British: "What are you coming?" to which one British replied: "I'll let you know as soon as Sir John French tells me."

Attacks were made that morning at several places; but the Germans expected the real attack elsewhere than Loos.

over the German positions seemed as difficult as to separate the spout of steam from one pipe from another when a hundred were making a wall of vapor.

All Seek Aerial Service.
Every youth in England apparently wants to get into the aerial service. So the corps has its pick. Promotion is rapid; the romance and the excitement of the work appeal. It is easy to learn to fly in the very stable latest type of machines which, as the saying goes, are "fool-proof." It takes only two months to train a man with aptitude to do the routine work of reconnaissance. But he must be young. You do not learn to fly at 35. It is not difficult to spot shells dropping from a plane, and to serve to slip down like a hawk which had located a fish in the water. At all hazards that intrepid aviator was going to identify the shell bursts of the batteries might have him in rifle range, but they were too busy trying to hold back the English infantry to fire at him.

Dropping Shells.
Other planes were dropping shells on railroad trains and bridges to hinder the Germans once they had learned to be exerted from rushing reinforcements to the spot. For that kind of work as for all long reconnaissance the aviators like low-flying clouds. They clip down out of these to have a look around and drop a bomb, and then rise to cover before the Germans can bring out barbed-wire had to be done before the German concentrating swept back in a counter-attack which was expected and which came. A Niagara of German gunfire added to that of the British announces another German effort.

So far the British have held their new positions; and when the Germans were attacking in one part of the line the British repulsed the German attack and took 500 yards from the Germans in an adjacent part.

How To Get Relief When Head

GIVES SUFFRAGE TWIST TO ENGAGEMENT OF PRESIDENT

President of Illinois Equal Suffrage Association Makes Pithy Comments on Men, Women and Affairs.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, retired president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, made many pithy comments on men, women and affairs, in her address at the convention of the organization here last night. She touched optimistically on suffrage defeat in New Jersey as containing items of satisfaction, and gave a suffrage twist to the engagement of President Wilson and Mrs. Galt, when she said:

"While suffrage has long been a state issue, it is fast becoming a practical national issue. The stirring of the nation's president has not yet recognized that the question of man and woman working together and together in a national issue, he has recognized it as a state issue, certainly as a White House issue."

Mrs. Trout discussed the important liquor question at length, and on many subjects was frequently epigrammatic. Excerpts from her address follow: "A thoughtful woman, when she alone assumes all of the political responsibilities cannot walk upright and manly. She must be a woman of vision, heartaches and misery that cannot be passed over her shoulders, still the government is assuming a grave responsibility in separating a man politically from the two beings on the face of this earth, who love and hate, who are the most beautiful and most significant to those who read the signs of the times to note the message brought in by the election returns from New Jersey. To those who see beneath the surface, it meant that back of the suffragist of New Jersey stand thousands of voting men. With the forces of equal suffrage thus augmented and gaining strength every day, it is only a question of time before conservative New Jersey will change its color on the suffrage map. We certainly hope that in New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, our other three campaign states, the men will go to the polls next week and manifest political wisdom by voting to add to their own strength the votes of their women."

Cannot Mix Issues.
"A certain class of rabid temperance people have insisted that suffragists should plunge into their fight. Anti-temperance element have been equally vindictive because women have not voted their way. 'Dry' but watchword of these people is 'heredity'—the right to the women of Illinois."

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

founded, equal suffrage regardless of sex.

"It seems almost impossible for people to recognize that women are just ordinary beings, the same as men, and therefore have difference of opinion on various questions, and like men, have a right to express them."

Equal Suffrage Basic.
"People mix equal suffrage—which is a fundamental principle of democracy of the vindictive fury and hatred that mix the suffrage with the peace agitation, with the labor agitation, and every other agitation. But these other questions are simply on the surface; they deal with results, not with cause. Equal suffrage is basic and fundamental and stands back of the solution of all of these other questions. It seems practically impossible, however, in the minds of both wets and dries, to separate the question of equal suffrage from the temperance question. It is exceedingly appropriate, therefore, for us to face the temperance problem and all that it involves."

"There are unreasonable, selfish men among both 'wets' and 'dries,' but there are thousands of sane men who could get together and solve this problem without the manifestation of the vindictive fury and hatred that is now manifested by these warring elements on every one. When I was down at Springfield I saw business delayed and needed legislation held up on account of the constant fights between these forces. It made one long to throw the whole bunch into Lake Michigan and make them all wet, and spread them out on the hot sand dunes of Indiana and make them dry just to demonstrate how much alike they are after all."

If the settlement of this temperance question struck at the 'dry' pocketbook there would be another tremendous outcry. Back of most of our struggles there is an economic reason. So let the 'wet interest' stop attacking the women on each and every occasion and let the 'dry interest' be unselfish and broad in their policies, and as a first step toward the practical solution of the temperance question let the 'wets' and 'dries' unite—forget their differences and work together for full suffrage and give the women of the country a voice in the settlement of this vexed question."

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 15.—In the ranks of the South African contingent, now in a training camp in Herefordshire, there are more men who have relinquished large salaries to serve the mother country at a shilling a day than in any other command of the size in the imperial army. One private before his enlistment drew a salary of over $25,000 a year as manager of one of the most important firms in the South African colony. Magistrates, well-to-do farmers and miners, civil servants of high position and even men who fought as officers in the campaign against the Boers against German South-west Africa, but had no commissions open to them in the new contingent, are in the ranks.

The South African contingent is filled with young heroes, as well as colonialists whose British parents were pioneers in that world. Its motto, "Endeavour Meekly,"—union makes strength—is Dutch.

Bad weather affected the troops at first, after their work in the burning deserts of German Africa, but with warm clothing they rather prefer it, as they enjoy sharper appetites. The contingent will be sent to the front as soon as acclimated.

GERMAN CONVICTS ARE MAKING GOOD

Most of Released Law-Breakers Have Enlisted in Army.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Berlin, Oct. 6.—The war's effects are distinctly noticeable in Germany's lawbreakers, according to the Association for the Betterment of Criminals. Released convicts, so far as they have come under the observation of this organization, have, in a majority of cases, enlisted in the army if physically able to do so, and have "made good" in civil occupations when their health made it impossible for them to serve. So many of the able-bodied released within the past three months have gone into the army that the association has had more jobs of a civilian nature than it could dispose of, and wages offered have risen accordingly. All 19 of the 538 men who have been applied for work have been given something to do. Paroled prisoners are said to have shown an unusually high percentage of apparent reform since the start of the war.

ARMY DESERTION IN JAPAN GROWS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Tokio, Sept. 16.—The frequency of army desertion, as well as suicide of some of the deserters, is causing some concern among the military authorities. Statistics show that during last year alone there were 112 cases of desertion, of which 93 per cent were common soldiers.

Tokio leads other cities with 184 cases while there were 112 cases at Osaka. Out of the total, 258 soldiers were brought before the military court and punished while 698 deserters voluntarily surrendered before the three days' grace had expired.

The increase of suicide among deserters is believed to be due to the reduction of days of grace during the war from six to three days, the deserter sometimes preferring to kill himself than face the shame of court-martial.

Deserters who surrender before the three days expire are restored to the service with a light admonition; they delay their return they become fugitives and are promptly punished on their arrest by the military court.

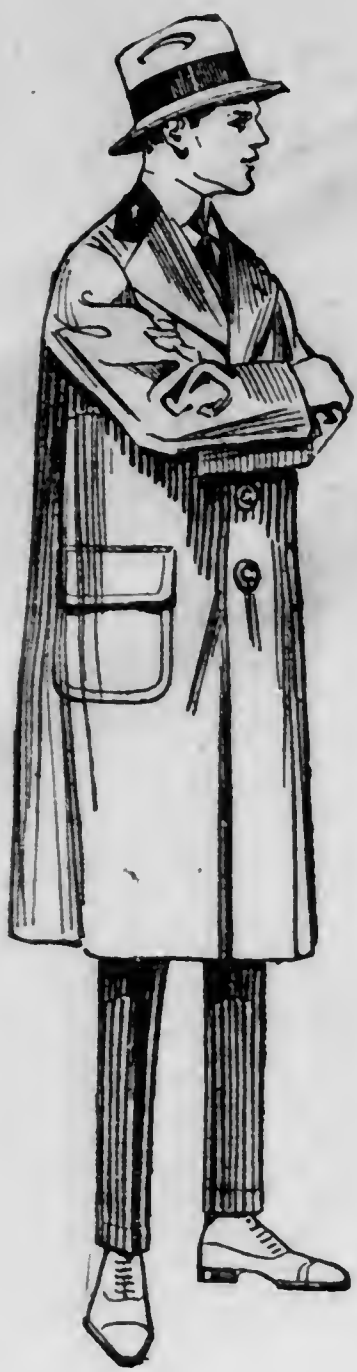

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It
Darkens So Naturally
Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grand-mother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

BUY 9,000 ACRES OF FEE LANDS

Recently Organized Company Will Drill for Iron Ore.

In the purchase by the recently organized Minnesota Iron Development company of nearly 9,000 acres of fee land in St. Louis, Crow Wing and Aitkin counties, and the taking of an option on 691 acres additional, one of the largest transactions in prospective mineral properties in this territory was closed today.

The holdings obtained are distributed over the Vermilion, Mesaba and Cuyuna iron ranges and are thought to be favorably located for iron ore possibilities.

It is understood to be the intention of the purchasing company to pursue a definite policy of exploration with a view to getting the proven properties upon the market as early a date as possible. Drilling will be started at once on some of the properties most favorably located for iron ore. These will be turned over to operating companies after development, and such lands as may not prove to be of value for ore will be placed on the market and sold as farm lands.

The directors and officials of the Minnesota Iron Development company bear the reputation of being thoroughly posted in the iron mining and exploratory fields. On its directorate are E. J. W. Donahue, who brought the Duluth mine to the shipping stage, and John Wahl, one of the men who developed the big Mahanomegan mine near Iron on the Cuyuna range.

PRESERVING NEUTRALITY

United States White Book Tells of Difficulties of State Department.

Second Installment Gives Text of Long Diplomatic Correspondence.

Washington, Oct. 29.—A second installment of what has come to be popularly known as the United States government's white book, was issued last night by the state department. It gives the text of important diplomatic correspondence with the belligerent governments of Europe since the publication of the first installment last May.

Besides constituting a public record of the position of the United States as precedent for the future, the volume reveals to the public a series of changes and counter charges by the belligerents that reflect the difference constantly encountered in the delicate task of observing neutrality.

Most of the correspondence never before has been made public in text, although press dispatches have covered much of it in substance.

One of the most interesting features of the new edition of the publication for the first time of a memorandum for the German foreign office referred to in a colloquy between the chairman of the house foreign affairs committee and Representative Warth of Missouri at the hearing on the bills proposing an embargo on arms.

Claimed Justification.

Mr. Flood quoted the memorandum as a justification of his argument that the German government did not hold shipments of munitions to be illegal. It appears that the correspondence with the German government conducted by Ambassador von Bernstorff developed as a consequence of a ruling by the United States that it was a violation of neutrality or merchant ships to leave American ports for the express purpose of supplying belligerent warships at sea. The ambassador's note read:

"The position taken by the government as to the delivery of coal and other necessities to warships of the belligerent states, constituting a violation of neutrality, is, in the opinion of the imperial government, untenable in international law. The imperial government has set forth its position on this point in a memorandum in compliance with instructions, I have the honor to forward to your excellency."

The memorandum follows:

"Under the general principles of international law, no exception can be taken to neutral states letting war material go to Germany's enemies from their territory. This is in accordance with Article 7 of the Hague convention of Oct. 18, 1907, concerning the rights and duties of neutral powers in naval and land warfare. If, however, a state avails itself of that liberty in order to supply the belligerent with arms, it is in violation of international law and constitutes a breach of the generally accepted rules of neutrality. To Germany's detriment."

The secretary of state held that: "The essential idea of neutral territory becoming the base for naval operations by belligerents is, in the opinion of this government, repeated departure from such territory of merchant vessels laden with fuel or supplies for belligerent warships at sea. In order to ascertain the vessels which are thus governing, the government has been obliged to investigate certain cases in order that it might determine whether there have been or are about to be repetitions of such acts, but in all respects of equality of treatment has been observed toward all merchant vessels suspected of carrying supplies to belligerent warships."

The correspondence shows that the state department received also a complaint from the British ambassador stating that "the systematic way in which neutral ships have left American ports in order to supply German cruisers and have been allowed to operate freely in the north of the United States. In spite of the warnings which have been given in the matter, causes grave anxiety to his majesty's government."

Fairly Investigated.

Mr. Lansing replied that, so far as he was advised: "Every suspicious case of vessels leaving American ports to supply German cruisers, which has been brought to the attention of the United States with any basis of fact to support such statement, has been fairly investigated. The government of the United States, therefore, feels obliged to decline to accept any suggestions intimating that its vigilance in the maintenance of its neutral duties in international law, has been relaxed."

Another occasion, the German ambassador, in complaining to the state department that the tug F. B. Haled, out to sea from New York, was carrying provisions to the British cruiser Essex, declared that he came out under the searchlights of the United States ship Florida.

Mr. Lansing answered this with the statement that the government of the United States had investigated the matter and was not able to find sufficient evidence to show that the tug was further evidence. He asked the ambassador to supply British warships. He asked the ambassador to supply British warships. He asked the ambassador to supply British warships.

In this connection, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British ambassador, gave the state department an extract from a letter written by the admiral in command of the British fleet in the Atlantic, stating that the British fleet was in the Atlantic, and that the British fleet was in the Atlantic.

Army of Merchantmen.

A series of communications passed between the British embassy and the state department on defensive armaments of the British navy, and the right of belligerent merchant ships to leave neutral ports prepared to arm at sea. The British embassy stated that the British government held that the right of belligerent merchant ships to leave neutral ports prepared to arm at sea was a right of the British navy, and the right of belligerent merchant ships to leave neutral ports prepared to arm at sea was a right of the British navy.

The ruling of the state department that it was permissible for merchant ships to arm for defensive purposes drew forth a note from the British embassy, giving the fullest assurance that British merchant vessels will never be used for offensive purposes, and that they are merely traders, armed only for defense, that they will never be used for offensive purposes, and that they are merely traders, armed only for defense.

The German government in a memorandum transmitted by Ambassador Gerard stock exception and the view that German vessels were permitted to defend themselves against a war vessel, and argued that it was a neutral port at all, the extent of which was not to be determined by the government, but by the fact that they are merely traders, armed only for defense.

Mr. Lansing's answer was that the United States held that to permit vessels of small armament to enjoy the hospitality of American ports as merchant vessels, was not a violation of neutrality.

Nevertheless, the American reply added: "The United States is not unmindful of the fact that the circumstances of a particular case may be such as to cause embarrassment and possible controversy as to the character of an armed private vessel visiting its ports. Recognizing the desirability of avoiding a ground of complaint, buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause."

right of a merchant vessel to carry a defensive armament, expressed its disapproval of a practice which compelled it to pass upon a vessel's intended use, which opinion it proved to be erroneous might constitute a ground for a charge of unneutral conduct.

As a result of these representations on improvements in the armament have visited our ports since Sept. 10. In fact, from the beginning of the European war, but two armed private vessels have entered or cleared from ports of this country and as to these vessels, their character as merchant vessels was conclusively established.

PRESERVING NEUTRALITY

United States White Book Tells of Difficulties of State Department.

Second Installment Gives Text of Long Diplomatic Correspondence.

Washington, Oct. 29.—A second installment of what has come to be popularly known as the United States government's white book, was issued last night by the state department. It gives the text of important diplomatic correspondence with the belligerent governments of Europe since the publication of the first installment last May.

Besides constituting a public record of the position of the United States as precedent for the future, the volume reveals to the public a series of charges and counter charges by the belligerents that reflect the differences constantly encountered in the delicate task of observing neutrality.

Most of the correspondence never before has been made public in text, although press dispatches have covered much of it in substance. One of the most interesting features of the new edition is a memorandum for the first time of a memorandum of the German foreign office referred to in a colloquy between Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee and Representative Bartholdt of Missouri at the hearing on the bills proposing an embargo on arms.

Claimed Justification.
Mr. Flood quoted the memorandum as a justification for the embargo, but the German government did not hold shipments of munitions to the allies as illegal. It asserted that the embargo developed as a consequence of a ruling by the United States that it was a violation of merchant shipping laws to leave American ports for the express purpose of supplying belligerent armies at sea.

The position taken by the government as to the delivery of coal and other necessities to warships of the belligerents, constituting a violation of neutrality, is, in the opinion of the imperial government, untenable in international law. The imperial government has set forth its position on this point in a memorandum, which, in compliance with instructions, I have the honor to forward to your excellency.

The memorandum follows:

Germany's View.
"Under the general principles of international law, no exception can be taken to neutral states letting war material go to Germany's enemies from or through their territory. This is in accordance with the Hague convention of Oct. 18, 1907, concerning the rights and duties of neutrals in naval and land warfare. It is, however, a state avails itself of that liberty in the case of Germany's enemies, in accordance with a rule generally accepted in international law and confirmed in Article 2 of the convention above cited, place no obstacles to the free transit of goods and contraband from or through its territory. In spite thereof, the various belligerent governments have refused to clear from American ports the vessels of the merchant marine which would carry needed supplies or fuel to German warships either on the high seas or in neutral waters. In accordance to the principles of international law above cited, a neutral state need not prevent carrying supplies of contraband; neither can it, after allowing the advance of war material, furnish with contraband, either directly or indirectly, any way to a merchant ship carrying such a cargo. Only the right of band trade would turn the ports into bases of German military operations, which is the purpose of the law of these vessels become a duty."

"Such, perhaps, would be the case if the Germans kept coal depots in the ports, or if the vessels called at the ports in regular voyages on a regular German naval force. But it stands to reason that a merchant vessel occasionally sailing with coal or supplies for German warships does not turn a neutral port into a base of operations for support contrary to neutrality."

"Our enemies draw from the United States contraband of war, especially arms, worth several billions of marks. This, in itself, they are authorized to do. But if the United States would prevent our warships occasionally drawing supplies from its ports, a great injustice would be done to the United States. It would amount to an unequal treatment of the belligerents, and constitute a breach of the generally accepted rules of neutrality to Germany's detriment."

The secretary of state held that:

American View.
"The essential idea of neutral territory becoming the base for naval operations by a belligerent is, in the opinion of this government, repeated departure from such territory of merchant vessels for the purpose of supplying for belligerent warships at sea. In order to assist in the vessels which are thus used, the government has been obliged to investigate certain cases in order that it might determine whether there have been or are about to be repetition of such acts, but in all respects the government has been observed toward all merchant vessels suspected of carrying supplies to belligerent warships."

The correspondence shows that the state department received also a complaint from the British ambassador stating that "the systematic way in which neutral ships have left American ports in order to supply German cruisers and have been allowed to operate freely in the waters of the United States, in spite of the warnings which have been given in the matter, causes grave anxiety to his majesty's government."

Fairly Investigated.
Mr. Lansing replied that, so far as he was advised:

"Every suspicious case of vessels leaving American ports to supply German cruisers, which has been brought to the attention of the United States, with any basis of fact to support such statement, has been fairly investigated. The government of the United States, therefore, feels obliged to decline to accept any suggestions intimating that its vigilance in the maintenance of its neutral duties in international law, has been relaxed."

On another occasion, the German ambassador, in complaining to the state department that the tug P. E. Balch had been seized from New York to carry provisions to the British cruiser Essex, declared that the tug came out "under the headlights of the United States ship Florida."

Mr. Lansing answered this with the statement that the government of the United States had investigated the matter and was not able to find sufficient evidence to show that the tug for further evidence on which to renew the investigation, but this, it appeared, was not supplied.

In this connection, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British ambassador, gave the state department an extract from a letter written by the admiral in com-

CITY ATTORNEY WILL REVISE CODE

Municipal Laws Will Be Brought Down to Date, Ordinances Amended, Created or Abolished as Found Necessary.

For the third time in Duluth's history its laws are to be revised and a new code published.

Mayor Prince announced yesterday following a conference with City Attorney Greene, that the legal department will start the work at once. It will take several weeks to complete, it was explained, and will result in the repealing of a large number of old ordinances, amending of as many more and the introduction of new measures to regulate conditions that have arisen in the last ten years.

Miss Nellie Proendergast, stenographer for City Attorney Greene, will bring all the ordinances down to date and a careful revision will then be made by the legal department.

The last revision of the city's laws was in 1905, when J. B. Richards, a local attorney, was hired by the city to do the work. In 1895 Ellsworth Benham, then assistant city attorney, made the first revision of the laws originally compiled by S. D. Allen, city attorney in 1891. Mr. Benham is now residing at Portland, Ore., and Mr. Allen is a resident of Eugene, Ore.

After the laws are revised the commissioners will order their publication in one large volume.

PLANS MADE FOR ARMORY OPENING

Governor Hammond and Congressman Miller Will Be Speakers.

Winfield Scott Hammond, Minnesota's chief executive, and Congressman Clarence E. Miller will be the principal speakers at the ceremonies to be held in connection with the opening of the new Duluth armory at Fourteenth avenue east and London road. The date for the affair has been fixed as Nov. 22.

Col. H. V. Eva of the Minnesota National Guard said today that the dedication ceremony would consist of two short speeches by the governor and Congressman Miller, and a grand band performance for the new quarters.

CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY.

Roy Watts, Accused of Passing Worthless Checks, Is Sentenced.

Roy A. Watts, 21, who tried to escape Chief McKercher Wednesday night by leaping into a jitney, was arraigned today on a petit larceny charge, and sentenced to sixty days at the work farm.

AUTO DRIVER SIGHTS TWO WILDCATS IN THE ROAD

As Arthur Miller of Duluth was driving down from Virginia in his automobile yesterday, he saw two animals stop near the edge of the road for a minute and then suddenly dart across the road in front of his machine. One glance was quite enough to show the somewhat startled driver what the beasts were. They were wildcats, good sized ones at that, and Mr. Miller stepped on the gas and immediately placed considerable territory between himself and the place in the road where the wildcats crossed his path.

Discovering deer running in the open at Thirty-sixth avenue east and nearly running down a couple of wildcats between Duluth and the range, is evidence that there is some hunting left in Northern Minnesota.

Watts, accused of passing a number of worthless checks for amounts ranging from $3 to $5, broke down and wept when brought before Judge Cutting yesterday afternoon, asking that he be allowed to see his mother.

SALOON LICENSE IS HIGH ENOUGH

Commissioner B. Silberstein Says Liquor Men Are Not Making Money.

Increase of the Duluth saloon license fee from $1,000 to $1,200 a year, to add approximately $35,000 annually to the city license revenue, is not favored by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division.

"The saloon keeps pay enough at the present time, and if they are not doing the prosperous business of old, many of them are hardly able to make both ends meet," he said. It was suggested to the commissioner yesterday that the saloon license be raised so that the city would be assured of sufficient funds for the collection of garbage ashes every year. A similar movement was started in Minneapolis the other day, and the plan has been endorsed by the license committee of the Mill City council.

Urbalejo, the Yaqui Indian chief, demanded $25,000 from Epes Randolph, president of the Southern Pacific Railway of Mexico, under pain of destruction of the railroad's property if not paid. Thirty Americans in Cananea and eighteen in El Tigre, some of whom already are in the hands of Villa troops, are believed to be facing a critical situation as the result of the Randolph proclamation.

Detectives Lahti and Tweve went to Superior today and returned with Matt Johnson, 27, miner, who had been picked up by Wisconsin officers. He is believed to have been Aldo's accomplice.

While walking from the police station to the street car with Johnson, the officers spied Oil Teel, 27, another much-wanted man, and brought him along.

Teel, believed to have robbed a laborer on West Michigan street recently, had $30 in currency hidden in his stocking. He is held as a suspect.

CONFUCIUS PROMINENT

Looms Large in Controversy in China Over Monarchical Plan.

Ancient Sage Constantly Being Quoted By Both Sides.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Peking, Sept. 22.—Confucius looms large in the controversy which is being hotly waged in China over the monarchical plan. President Yuan Shikai and his supporters are constantly quoting the ancient sage. Advocates of the republic are also using Confucius freely, and urging that the change to monarchy would be a violation of a Confucian oath and consequently would discredit the teachings of the great moral leader in the eyes of the world.

Plans are now in preparation by government officials for the erection of a great bronze statue of Confucius in Peking. At present the ancient sage is represented in the various schools only by pictorial images or sacred tablets. These do not create the vivid impression of the great teacher which the Chinese officials desire, and the movement is under way to place bronze statues of him in Confucian temples throughout the republic.

Confucius in Schools.
Mandates have recently been issued by President Yuan Shikai strengthening the position of Confucius' teachings in Chinese schools, and the society for the preservation of peace has constantly quoted the sayings of Confucius concerning loyalty to the emperor in support of the restoration of the monarchy.

Four Confucian canonical books are taught in Chinese schools, and no students who are not thoroughly versed in them are regarded as well educated. Quotations from these books, written nearly 2,500 years ago, are frequently used in nearly all governmental communications. The advocates of absolute concentration of government in an emperor are especially fond of such Confucian excerpts as this: "To no one but the supreme ruler of the empire does it belong to disturb the established religious and social institutions, to introduce new forms of government, to change the form and use of language. At the present day, throughout the empire, carriages, wheels, all have the same standard form and size, all writing is written with the same characters, and in all the relations of life all recognize the same established principles."

Teachings Are Quoted.
Public speeches concerning the monarchical movement, letters to the newspapers and editorials in support of the restoration of the empire are filled with quotations concerning the five duties of universal obligation outlined by Confucius and the three moral qualities by which the sage said these duties must be carried out. The first of these duties are those between ruler and subject. Next are the duties between father and son. Then the duties between husband and wife. The fourth duties are between older brother and younger, and the fifth duties are those in the intercourse between friends. Intelligence, more and more careful courage, in the order named, are the three moral qualities upon which Confucius laid great stress. Of these he says: "They are the three universally recognized moral principles. It matters not in what way men come to the exercise of these moral qualities, the result is the same and the same."

Some men are born with the knowledge of these moral qualities; some acquire it as the result of hard experience. But when the knowledge is acquired, it comes to one and the same thing. Some exercise the moral qualities naturally and easily; some because they find it advantageous to do so; some with effort and difficulty. But when the achievement is made it comes to one and the same thing.

Reading of His Classics Urged.
The effort to strengthen the interest in Confucianism is apparent throughout the vernacular press of China. At Chufon, and more careful reading of his classics is advised. Young men are told that Confucius began gathering disciples around him and teaching the principles of good government at the early age of 22. His services as minister of crime are reviewed, and the marvelous abolition of crime under his direction is emphasized. His great success as a teacher in the later years of his life when he gathered 3,000 disciples around him is stressed, and readers are constantly reminded of the enduring fame of this teacher who had the proper ideals of government.

SERBIANS THROWN ACROSS FRONTIER

Berlin, Oct. 29, via London.—Serbian forces opposing the Teutonic advance on the western border of Serbia have been thrown across the frontier near east of Visegrad (Bosnia). It was officially announced today by German army headquarters. Advances for the Austro-German armies and for the Bulgarian forces in the Balkans have been recorded.

The text of the statement regarding the Serbian operations is as follows: "Near Drinako, south of Visegrad, the enemy has been driven back. East of that place he has been thrown across the frontier."

West of the Morava the general line of Sgariko-Vick-Rudnik-Cumic-Bacelina has been reached.

Southeast of Svilajnac enemy positions on both sides of the Resava were stormed. More than 1,500 prisoners fell into our hands.

STERILIZATION LAW IN EFFECT NEXT MONTH

Madison, Wis., Oct. 29.—The Wisconsin sterilization law will be put into effect in November, according to a statement of the state board of control today with twenty-four operations on patients in the feeble-minded institution at Chilpewa Falls.

The law on this subject was enacted at the thirty-ninth session of the legislature and the time that has intervened has been spent in answering the requirements of the statute in holding meetings and consulting the patients and relatives. The physicians have been selected.

MONUMENT DEDICATED TO BOONE AND HIS WIFE

Marthasville, Mo., Oct. 29.—A monument over the original graves of Daniel Boone and his wife, Rebecca Bryan Boone, was dedicated at Bryan cemetery near here today, under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The remains of the pioneer and his wife were taken from the cemetery to Frankfort, Ky., in 1845, but it was deemed fitting that the site of the original graves be marked. The monument is a huge granite boulder from the Ozarks.

BETHLEHEM COMPANY SUE FOR $3,000,000

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—The Churchward International Steel company, a Delaware corporation, today brought two suits in the United States district court here against the Bethlehem Steel company charging that in turning out war munitions it is infringing on three for the hardening of alloy of iron and steel and the amount of $3,000,000.

In one suit it is asserted that the Bethlehem company by its turning out patented processes earned at least two million dollars and of the other suit it is declared one million dollars was earned on another patent.

NO EXAMINATION AS TO LANGUAGE

Through an order from Washington received by Collector of Customs Harris Bennett of Duluth today, one of the most objectionable features of the seamen's act has been done away with. No examination under the language test as required by Section 13 will be necessary, the telegram states. The section, which has been amended, reads as follows:

"That no vessel of 100 tons gross and upward, except those navigating rivers exclusively and the smaller inland lakes and except as provided in section 1 of this act, shall be permitted to depart from any port of the United States unless she has on board a crew of not less than seventy-five per centum of which, in each department thereof, are able to understand an order given by the officers of such vessel."

According to Collector Bennett's instructions today, this clause will not be enforced, but the whole matter will be put up to the judgment of the collector. If the collector is satisfied upon the statement of the master or otherwise that the crew has fulfilled the requirements of Section 13, his judgment will be accepted in the matter.

Collector Bennett declared today that he considered this ruling as very important as the language test has brought forth loud complaints from marine men. Many efficient men he avers would be unable to sail on the lakes if this section of the law were enforced to the letter. The law will now be more elastic and give the masters an opportunity to get their crews into good shape and no drastic changes will be necessary in the personnel of the crew.

A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FUNDS FOR STUDENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald: In answering the heading, "Earning One's Way Through College," and signed "One Who Has Been There," published Oct. 28, would say that my article of Oct. 28 was not written to discourage students, but to devise a plan to better their conditions and put them on an equal footing with others. The writer of the article mentioned that he has worked his way through college and came out on top, borrowing some money during his senior year, during which time he did practically no outside work. I know of many students that have done the same thing. I know of students that have done better than that. They worked all day and attended law school nights and came out on top. Washington passed the winter at Valley Forge fought adversity for twenty years with but the left hand, making both high and normal schools without a penny of help from anyone and came out on top, but I do not advise anyone else to do the same thing.

The writer of the article claims that there are loan funds for needy students. If so why did the said writer not use it? Why don't other students use it? According to the bulletin there is $1,000 to $5,000 annually available for loans to students. I was unable to find out at the present writing under what conditions such loans were made, but I understand the rate of interest to be 5 per cent. But what is that for so many?

Space will not permit a full explanation of the relation between mind and body. Summarizing it, the mind is best adapted for concentration when it is free from mental anguish or physical disorder. Therefore a student can put in "his best lieks" when his mind and body are at ease.

I have said it before and will say it again that the university aims for efficiency. That certainly is a right thing. That means that there is no sliding or sneaking through that means that each student must "go the mark." In so doing and doing it well, his time is pretty well taken up. He is not loafing, carrying dishes, writing for newspapers and what not.

Working one's way through the university is an honorable thing. It is an old story; volumes have been written about it. If it is necessary, well and good, there be a better plan, it is worth considering. My article was written to encourage the growth of the loan fund it accessible to every worthy student. In that way it puts the students on an equal footing with others.

WEST END

ALL READY FOR

HALLOWEEN STUNTS

Immense Crowd to See Big

Costumed Parade and Hear Entertainment.

Everything is ready for the biggest

Halloween celebration ever attempted by any one section of the city, which will take place this evening at the West end. Promise of excellent weather leads members of the committee to believe that the largest crowd that ever appeared on the streets of the West end will turn out for the celebration.

Events will move rapidly, according to members of the committee. The parade of masks will start promptly at 8 o'clock from the corner of Superior and Second streets, and will march to Garfield avenue, counter-marching the same route.

Boys' and girls' clubs of the various schools have planned to march in separate sections, the Lincoln Marching club, Adams club and Monroe Boys' club having arranged to carry special pennants displaying the name of their respective schools. All the boys and girls taking part in the parade are expected to be dressed in costumes and those appearing in costumes will be given a chance to win prizes offered by the committee.

A truck load of apples, candles and peanuts will be distributed among the children. The fruit and candy will be thrown from the truck as it passes up and down Superior street between Eighteenth and Twenty-first avenues.

For the entertainment of the children, as well as the older folks, who are expected to turn out en masse, the committee has arranged to have hand concerts given at various corners. An accordion orchestra and colored jubilee singers will also take part, singing and playing at the various corners.

The committee was busy yesterday decorating the street for the occasion. Flags and bunting and various colored lights have been installed. The members of the committee are: William Mohaupt, E. H. Branton, Charles Stork, Walter Swanson, C. B. Nunn and A. Hanson.

use, despite the fact that spur tracks cross Garfield avenue at both 400 and 500.

During the last two winters a small sheet of ice had been provided for the children of the Madison school just north of the school building. This ice is said to be inadequate. It has been just the width of the street, north of the school, and about fifty feet long. The matter is to be taken up with the city commissioners by E. Jacobson, secretary of the club.

Vernon street was paved two years ago from Winnipeg to Pacific avenue. This paving has not connected with that of any other street without immediately following the laying of the paving petitions asking for the improvement of First street were made. The Vernon street paving extends for three blocks west of Third street.

The grading of the block and a half for the new paving is almost completed. Work is being done in curbing will start Monday. The street will be paved with a concrete base and brick surface. This will match up the paving of Superior street as well as that of Vernon street.

QUOTA SYSTEM FOR RAISING TROOPS

Formerly Used in England and Now Favored By

Kitchener.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 15.—The quota system which Lord Kitchener is said to advocate as a compromise between the present voluntary enlistment system and conscription is a historic method of raising troops, and it existed in England from Saxon times down to the year of 1872, when it was merely suspended, not dead.

By the quota system, Great Britain would be divided into many districts, each of which is required to send its quota of men to the army of recruits. It is a form of compulsion, but a democratic form that stood the test of election and appeal. Its special merits are its appeal to local patriotism and its civil control. Each locality has the power to enforce an enlistment if other means fail, but a large number of additional voluntary recruits will be found just because the affair is managed by the civil authorities and the appeal is more personal and less emotional than by the military recruiting with their bands and speech-making actors.

There are many statutes on the English books relating to the quota system, which can be enforced at any time by an order of the privy council with the approval of parliament. Some changes were made from the old methods in 1872 when the various parishes were instructed to proportion their quota among the various parishes where men in need of necessity, were to be chosen by ballot. This law placed the age of service from 18 to 30 years, exempting all men with more than one child born in wedlock. Forces for the Napoleonic wars were thus raised. In 1832 the militia was passed from the control of the counties to the war office, and the system of district selection was allowed to lapse.

"These trial marriages are taking place every day beyond question," says Judge Arnold. "It is a point that under this system, persons may marry as they wish, try it a while, and if not satisfied, gain a divorce on the plea that the marriage took place within the proscribed period."

Halloween Dinner

The Halloween spirit was at its height at the dinner-dance held last evening at the Kitchi Gammi club. Favors of jumping jacks, willow cutouts and inflated globes supplemented the symbols of the season that were featured in the decorations. Cellophane looked solemnly down on the merry-makers from the branches of evergreen that were massed under the chandeliers. A witch riding a broom caused a lightning and thunder storm. Cabaret performances were given. A canopy of black and orange hung from the middle of the ceiling and yellow chrysanthemums were in all the windows of the club.

Among those who had guests at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. E. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend W. Hoopes and Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Luster.

Those who had dinner at the club were joined by additional guests for the dancing. Holmer's orchestra played for the dinner and the dance.

Blind Children of Pennsylvania Are Taught Many Athletic Games

This little dancer is blind. Yet she took the part of "Titania" in a production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the institution for the blind at Overbrook, Pa., and acquitted herself as well as if she could see as well as hear the approval of her audience. It is a part of the system at Overbrook to have the blind children to playing games, planting gardens, camping out, holding athletic competitions and all the other normal activities of children. As a result of this normal life, this little girl's face has in it none of the wistfulness which the faces of blind children usually wear.

sophomores in one of the Milwaukee high schools, where the girls in the household arts department were required to wrestle with the problem of stretching $500 over 365 days so that all the needs of a family of five would be met and something saved for a bank account.

Not all computations have to be made on the $500 basis as the hypothetical income varies from that amount to $2,000.

Apportioning Income.
Each girl is required to divide the family income so there will be proper proportions for rent, clothes, food, other expenses. Then she is required to take the allowance for food for each week and figure out a series of menus which can be served within the sum allowed. An elaborate Sunday or holiday dinner often means only the plan of the week for the remainder of the year.

The dress allowance is worked out in the same way, the student being obliged to specify the various articles of clothing to be purchased for the year for the entire year within the apportionment allowed.

The following has been adopted as the ideal table of proportions for a family consisting of two adults and three children:

With a salary of from $2,000 to $4,000 a year: Food, 25 per cent; rent, 20 per cent; fuel, light, servants' wages and other operating expenses, 15 per cent; clothes, 15 per cent; the higher life, including books, travel, church, charity, insurance and savings, 25 per cent.

The girl learns not only how to spend money, but also how to do all the work necessary in a home, as the feeding and care of children, laundry work, actual practice, first aid to the injured, and general home nursing, marketing and household accounting. It makes no difference how many millions her father may have, if a Milwaukee high school girl elects to take the domestic science course she must stand over the wash tub and wash her own clothes, and after they are dried, iron them. No one must remove them. If the garment is faded she will be taught to make her own bleaches to use on fabric until it becomes pure white. If she doesn't want a white gown she will be taught how to dye it.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Female Superiority.
What is the matter with the young man? Is he going backward? Must he of necessity be, as he is in so many instances, a pale-face, of slender proportions, dapper and correct appearance and vacuous expression?

Go where you will and compare the young men of the better class with the young women of the same social strata. The comparison reveals to her credit. Almost invariably she is found to be brighter, more wholesome and better balanced physically and morally.

Not all young men who have had the advantages and disadvantages of wealth thrust upon them are inconsequential and worthless. Some are to be found striving as hard as their fathers for place and name, but they are not constantly among those who dance attendance upon ladies fair at social functions. We do not see them, except upon occasions, any more than we do any man who has work to do.

Those we do see represent the young men who have given themselves over to idleness and what they call a "good time." A different environment might have made a difference in them, but the chances are that they would have been idlers under any circumstances, for whatever is responsible for it, it does seem as though the average of young women were rapidly forging ahead of the men in all walks of life.

You may sneer at the rapid youth you see handing tea cups about and smile as you compare his meager frame to the girl upon whose ample he seems to lean. As your glance lingers here it does not appear that man will be able to maintain his claims for superiority. Indeed, compare the sexes straight through, from the highest to the lowest, a woman will be found superior almost every way to the man of her class.

Particularly is this noticeable in circles where wealth divides the advantages equally, it is also to be observed among those who have to struggle for a living. It has not so pronounced an effect upon men who have had to exert themselves, or who have exerted themselves, but their earmarks are upon the whole rare, possibly because women are relieving their own necessity of making a hard fight by taking the responsibilities more and more upon themselves.

wished to consult her timepiece, involuntarily grasped her left wrist with her right hand, and pushed back the cuff of her blouse or coat so as to expose the face of the watch. The boy in khaki cannot do that. His right hand is always engaged in carrying his "swagger" cane. The dialing of the watch dial have to be done in one move. So he has invented the special jerk, twist of the wrist already described—that is to say, he evolved the watch wrist.

Our womankind have copied him in this as in many other things, and if you will take the trouble to be observant in office or omnibus or tramcar this morning you will see that every girl owning a wrist watch has caught the trick, and can do it as smartly and a good deal more gracefully than the boy in khaki himself. They have all got the watch wrist.

ning and tomorrow. Featuring Anita Stewart and Earle Williams, the popular Vitaphone stars, who are capable of supporting a picture in the air, this picture dealing as it does with the curse of heredity, is well acted and holds the interest up to the last.

The piece was written by Elaine Sterne, and produced by Ralph W. Ince, and shows an unfortunate father who, unable to stand the social air of his wife and land, goes into a business venture, commits suicide. The card-loving wife refuses to give up her social activities and goes from bad to worse. Her daughter soon begins to long for the excitement to be had from betting and causing her to pawn a valuable necklace given her by her husband.

ISLE OF MAN HARD HIT BY THE WAR

Heavy Tourist and Holiday
Trade Has Been Cut Off.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 16.—No part of the United Kingdom has been so hard hit by the war as the Isle of Man, which is now on the verge of bankruptcy because the imperial treasury insists on the wiping out of the deficit of $120,000 before it will sanction the relief of distress. Where the money is to come from is a problem, as the proposed remedy of higher duties and taxes will fall short of requirements. The island might swallow its pride and annex itself to the neighboring country of Lancaster, but tradition and sentiment revolt at the idea. Although Man is only 32 by 12 miles, its political constitution is said to be the oldest in Europe, its language, a Gaelic dialect, is peculiar to the island and home rule has been the privilege of the Manxmen through the ages.

When the war came, the heavy tourist and holiday trade was cut off. The swift packet boats were taken over by the admiralty and the submarine menace made travel unpopular. Man then became a concentration camp of alien enemies, who now number 20,000 or less than three times its total native population. These camps helped to save the situation for the island farmers, although a poor substitute for the food of tourists who used to come. It is now proposed that the government use the hotels and lodging houses, whose owners are in great distress, as hospitals for convalescent soldiers. One of the relief measures proposed by the Manx parliament, which the imperial treasury refuses to endorse, is a grant of $250,000 to distressed boardinghouse-keepers.

FRESH EGGS VERY SCARCE

Dealers Now Drawing on Storage Eggs to Meet Demand.

Butter Firm With Good Inquiry for Export Reported.

Duluth consumers are facing an egg famine. Dealers say that hens appear to have gone on strike all at once, with the result that supplies of newly-laid eggs are becoming a scarce commodity. Quotations in fresh eggs are consequently up 4 cents today to 38¢/40 cents a dozen. Storage eggs are now going out in quantities to meet the deficiency and they are selling at around 26 cents. Poultry experts, however, throw out a ray of hope in the statement that as soon as hens are over the moulting season an improvement in egg receipts may be expected, provided the weather does not turn unduly cold in the interval.

Butter Prices Firm.
The butter market is steady today at the same figures as a week ago, 28¢/30 cents a pound for the best creamery. Consumers need not look for lower prices in butter this fall. In the natural course of things, the tendency will be upward, and quotations are as low as they will be up till the time the new season begins next spring, said an official of the Bridgman-Russell company today.

The butter situation in New York and through the East generally is becoming firmer as a result of heavy consumption and the gradual falling off in production. Further export inquiry is being received, and it is regarded as certain that it will be in sufficient volume to clean up the liberal butter stocks being carried in the Associated warehouses. Butter production in Duluth territory is being remarkably well maintained for the season, attesting the remarkable development that is taking place in the dairy industry throughout Northern Minnesota.

Heavy Apple Sales.
Dealers aver that the movement of apples during the past week was the heaviest in the history of the trade, apart from "apple week" a year ago, when special selling efforts were made. Quotations are only slightly above the basis prevailing at the fall, and consumers are taking advantage of the opportunity to make their pick from the first New York state arrivals. The following varieties are included in the supplies now on the market—Baldwin, Greenings, Kings, Winesaps, Wagners, Tolman Sweeties, Pippins, Spies, Jonathans, Ben Davis and Russets.

The situation in Western box apples is said to be satisfactory in so far as quality is concerned, but prices are much higher than the Eastern market. Grapefruit is easier, and as receipts are increasing demand is expected shortly. In grapes, the season in Concord will probably be at an end next week, but wine grapes are now offering. The new season's California grapes are expected to be on hand in time for the Thanksgiving trade.

Green Vegetables Scarce.
Green vegetables quotations are generally higher during the past week, supplies being hothouse grown. Heavy vegetables figures are practically unchanged from last week with the exception that cabbage is cheaper, offering down to the 10-cent mark. The opinion of the market is now at the bottom, and that quotations will be gradually advanced with the incoming of cold weather.

Potatoes are cheap with the best Minnesota stock quoted at 52 cents a bushel. The quality of the present stock now coming to market is uniformly good, showing a vast improvement upon the earlier arrivals. It is thought that potato supplies in the Northwest will be heavier than had been originally estimated.

COAL FAMINE IN DENMARK SERIOUS

Government Taking Steps to Mine More Coal in Greenland.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Copenhagen, Oct. 16.—The Danish government is taking steps to mine coal in Greenland more intensively. This is due to the fact that Denmark is now to buy English coal in Denmark. The coal famine, in fact, is so serious here that the government is planning to relieve the situation in part by cutting wood from the government forests, steps also being taken to increase the production of peat.
Coal has heretofore been mined in Greenland only in an experimental way, but the deposits there, in the opinion of experts, are very extensive. The heating qualities of Greenland coal, however, are not regarded as equal to the English variety.
The government is also taking a new interest in the copper mines of this far northern colony, thinking that the mines are capable of more extensive development, which would be profitable at the present time.

NEW DEVELOPMENT OF FRENCH CHARITY

Railway Trains Are Being Equipped for Hospital Service.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 15.—Equipping railway trains for hospital service is a new development of charity in France in which Americans are taking an active part. During the recent reorganization of the entire hospital service, the need for properly arranged trains to transport the wounded from the front to the hospitals located throughout France became evident.

The first step in improving the service was the addition to each train of a car equipped with an operating table, and surgical supplies so that wounded soldiers might be treated during the journey from the front to the permanent hospital perhaps hundreds of miles away. One of the first cars so attached to a train was a freight car rebuilt at the expense of Mrs. Watson of the London Loop. She contributed the money to Commander E. Loiseleur, in charge of the temporary hospitals, at each of the railway stations of Paris and of the construction yards of the state railway, and then requested others of her friends to provide money for the same purpose.

To date a number of Americans have helped, one car having been fitted up by money sent from Hawaii through Dr. James R. Judd and friends. Among other Americans thus contributing are Walter B. Hardy of Chicago and Mrs. Emory R. Johnson of Philadelphia. As a result of the rebuilding of these first freight cars for this purpose, to date no less than fifty cars have been remodeled with money contributed by individuals or corporations. So great has been the use of these cars to the military surgeons that the war department has authorized the placing of one with each of the 150 hospital trains now in service.

Stimulated by the example of these Americans, Madame Marguerite Carre, the singer wife of the director of the Comedie Francaise, has just equipped an entire train of fourteen cars with money she collected. This magnificent train known as the Carre train No. 15 is believed here to be the model hospital train of the world. The train has just made its maiden trip to the front in charge of Dr. T. Tizon, who has been in service more than a year. He has stated that 300 wounded carried in the train were transported under admirable conditions and without the loss of a single life.

Service as physicians and nurses in these trains promises to become as popular among helping foreigners as that in the hospitals and ambulance corps.

The friends of France among the ally and neutral nations now serving in the hospitals and ambulance corps number no less than 7,000 of whom 2,000 are Americans.

SECRETARY OF PEACE SOCIETY HAS RESIGNED

born in Carmarthenshire, Wales, and is one of the few authorities on international law, having published the famous "Magnum Opus International Tribunal," copies of which were presented to all the reigning monarchs of the world. The book secured for him the honorary degree of LL. D. from Tufts college, Massachusetts.

FRENCH FORAGE AND POTATO CROPS HEAVY

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 15.—Senator Jules Mellin, former president of the cabinet, presiding at the annual meeting of the Agricultural assembly, presented statistics showing that the potato and forage crops this year are so abundant as to compensate the shortage in wheat. The excess of hay produced over other years will enable the feeding of enough livestock to make up for all the necessary requisitions of meat for the army. "The culminating point in the meat crisis," he says, "will come after the war, when all the belligerent nations will have pressing needs with reduced means of production. Consequently the forage crop means quite as much to France as its production of wheat."

TWO CONFERENCE TEAMS MAY DROP BY WAYSIDE

Minnesota and Illinois and Chicago and Wisconsin Will Meet Saturday—Chicago, Contrary to General Opinion, Is Heavier Than the Badgers.

BY BRUCE.

SATURDAY'S football fracas is expected to violently leave the conference championship aspirations of two teams in the discard. While the Gophers are valiantly endeavoring to secure a large amount of revenge for the beating dolled out a year ago by the Illini, Stagg's down-in-the-mouth Maroons will make a dying effort to flay the dope and display a complete reversal by the overthrow of the highly-touted Badgers.

Should Minnesota emerge from tomorrow's conflict with proud and haughty colors, and should Juneau's cumbersome Badgers likewise execute a fox-trot of victory up and down the field, an ideal setting will have been neatly worked up for the Minnesota-Wisconsin game of Nov. 20, which will be battled in the ivy-entwined confines of Madison.

Just before the battle statements coddle the dope toward a Minnesota and Wisconsin winning. On form tests the follower of football must concede the Badgers an overwhelming chance to cause sighs and wry faces in the midway district. But in the case of Wisconsin and Chicago the dope has not always run true to form. Stagg has thrown several stones into football castles erected in the Wisconsin training room.

There will be an upheaval in the dope, should Chicago win a Minnesota winning over Illinois would cause a lot of the big critics of the game to smugly declare that they forecasted with rare wisdom and fine discrimination.

There is more matter of avoidance there is little to hang an opinion on regarding the relative strength of Badger and Maroon. The team Stagg expects to start the popular gridiron pastime, totals 1,941 pounds, just six pounds more than the total weight of the Badgers. This statement will prove a mild surprise to the majority of followers of the two teams, as it has generally been believed that Wisconsin would have the call in poundage. Stagg's line averages 185 pounds against the 183-pound average of Wisconsin's forwards. Only in the backfield does Juneau hold a weight advantage, Juneau's backs averaging 164 pounds to the 161-pound average of the Maroon backfield players.

Two great tackles will be seen in action when Badger and Maroon clash. Shull of Chicago, weighing 193 pounds, and Captain Buck of Wisconsin.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—According to a Federal league official here the whole question of peace between the Federals and organized baseball hinges on the sale of the New York National league club to Harry Sinclair of the Newark Federal club.

Local papers print stories that $2,000,000 would be involved in the deal, covering the purchase of the team and the lease of the grandstand. Completion of the deal, it was said, must be expected soon.

President Weegman of the Chicago Federals, said that the outlook for peace was more favorable than at any time since negotiations began.

GREAT HORSES SOLD UNDER THE HAMMER

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 28.—Ballot, son of Voter, and reputed one of the great thoroughbred race horses of modern times, yesterday brought $15,000 at the sale of stallions, brood mares and yearlings belonging to the estate of the late James B. Haggin, and quartered at the Elmhurst farm, Ballot, which won more than $150,000 for the late James B. Keene, was purchased by Maj. Thomas C. McDowell, of the Ashland stud of this city.

Second in importance at the sale was the disposal of Hessian, another stallion with an enviable record as a sire. He was purchased by A. G. Leonard of this city for $2,500 while Imp Sain, the other stallion to be sold at this sale, brought $2,900 and was bid in by George J. Long, of the Louisville turfman.

Of the mares, Blue Rose was purchased by J. E. Madden of New York and Lexington for $2,100. Imp. Colonel, a winner of the English turf a number of years ago, but lately used in the stud of the Haggin estate, brought $2,500. She was purchased by W. O. Farmer of Nashville, Tenn. A bay colt by Imp. Sain was bought in by G. A. Cochran of New York for $2,200.

The sale was held in the paddock at Elmhurst and was attended by almost every thoroughbred breeder and owner of consequence in the West as well as by a number of prominent Eastern horsemen.

READY FOR BELLING GAME

Gophers Strong Despite Loss of Solon and Mayer.

Squad Starts for Chicago; Injured Players Back in the Line.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Encouraged by a routine mass meeting held Thursday evening in the university armory, the Gopher football team left last night for Chicago, where they planned to spend Friday afternoon. The team seems to have just the right amount of confidence well mixed with determination and the best quality of fighting spirit that a Gopher team has shown for years. All of this in the face of the fact that this season started with every sign of success and good fortune and went on from week to week fraught with discouragement, accidents, losses and discriminating handicaps. What remains, however, of the original Minnesota team is in perfect condition. Sinclair, who has been out with a sprained arm, is back in the game full of pep, and even if his arm should not be able to hold out for the entire game, there is a substitute in Gerow who will supply him the shoes and play a game, that will back any Illinois guard all around the field. He is one of the quietest and most efficient players who is not playing the game for glory, but because he happened to have a little time after his school work is done, the very finest quality of noble and sportsmanlike. Wyman, who was slightly bruised in the Iowa game, has completely recovered. Hartwig's twisted leg feels as good as new, and Ellman's pulled hip seems to be sound and strong.

Team More Experienced.

The men know that they have a game ahead of them, but they know also that they are a little wiser in the methods of Pogue and Clarke than they were last year. During the week, the freshmen have been using the triple play, and a few clever forward pass formations all of which were successfully solved. Quist has been given some hard drill, and his kicking, which will come in especially handy if Minnesota finds itself in a tight spot, has been a good punter who could keep the play in the enemy territory after a lead has been gained, and who could even force a field goal. This year it seems probable, however, that the Minnesota team will be able to take the initiative in punting any time.

New Style of Defense.

It is probable that Minnesota will play a very open and new style defense but a somewhat concentrated, old style offense. The one exception to the old style of attack will be forward passes, which will probably be used only when there is no better man in the conference. The defense is not far behind. Ballentine, although inexperienced, is developing into a very dependable open field runner and has no trouble in clearing his way through the Illinois warriors who are talking about him for years to come if he lives up to his promising performances so far this season. He is a twisting, squirming, dodging, planning double of Johnny McGovern, with everything that the former All-American star had but an ability to kick. On the whole, things do not look so bad despite the loss of Ellman, Mayer, and Sinclair. They are determined, they know plenty of football, and they have a perfect combination of weight, strength and speed, just what "Doc" Williams needs to develop the best kind of football at his command.

CATHEDRAL TO PLAY SUPERIOR

Cathedral high football team of this city and the Nelson Dewey team of Superior will clash tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park. The game will be the last of the present season for the Cathedral, as its members are leaving aside their suits for the season after the game.

A good game is expected. Nelson Dewey is fairly strong, while the Cathedral team is improved since the game with Duluth Central high.

There will be a special roller skating program at the Auditorium rink tomorrow evening. The Third Regiment band will provide music and there will be a special program. Some Halloween features have been planned.

GOVERNOR AGREES TO DECISIONS IN BOUTS

New York, Oct. 28.—If the New York state boxing commission desires to have decisions in pugilistic contests, Governor Whitman will not object, he said last night.

Edward Wenzel, chairman of the commission, said recently that the commission would not pass finally on the question of decisions for which there is much agitation, until two more members of the commission had been appointed by the governor and their views obtained. The governor said he would make the additional appointments within a few days.

DOWN MITT ALLEY; NEWS OF THE BOXERS

Fred Fulton Moves One Step Nearer a Willard Match By Decisive Defeat of Pelkey—Red Watson Is Heavier—The Real Names of Boxers—

BY BRUCE.

Fred Fulton will fight Terry Keller at the Lyceum theater on the evening of Nov. 5. You might state that there is nothing new about this statement—but there is. Not until today was it certain that the Rochester Giant would mingle with Keller. Fulton had to win to get the date here. Had Fulton been defeated last evening some other card would have been substituted, according to the announcement made yesterday by J. Whalen of the Duluth Athletic club.

The meeting of the coming week will be the first boxing card held here in many years where heavyweights have figured as the main event. Since the defeat of Jack Johnson by Jim Willard the heavyweights have taken on a new lease of life and renewed activity has been started in the ranks of the big boys.

Fulton is today the most talked of heavyweight in the country. The Rochester giant, however, had little difficulty in disposing of Arthur Pelkey last evening. Pelkey is a good second rate—a tough customer and a bucko with a real wallop. He is a tough old ringster, and it is these tough old boys that often wreck the confidence of youngsters.

Last evening's victory brings Fulton one step nearer a match with Willard. There are some wheels within wheels in the fight game just now, and Michael E. Collins is quite wise enough to be abreast of the tide and grab all that is coming.

A heavyweight with something like thirty-two knockouts to his credit, furnish a lot of stuff to work on. Fulton is winning fast and is the corner that are drawing cards.

TERRY KELLAR.

Born March 7, 1890, San Francisco, Calif., white, 6 feet, 180 pounds. Height, 6 feet, 1/2 inch.

Red Watson Is Heavy.

A mere dribbling of news from the arena has been increasing the interest in Red Watson's fight, according to the best information the redhead will experience great difficulty in making the lightweight limit in future contests.

Remember Cyclone Johnny Thompson? He went to Australia as a decent and well behaved lightweight and was turned to the "straw" a boisterous and cracking heavyweight.

Speaking Now of Names.

Since the New York boxing commission has issued a mandate requiring pugilists to use their true names in the ring, some interesting possibilities have been conjured up.

Charles White's real name is Archel Anchovitz. Why wouldn't it be a great go-around, and a real rhythmic second to march into the ring and charge in demoralizing and rhythmic Anchovitz, Anchovitz, Anchovitz.

SOLON OUT WITH TEAM

Varsity Football Star Lays Caulkins Out in Head-on Collision.

Last evening at Athletic park Quarterback Caulkins of the Duluth independent football team was laid out cold by Lorin Solon, the great college line breaker.

Caulkins gave the wrong signal and then gave Solon the ball. Solon drove the team and Caulkins stopped right in the way of the rushing fullback. When they picked little Caulkins up he was unconscious. Later he was able to resume signal practice.

A crowd of nearly 400 spectators gathered under the electric lights the park last evening and watched the Duluth team, strengthened by Solon, work for the Sunday game with the crack Banholzer team of St. Paul.

Solon taught the local players several new formations, several new ways of working the forward pass and assisted in getting more speed and better interference in the backfield. De Lone and Wickard will be at the tackle positions in Sunday's game. The two methods will be at the ends, Mc-

FOOTBALL

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 29.—The University of Minnesota football team had its final local workout late yesterday afternoon, and was driving Northrup field to the armory, where a mass meeting of students was held.

should prove disconcerting to any fighter in the world. It might be charged to some ancient battle song and work wonders as starting the nervous system of White's opponent.

Jack Dillon's real name is Ernest Cutler Price. Why not have Dillon's second name into the ring and give a college yell effect, something like this:

"Ernest Cutler Price, Ernest Cutler Price, you're the guy who will cut the leg."

"Price, Price, rah, rah, rah, you're the best fighter we ever saw." This should not be a rise from the opposing fighter.

Natkins Nargolsky sounds like the name of some ailment or a health food; but it is neither—it is the name of a fighter. Why not have a banner inscribed with these words: "In this corner is a real, Natkins Nargolsky, he eats 'em alive." After lamping the name of Nargolsky one would be inclined to believe the printed words. The mere printing of such a name in this type should make the opposing fighter extremely nervous.

It is our opinion that the members of the New York boxing commission played a low down and dirty trick in forcing some of the fighters to come out in the open and reveal their true names. For instance, Isadore Jacobowsky as some of the fighters thinking as changed his name to that of John Morris. But the mandate of the boxing commission has compelled Isadore to stand before the world with all that name in his letters. Can't you imagine how difficult it would prove to address Isadore formally.

Vito Caponegras is another sweet name. The commission should have thought deeply and considered carefully before imposing such hardship on some of the poor fighting men.

BIG CHANGES IN FOOTBALL

Exclusiveness in Prowess By Big Colleges Is Thing of Past.

Big One-Sided Scores in "Practice" Games No Longer Rule.

New York, Oct. 29.—The present football season offers a remarkable example of the all-around improvement made by the average college eleven in playing strength and gridiron strategy. A decade ago it was an extraordinary event when the minor varsity team scored upon its big university rival. Today the eleven which can show a clean slate at the season's half-way mark is a rarity. The radical changes made in the running the buck few years is responsible, to some extent, for this increase in scoring power, but the fact remains that the smaller college combination is no longer unfathomable in the full possibilities of football.

In a list of more than one hundred institutions, less than a dozen have gone through the season to date without being scored upon and when this number is restricted to those colleges which year in and year out make a high class and consistent football showing, the number can be counted upon the fingers of one hand. In the East and Middle West all but three have met opponents capable of crossing their goal line or goal bar. The select trio with clean slates is composed of Vanderbilt, Colgate and Washington and Lee. Wisconsin and Syracuse have escaped with but one field goal registered against them, but the others are far from being so fortunate.

Among the eleven which have tasted the bitterness of defeat are Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Dartmouth, Virginia, Army, Navy, Brown, Syracuse and Rutgers.

Unknowns Spelling Up. A peculiar angle of the situation is that the group of undefeated teams include many representing colleges which were seldom heard from in the football of a few years ago. Among the newcomers will be found the conquerors of the big varsity football until recently ran rough-shod over the little fellows in the so-called practice games, preliminary to the championship contest.

The careful study of the records of ten years ago will show that at this period of the season the leading university teams of the East and Middle West were, as a rule, unscathed upon and had never been scored upon by a team from 100 to 200 points. At the mid-season mark of 1906 Pennsylvania and Cornell were the only big eleven which had been scored upon. Five years later the progress of the minor college team was shown by occasional scoring against their big rivals, with a rare defeat and a promise of greater reversals to come.

While the gridiron leaders are still to be found among those colleges which have been making football history for many years, their margin of superiority is being cut down each season. The top point scores are no longer restricted to a few big Eastern and Western universities as was the case five or ten years ago. Vanderbilt leads today with Wisconsin and Colgate close at the heels of the Southerners, while Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Navy, Chicago and other institutions with long and famous gridiron histories are under or just over the hundred-point mark.

HEALTH TALKS

Acute Follicular Tonsillitis

WHEN a child has an acute tonsillitis in which the crypts of the tonsils become filled with yellowish or whitish material, the mother, and sometimes the doctor, fears diphtheria, or, complicated, in a certain proportion of cases, by joint or acute heart manifestations, and for this reason requires careful treatment.

It begins with chilly feelings, and aches or pains in the back and limbs. But these pains in the limbs do not signify that the trouble is rheumatic. The throat becomes sore, fever develops, the child complains of difficulty in swallowing, and the mother, and sometimes the doctor, fears diphtheria, or, complicated, in a certain proportion of cases, by joint or acute heart manifestations, and for this reason requires careful treatment.

The throat looks worse, the child is more feverish than is usually the case in diphtheria. In diphtheria the fever is generally not pronounced. In other words, the system does not put up the same active fight against diphtheria as it does against acute tonsillitis. In acute tonsillitis the fever is pronounced, and the child is more feverish than is usually the case in diphtheria.

The tongue is coated, the breath heavy and foul. For about three days the child is pretty sick in most cases.

In doubtful cases a culture from the throat tells the doctor exactly what he is dealing with. But the doctor's opinion is better than the laboratory report, for diphtheria germs are often found in healthy throats, and unquestionably the culture is not infrequently fallacious.

In the way of treatment, cold compresses are efficacious. Warm compresses are also efficacious. A towel in cold tap water, folded over the throat, and changed frequently, is a good remedy. If the child is very sick, a doctor should be called.

Listen to the Newark Shoe Maker's Message to Men

THAT message is—"Cease paying $3.50 for shoes. $2.50 is enough."

Here is the NEWARK shoe at $2.50, that more than two million men in the United States wear with all the pride, comfort and satisfaction that a $3.50 shoe could possibly give.

We say, Compare NEWARK shoe styles with others. And remember every pair is made on the Goodyear Welt Process, same as $5, $6 and $7 shoes.

The NEWARK shoe has ONE PRICE—$2.50—no higher. See them for yourself in our windows tomorrow.

Just ask for Creamettes

Cooks in one-third the time

Everyone is talking about Creamettes, the new American macaroni product that cooks in one-third the time. It is made from the creamy parts of Durum Wheat, and on account of the special American process is high in food value, more delicious, more tender and just what you have been longing for. Creamettes just fits the fork and can be made up into many dainty new dishes which will surprise your friends. Creamettes is an ideal substitute for meat. Your grocer has it. Demand the green and yellow box with the smiling Creamette cook on the front.

RECIPES
To prepare Creamettes, pour the quantity desired into an open kettle of boiling water and boil from 5 to 8 minutes until tender. Then drain and chill in cold water.
If Creamettes is the principal food, one package will make a full meal for a family of six persons. If Creamettes is used with other solid food, one package is sufficient for ten people.
CREAMETTES AND CHEESE
Place the boiled and chilled Creamettes in a shallow baking dish with two tablespoons of melted butter, moisten with milk, add one-half cup of grated cheese, salt and a little paprika. Sprinkle with cheese, and bake in a hot oven.
CREAMETTES AND CHICKEN
Mix the desired quantity of boiled and chilled Creamettes with diced cold chicken. Moisten with cream gravy. Add butter, salt and pepper to suit taste. Place in a hot oven and bake for from five to ten minutes.
Always serve Creamettes, either piping hot or cold.

TWO STOLEN AUTOMOBILES ADDED TO LONG LIST

Two more stolen automobiles were added to the long list kept by police last night, one being reported from Superior and one from this city. In both cases the owners were Superior men.

Amos Follis, 1818 Broadway avenue, Superior, reported that his five-passenger Overland car had been stolen when he left it standing in front of a Tower avenue store. Chief McKersher found the missing machine near the corner of Eighth avenue west and Third street a couple of hours afterwards.

H. A. Johnson, 3005 Hammond avenue, left his Ford car standing in front of the Board of Trade building about 9 o'clock last night and when he looked for it but a few minutes later it was gone. Police had not been notified of its recovery this afternoon.

Follis came to Duluth this morning, and found his car at headquarters. He was forced to buy gasoline from one police in order to return home. Lieut. E. H. Barber charged him 12 cents a gallon, the record shows.

BOOST TRADE IN PROCTOR
Business Men's Club Would Head Off Hermantown Men.

With the object in view of urging the farmers who live in the Proctor district, and more especially at Hermantown, to trade with the retail merchants of Proctor, a committee from the Business Men's club of that village has been busy the last week and will be for several days to come, showing the farmers the advantage of trading there instead of going to West Duluth.

This committee, which is made up of George P. McEwen, chairman, N. E. Thompson, A. B. Eller, W. H. Stewart and N. G. Wombacher, will report to the committee of the club which will be held next Thursday evening at the town hall. "Most of the farmers have to go right past Proctor to get to West Duluth," said Mr. McEwen, who is editor and publisher of the Proctor Journal. "They travel over the Hermantown and Thompson roads, and then skirt the village; but some of them just as cheap, the local merchants believe they are entitled to this trade."

At the same meeting a committee on credits and collections, made up of George P. McEwen, chairman, N. E. Thompson, A. B. Eller, W. H. Stewart and N. G. Wombacher, will report to the committee of the club which will be held next Thursday evening at the town hall. PUPILS ARE MORE THRIFTY Increase of $300 in Deposits of Duluth School Children.

Aggregate Savings Pass $3,500 Mark—Franklin Leads in Deposits.

Duluth school children are saving their pennies very religiously and have $300 more on deposit this month than last.

The total is $3,502.99, which also is nearly $300 ahead of October, 1914.

Officials of the First National bank issued the monthly report of school children savings today, and have started a new feature in connection with the school deposits.

Collectors visit the buildings frequently during the month and take the children's pennies which they save from day to day.

From now on a record will be kept of the number of individual deposits from each school building, and classes from the various districts already are vying with one another to see which will have the most deposits to their credit.

The Franklin school, although it has but $181.47 to its credit this month, leads the list in number of deposits, having made 1,046.

The Irving school, with $78 deposits and a total of $427.51 is next.

The savings scheme plan was started a little more than a year ago to encourage thrift among school children.

The monthly record, showing the amounts credited to each school and the number of deposits, and a comparison with October, 1914, follows:

mander of the submarine on account of the difficulty of observation caused by the unfavorable weather. The commander decided first to attack the steamer, submerged and fired a torpedo at the vessel, which missed.

Come to Surface.

Hoping to catch the steamer above the water, the submarine rose and chased her on the surface. The steamer did not stop when a shot of warning was fired, and therefore several shells were fired at her which did not strike her.

As the submarine was pitching about and the distance was great, the submarine then proceeded to the sailing vessel which was shown to be the Normandy, bound from New York to Liverpool with a cargo of lumber. Although the cargo contained contraband, the sailing vessel was permitted to continue her voyage unhindered as it was impossible to guarantee that the crew would be rescued in the small boats if the ship were sunk.

Not According to Instructions.

The first attack on the Orduna by a torpedo was not in accordance with the existing instructions, which provided that large passenger steamers are only to be torpedoed after previous warning and crew. The failure to observe the instructions was based on an error which is any way commendable and the repetition of which appears to be out of the question in view of the more explicit instructions issued in the meantime. Moreover, the commanders of the first National bank, reminded that they must exercise extreme care and carry out the orders issued.

Torpedo Passed Close to Ship.

New York, Oct. 30.—On arrival here from Liverpool of the Cunard liner Orduna on Oct. 17, the chief of the vessel by a German submarine was first reported. On the morning of July 2, according to the report of the 22 sailors who happened to be on deck close to the stern of the ship from port to starboard. A submarine was observed within about a mile away. It was stated, and without warning, began firing shells, one of which passed over the bridge. The passengers reported that nine shots were fired by the submarine before the Orduna finally drew out of range.

WITHIN MILE OF HER HOME

Missing Girl, Serving as Nurse, Found By Police.

Mother Thought She Had Run Away to Become Actress.

After searching throughout the Northwest for Mildred Sommers, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Sommers, 617 Second avenue east, who disappeared Oct. 7, Chief R. D. McKersher yesterday afternoon found the girl in an East end residence, less than a mile from her home.

She had been there since the day she left home suddenly, without telling any one where she was going, and was successfully evaded her searchers.

"Hello, Mildred," said the chief, as he walked into the residence where the girl has been employed as a nurse.

"Why don't you know me?" he continued, when the girl looked at him in surprise.

"No," she finally said, "I don't know you are, but I have an idea."

"I wanted to earn my own money, and not be dependent upon mother, because I'm getting big enough to support myself now," Mildred said, when the chief suggested that she go back home with him.

"I've only been downtown once," the girl said, "since I left home, and on that day we went to a movie for a little while, and then came right home."

The girl's mother, in reporting her disappearance, said Mildred wanted to be an actress and that she probably had joined a theatrical troupe. Foul play and elopement theories also were considered by police.

Chief McKersher found the girl when she was taking gold pieces and a baby carriage and thought he recognized the girl from pictures which the police had distributed.

MAIL SERVICE TO BUYCK IMPROVED

New Rural Route Established Because of Better Roads.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new rural mail route has been established by the granting of a contract for carrying the mail to the town of Buyck on Crane Lake.

Most of the mail for Buyck has been coming through the local postoffice, but part of it went via Orr. There has never been any appropriation for carrying the Buyck postoffice, and the local postoffice has been having to provide for the transportation from the local postoffice to the town of Buyck.

Naturally the service was not the best and the carrying of the mail was making numerous complaints which have finally resulted in the establishment of a rural route.

At present, all Buyck mail will go via Orr and be transported by carrier from that point. This is found to be a better arrangement than having the mail go to the town of Buyck on Crane Lake.

BIG GROWTH IS REFLECTED

Duluth Edison Company Has Expended $120,000 in Improvements.

Has 375 New Customers in Morgan Park Alone.

Duluth's growth is reflected in improvements entailing an expenditure of more than $120,000, made by the Duluth Edison Electric company during the last few months. The company has not only made many new extensions but has also increased the capacity of the local lighting plant by 60 per cent, according to C. E. Van Bergen, general manager.

"Since April 1 the company has expended about $120,000 in making improvements to the local plant," said Mr. Van Bergen yesterday. "We have added much new plant equipment and have extended our lines both overhead and underground. New generators which have been installed have greatly increased the capacity of the plant and have greatly added to its efficiency."

Among the plant improvements mentioned by Mr. Van Bergen were new feeder switchboards, feeder regulators and 4,000-horse power motor generator set. Another generator was also installed for the purpose of adding 200-horse power to the present 600-volt power output from the plant. The company last week completed the installation of underground cables and conduits in the Morgan Park section, which has furnished the lighting for 375 new customers for that one district alone. In addition, ninety new street standards, each equipped with a 150-volt lamp. Other extensions which have been made during the season include the construction of lines to Morningside Park, Colbyville and to the state experimental farm.

Another feature which has required an expenditure of a considerable sum of money has been the extension of the underground conduit system. Fifteenth avenue east and London road was selected by the company as the starting point for the East end residence district and in London road from Twelfth to Seventeenth avenue east and in Fifteenth avenue from London road to and including Sixth alley, three and one-half miles of underground lines and twenty manholes were installed. In Thirty-first avenue east, 1,000 feet and two manholes were placed.

According to Mr. Van Bergen, the company plans on extending its underground conduit system next year.

PEACE LEAGUE IS AFTER MEMBERS

Mayor Prince Urges Duluthians to Enlist in Cause.

A national campaign for membership has been instituted by the League to Enforce Peace, which was organized at Philadelphia last summer with William Howard Taft, former president, at its head.

Copies of the league pamphlet were received yesterday by Mayor Prince, who is urged to interest Duluthians in the organization, which plans to work for a League of Nations that will settle all future difficulties arising between world powers. The international league was organized by the following proposals:

mentioned in article 1." There are no membership dues required, but applicants are asked to make contributions of any kind for the educational purposes of the league. Among the well-known officers are the following: Lyman Abbott, Alexander Graham Bell, Boardman, Theodore, Cardinal Gibbons, Myron T. Herrick, Victor L. Berger, Samuel W. McCall, Mayor John Purroy Mitchell of New York, Alton B. Parker, Jacob Van Hise, William Allen White, Oscar Straus, Theodore Mann, John Hays Hammond and John Grier Hibben.

MANUAL TRAINING EQUIPMENT OFFER

Interest Taken in Betterment of Conditions in Franklin School.

Duluth citizens have offered to provide for a manual training department in the Franklin school, according to an announcement made last evening by Principal E. A. Mooney at the regular meeting of the Franklin Neighborhood.

A local Jewish women's club and a hardware firm have offered to purchase the necessary equipment. The matter will be taken up with the school board and it is probable that the manual training department will be established next year.

Announcement was made last evening of a banquet for the members to be held on the evening of Nov. 20. The committee on arrangements follows: John Thompson, chairman; H. Hauck, E. A. Mooney, J. M. Olson, C. T. Larson, T. E. McKibben and H. R. Pinkham.

It was agreed to co-operate with the Hillside Commercial club in the campaign for better housing conditions in the school. Joint committees, it was announced, will meet with the school board next week.

Prior to the business meeting, the members of the club were entertained with motion pictures and victrola music.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale—is responsible for more ailments than anything else. It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles. It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.

EXPECT BETTER WORK AT CENTRAL

Results of First Month Show Poor Scholarship—Football Fans in Virginia—Superior Game Exciting Interest—Plans for Senior Auction—Tryouts for Debate.

Last week marked the close of the first month of the school year at Central high school and the opening of the second. Individual reports for the first school month were issued and the honor role announced. The results showed that the students had not done as good work as usual during the early part of the year. There were eighty-nine students on the "A" and "B" honor lists, the juniors excelling in numbers. Last year it was not uncommon to find nearly twice this number on the lists. The number, however, is expected to be appreciably increased by the time that the next reports are given out, for the pupils will then have been well settled.

Several students made the trip to Virginia today where the football team is opposing the crack Virginia high school eleven. They left with the team this morning and will return tonight. The team was given a rousing send-off by the fans, and it is expected to put up a spirited performance.

The students realize that the football team is playing an exceptionally hard schedule, and they are overlooking defeats and showing more school spirit than has been evident for some time. An unusually large number made the trip to St. Paul last Saturday and there are many going to Virginia today.

In former years it was out of the ordinary for any great number of supporters to accompany the team on long trips such as these.

Unusual enthusiasm has already been worked up among the students over the senior game, which although no more the big game of the season, having been displaced for this honor by the St. Paul Central contest, still remains the contest where the greatest enthusiasm and school spirit are aroused. Duluth Central has been returned the victor over their rivals from across the bay, for three seasons in succession and it does not seem probable that precedent will be upset this fall. Superior, however, will undoubtedly have a strong team by the time that the Red and White warriors cross the bay, as this is the season which they have been preparing for all season. The contest will probably be close and exciting. It is expected that more than two thousand students will accompany the team to Hibel park. In former years it has not been unusual when the Duluth team was played in Superior to find more rooters from this side of the bay than from the town where the contest was being played. A special train will be chartered this year, the fare and game ticket to cost the students 50 cents.

The annual senior class auction, held each year on the day before Thanksgiving, is already beginning to attract the attention of the students and it is expected that a record-breaking sum will be collected on an auction at Central is $300, but this year's committee is hoping to break this, despite the stringency of money conditions. Over $200 money is used to buy clothing and provision for needy families and these are distributed on Thanksgiving morning. Several members of the auction committee canvassed the senior rooms last week in an attempt to determine what the several students would donate to the auction. Most of the girls make candy, which is sold in lots to "pools" composed of from ten to thirty students. There is a pool leader or bidder and if his pool is successful in getting the desired lot it is distributed among the members. In addition to candy many of the students make pen-nants, pillows, posters and many kinds of souvenirs. In all probability Mr. Custance will again act as auctioneer, having been the official gavel wielder every year since the auction idea was originated.

The auction committee this year is exceptionally active as they are planning to make a whirlwind campaign for the most successful affair in the history of the school. Helen Wannebo and Donald Alexander are chairmen of the committee, and Norman Tuffy will be the decorator. Harry Haines is to win Pearson will take care of the advertising. The other members of the Tryouts for the interclass debating teams were held last week, and the winners were announced. The teams, which will be held in about two weeks, will be started immediately. On Tuesday Jacob Guton, coach of the team, will be held in about two weeks, which will be started immediately. On Tuesday Jacob Guton, coach of the team, will be held in about two weeks, which will be started immediately.

The members of the freshmen class will meet in the assembly hall following the close of school Monday and elect their officers for the year. The meeting has been long delayed, but the first-year pupils have been all the more excited over the event. All names which it is intended to put up for nomination at the meeting first received the approval of the seniors. Several names have been handed in, and it is expected that before the "polls" close on Monday noon that there will be several more.

The Zenth board of alms, which will be held beginning one week from Monday, in chapel during the morning session, and Irving Grover will speak to the students, urging them to buy the alms. There will be a big campaign expected that there will be a rush for alms when the sale opens. It is planned to sell over 1,500 copies of the alms this year, and the students will be allowed credit for the regular fee alms will be sold for those who get the alms and for twice the amount for those who do not get them.

Members of the athletic association will hold their first important meeting of the year following the close of school Tuesday. The constitution and bylaws of the association were distributed among the members last week and it is planned to run the organization on a more systematic basis this year than has heretofore been the custom. Skull Hutton, president of the association, has several important announcements which he wishes to make at the meeting Tuesday and a large attendance is expected. One of the decisions that will be made will be the selection of a "vill-mistress" from among the new girl members of the committee. A tryout will be held on the front steps Tuesday noon and the prospects will be voted upon at the meeting.

PLEASED AT SALE OF SHREDDED WHEAT

The face of Fred Lorenz, the popular sales agent for Shredded Wheat, was wreathed in smiles today when he visited his customers in Duluth. He is most optimistic over conditions in Duluth, and states that both jobbers and grocers are greatly increasing their sales of this highly esteemed and healthful breakfast food. Arrangements are being made by Mr. Lorenz for a visit of the Shredded Wheat auto and its corps of workers, who will make a house-to-house distribution of shredded wheat samples.

Probably the thing that pleases Mr. Lorenz most in this city is the fact that Jimmy Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, who has captained so many prizes at Philadelphia, is a part of the diet for his men during training, and ascribes no small part of his success to this valued food in building up his crews to a perfect physical standard.

NO REACTION IN AUTO BUSINESS

Industry More Stable and Active Than Ever Before, Says Willys.

Ever since the automobile industry became one of the leading factors in the commercial world, predictions have been made that a reaction would take place. Those predictions, who had it all figured out that the turning point would come in 1914 or 1915, were as near to the truth as the positive individual who said the war could not last after June.

According to John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, the stability of the industry is greater today than at any time since its inception.

Any suggestion that the growth of the automobile business is only temporary, says Mr. Willys, "is not taken seriously by people who have watched its growth and development during the last fifteen years. Twice during that time it has passed through national panics without even faltering and is perhaps the only big industry that has never received a serious setback."

"The demand for cars is greater today than ever before in the history of the business. This year the Overland plant will produce approximately 100,000 cars, which is more than double the output of last season. Although we are shipping on an average of five hundred cars a day, the factory finds it necessary to work overtime in order to keep pace with the orders that are pouring in."

"The big price reductions alone have enabled thousands of people to invest in motor cars who heretofore considered them beyond their means. The ease with which the modern car is operated probably accounts for the great numbers that are now being sold to women."

"Instead of a luxury only indulged in by people of wealth the automobile has developed into a practical necessity. This is particularly true in the vast farming sections of the country. Statistics show that the farmers are the largest purchasers of motor cars, yet they are the least people on earth to spend money foolishly. They do not invest in a car merely for the pleasure that it affords them. On the contrary, they consider it a means of saving money. The average farmer looks upon the automobile as a time and money saver that will permit him to accomplish more work in less time than a team of horses."

"In the cities the motor car has become almost indispensable to doctors and professionals. It enables them to make more calls in a day than they could in a week if they had to depend on a horse or trolley car as a means of transportation. Salesmen, collectors, and in fact all out-door business men are using the motor car to facilitate their work."

MOTORIZING COSTS PUBLIC BILLION

Tremendous Growth of Business Shown By Magazine Report.

Motoring in 1915 will cost the people of the United States more than a billion dollars. The figures, which have been assembled by the Scientific American, give an idea of the tremendous growth of the motor vehicle industry.

The country has reached the 2,000,000 mark in the total number of automobiles. Conservatively there is an average of four persons to a car, and therefore 8,000,000 individuals in the United States are in daily enjoyment of motoring. The country runs into big money.

To run 2,000,000 cars for a year requires at least a billion gallons of gasoline, worth $1,000,000,000. It requires 20,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil, worth $8,000,000, and 12,000,000 tires, worth not less than $15,000,000.

Each car requires as accessories, such as goggles, gloves and caps, an outlay of $50, or $100,000,000. Garage charges on short tours amount to $100 per car, or $200,000,000. Repairs average $50 per car, or $100,000,000.

The total running expense for all cars in use is $730,000,000. If to that total there be added the value of 600,000 new cars purchased during the year at an average price of $750, or $450,000, the grand total is $1,180,000,000 spent in a single year on motoring.

UPPER AND LOWER "BERTHS" FOR SHIPMENT OF DODGE CARS

The enormous demands made on the railroads by motor car companies is little realized by the public. The average man reads of the thousands of automobiles being produced each year, but he gives no thought to the complicated task of distributing these cars about the country. Comfortable and safe shipments of the motor car plants have given considerable thought and attention and many ways have been worked out to utilize the last bit of space in the freight cars. The method used by Dodge Bros. is typical. From this big plant at Detroit completed motor cars are shipped five to the freight car. This is accomplished by virtually arranging for upper and lower berths for the cars.

HERALD'S WEEKLY ROADS BUREAU AND BULLETIN

Under this heading The Duluth Herald is publishing a weekly column of information for automobile owners and drivers during the summer and fall months. If you are planning on taking a trip, write to the automobile department. All the information at our disposal is yours for the asking. Motorists outside of Minnesota are especially invited to make use of this department.

Motorists traveling to range towns are finding considerable trouble in keeping to the traveled roads, because of the lack of signs and guide posts, according to complaints received by this department.

Latest reports from automobilists, who have driven to the range, are that the Vermilion road is by far the better one for motoring. The Miller Trunk road is bad in many spots and far worse than the "old trail."

Three years ago the Lincoln highway was but an idea in the minds of few constructive dreamers. Today it is a reality with a meaning more apparent to the people of the West than to any other part of the country.

H. C. Ostermann, consulting engineer for the Lincoln highway, reports that 1,200 have registered at Cheyenne, Wyo., during the thirty days just past, and also that thirty-three automobiles registered at one garage during the day he stopped there.

The secretary of the California Automobile association states that Miller, during the thirty days just past, has received more than 1,000 inquiries from the bureau of the club and that his records show that the greatest percentage of those motoring from the East come over the Lincoln highway. This traffic, resulting from the united national effort which has been expended upon the improvements of the Lincoln highway, shows conclusively the real value of the Lincoln highway to the West.

A. R. Borteson, Madison, Wis.—Do I need an extra tag while touring in Minnesota?
Answer—Your home tag exempts you in this state.

Rev. Q. Crosby—How are the roads from Atkin to Carlton? I am planning on a trip to Duluth next week.
Answer—The Oyuna range road between Atkin and Carlton is reported in good shape, with the exception of several small stretches of sand.

Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, has issued a bulletin of rules and regulations for the sanitary management of convict camps, which the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor feels of importance to all state and county authorities in charge of convict roads.

NOTES FROM THE FACTORIES

When Miss Ida Tarbell, well known writer and investigator, visited Detroit recently on a tour of modern factories, she gave unstinted praise to the welfare plans and sanitation systems in vogue at the big Chalmers plant.

A completely equipped emergency hospital under the direction of three physicians and a trained nurse, comfortable rest rooms for the women employees, and the most modern of sanitation systems, were among the items commented favorably upon by Miss Tarbell, who is at present writing a series of factory articles for a monthly magazine.

For the comfort of the women and girls who earn a living at the Chalmers plant, an admirable suite of rest rooms has been provided and placed in charge of a competent matron. The matron's duties are not limited to factory hours but extend to night visits to the homes of sick women employees, and the selection of suitable rooming and boarding places for the girls under her charge. Few of the Chalmers girls are married, and the Chalmers rest rooms, with their comfortable couches and easy chairs, soft rugs, cut flowers and potted plants all help to make the girls' quarters a part of the equipment. Each room has a victrola and records ranging from the latest fox trot to the finest selections from grand opera sung by Caruso, Farrar and other artists.

The Ford branch and assembly plant at Louisville, Ky., has recently moved into its new building from which it will add its quota of Ford cars to the number demanded daily by the American buying public.

The new building, located at Third avenue and the Southern railway, contains 108,834 square feet of floor space, and is typical in architectural design of other Ford branches throughout the country. It was erected at a cost of $210,000.

When activities are fully under way, a force of 200 men will be employed and the plant will have a daily output of thirty-five Ford cars.

The Studebaker corporation succeeded on Friday, Oct. 15, in establishing a new high mark for the production of motor cars in a single day. September had proved to be the banner month in the company's history. These records, having been broken, these records were for one day's production, for the output of six consecutive days, and for the total of cars manufactured in a month.

On this Friday the Studebaker factories produced 347 cars, and without requiring any extraordinary effort, so that officials of the corporation feel confident of a continuance of the pace in manufacturing that has been set.

Because almost every motor truck company in the United States has been running at full capacity for the past year and some have declined to give their output figures, there has been little opportunity to make accurate estimates on the year's total output. The most authoritative estimate made by a man who has confidential relations with most of the manufacturers is that 37,000 motor trucks were marketed during the preceding twelve months.

The count of employees of the Ford Motor company factory at Detroit, Mich., for September shows that slightly more than 21,000 persons are on the payroll, exclusive of the office force, numbering close to 700. These figures are for the Detroit plant only. The number of employees in the various branches and assembling plants of this company totals 9,146. The increase in the last mentioned figure, of nearly 600 over that for July, is largely due to the establishment of several new assembling plants to take care of increased business.

The total number of direct employees of the Ford Motor company in the United States now comes close to the 31,000 mark.

B. W. Davenport, the Maxwell export manager, is now in Europe, where he went in response to a cablegram stating the presence in Paris for the first time in months of the Maxwell distributor in France, who is back wounded from the western battle front, and is able to again devote attention to his business.

The hours of labor at the Franklin factory are nine hours the first five days in the week and five hours on Saturday, making a fifty-hour week.

This arrangement has been in force since July 1. Hourly rates of pay have been raised so that the earnings of employees exceed earnings under the former fifty-five-hour week. In fact, during the past three years, or since the Taylor system of scientific management was established, the hours of labor have been gradually reduced 18 per cent, while the pay of the men has increased 23 per cent.

At the meeting of Chalmers board of directors held in Detroit last Tuesday, Charles F. Lott, for the past fifteen years private secretary to Hugh Chalmers, was elected secretary of the Chalmers Motor company. C. A. Profanter, vice president and assistant general manager of the Chalmers Motor company, who has previously fulfilled the duties of secretary, will turn over that portion of his work to the incoming secretary.

"Four-cylinder cars are by far the most popular in the West and Southwest," writes Lee Anderson, sales and advertising manager of the Hupp Motor Car company, who is just completing a month's business trip throughout the Western territory.

CADILLAC EIGHT MAKES LONG RUN

Word has just been received in Detroit of the performance of the Cadillac eight in the formal inspection tour of the Dixie highway. The Cadillac is carrying J. M. Allison of Chattanooga, Tenn., president of the Dixie highway association, and the report covers the run from Detroit to Chattanooga.

CHURCH HAYS SUNDAY
Hiding for pleasure

Pleasure riding in motor cars on Sunday is under the ban of the Methodist Episcopal church of Wisconsin, according to resolutions passed at the annual convention of the West Wisconsin Methodist Episcopal conference in Eau Claire. All communicant members of the church are appealed to and strictly urged to obey and observe the rules against laboring on the Sabbath.

FOREIGN SALES ENORMOUS.
More Than $74,000,000 Spent Abroad for American Cars.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Foreign countries bought more than $74,000,000 worth of American automobiles and parts thereof in the last fiscal year, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce announced recently. This was an increase over the previous year of more than $20,000,000. Prospects are that the exports in the calendar year will exceed $120,000,000.

European countries are the largest purchasers of American motor trucks, and increased sales are being made to countries far removed from the war zone. The export trade for the year is made up as follows:

Commercial automobiles, $29,140,682; passenger automobiles, $21,118,953; automobiles (total), $50,259,635; automobile engines, $1,405,334; and automobile parts, $7,853,183.

Exports to Great Britain aggregated more than $24,000,000; France, $14,218,000; and Russia, more than $9,000,000. Total exports to Alaska were $91,381; Hawaii, $1,614,685; and to Porto Rico, $75,275.

FORDS AID MISSIONARY.
Minister Gives Testimonial Praising Work of Car in India.

A strong testimonial for Ford cars as an aid to the foreign missionary is given by Rev. J. A. McConnee, in a Campaign. It is interesting to note the reasons which led him to the Ford car for his work in India. He says: "I went in for a Ford, first because it was low in price. Money is no small item on a missionary field. Second, there are large agencies in India, where supplies and extra parts can be had.

Third, the Ford is a car built to take all sorts of roads. In the district of Sargodha we have seventy-five miles of metalled roads and 1,000 miles of the finest dirt roads to be found anywhere, but we have also roads through unbroken jungles, and roads full of ruts and ridges. The Ford has carried me over all sorts of roads without a murmur. More than this, I look upon the Ford as an every-day, rough-and-tumble machine built especially for work. I estimate that the Ford is easily doubling my usefulness, and I believe it has come to stay as a permanent mission agency."

Dr. McConnee also gives an instance of how the Ford helps him in getting about his district. On one occasion, he and a co-worker left home in the morning, traveled seventy-four miles, visited three villages, held services, talked with the people, secured some photographs, and were back at the station early in the evening.

BARRED BY DEAFNESS.
A precedent has been established by the New Jersey department of motor vehicles, which has refused to issue a license to a deaf-mute. The department stated that a deaf-mute is not competent to operate an automobile.

The department also stated that a special mirror mounted on each side of the windshield of his car, so that he could see cars approaching from the rear on either side, was not sufficient.

COMPANY WILL ENLARGE FACTORY

Chevrolet Firm Incorporates With Capital Stock of $20,000,000.

Plint, Mich., Oct. 30.—Through the incorporation of the Chevrolet Motor company of Delaware, with a capital stock of $20,000,000, which will become a holding company for the Chevrolet Motor company of this city, the latter will at once expand its manufacturing facilities.

The Chevrolet company will follow the lead of the Ford company by establishing a chain of assembling plants throughout the country and by using the local or parent plant principally for the making of the parts needed in the assembling plants. For the time being the Chevrolet will continue to be made at the main plant, but the 1817 motor may be made at one of the latter, those in New York, Tarrytown, N. Y., and Toronto, Can., are already in operation. The one in Oakland, Cal., is to be started soon. Still another one will be located in St.

Louis, where the Chevrolet Motor company of St. Louis has just been organized and incorporated, the capital all paid up being $1,000,000.

UNIFORM SIGNALS URGED BY MOTORISTS

A hand extended in a horizontal position indicates an intention to stop or to turn to the side from which the hand is extended.

A circling of the hand indicates the car will turn in a direction opposite to that from which your signal is being given.

Motorists throughout the country are endeavoring to establish a uniform signaling system.

At the "safety first" convention in Detroit on the other day, the movement was started to have manufacturers and agents urged to aid in the educational campaign for uniform signaling of motorists from all localities.

Clear and collisions are more numerous than head-on accidents, though this sort are due to the inability of the driver of the following car to guess the course of the machine ahead of him.

The accompanying drawings were prepared by the Chicago Automobile club.

FRANKLIN FACTORY BEING ENLARGED

One-Third More Floor Space Will Cost Corporation Half Million.

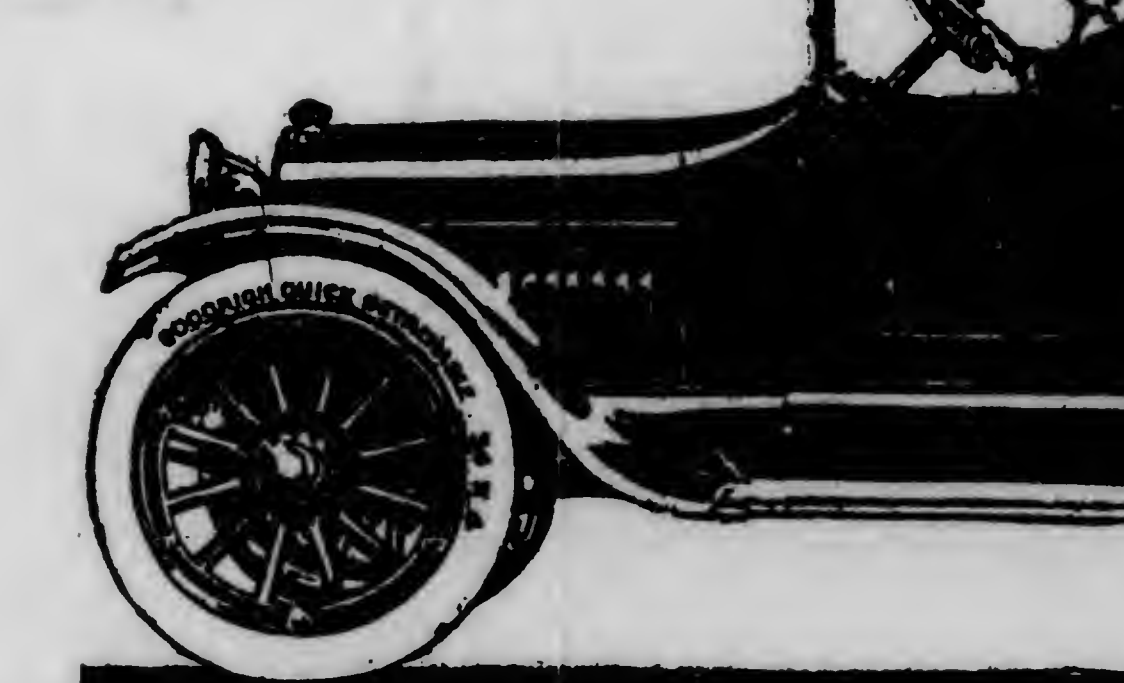

Building operations that will give the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company of Syracuse, N. Y., makers of the Franklin car, one-third more floor space than at present available, are now under full sway. The three additional floors in the course of construction will cost approximately one-half million dollars when finished and fully equipped with machinery, and will bring the total floor space up to ten and one-half acres.

New buildings have been erected each year since the company first started in business back in 1905, but this is the largest single expenditure ever invested at one time for expansion purposes.

The first additional unit consists of a two-story building with basement that will be devoted exclusively to the casting department. This building will have a capacity of 5,000,000 die castings annually, is now practically ready for occupancy.

The second unit, a two-story sawtooth building, will be used for machine shop, experimental department and chassis tests. Its construction is under way. It furnishes 24,000 square feet of floor space.

The last addition to be made will be six stories high and will represent approximately 136,000 square feet of floor space.

When Detroit—the Home of Automobiles—makes Studebaker its own "First Choice"

Can YOU safely buy any other car without knowing what Studebaker offers?

Think!

Detroit makes three-fourths of all the cars made in the entire country. Detroit people—the majority of them—are either directly associated with one of the many manufacturers—or else come in daily touch with the people who are. They KNOW the cars—know the factories—know the organization. Do you think they'd invest their own money in a car unless it was the TOP value of the market?

Fact is that the official registration figures for the first seven months of 1915 show a substantial preference for Studebaker cars over all other cars listed at $500 and more.

And when Detroit people make Studebaker "First Choice" over every other car listed at $500 or more, what can it mean but that Studebakers give the GREATEST value for the price.

But see the cars—judge for yourself. Ride in them and see on the road, in ACTION, on the hills and through the rough going WHY Detroit favors Studebaker above all other cars selling at $500 or over.

floor space, and will cost $200,000. The new equipment for this building alone will figure around $150,000, making a total investment of $350,000 for this one building. It will be completed about the first of 1916 and when made a unit with a companion building already in use, will form the largest factory building in Syracuse.

MANUFACTURER AND OWNER CO-OPERATE

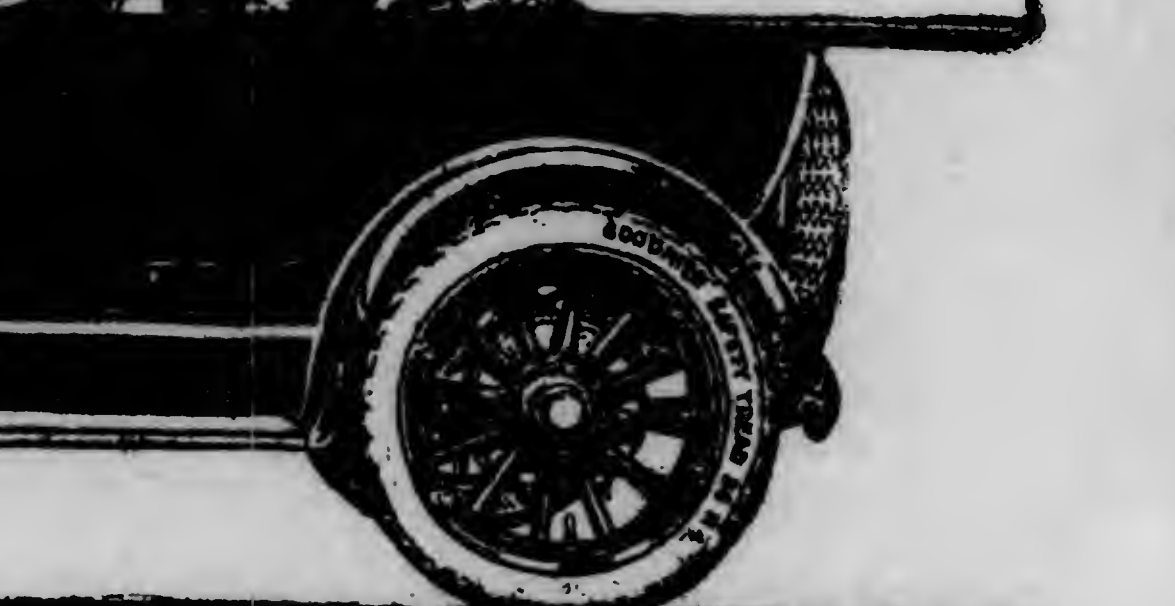

"An interesting coincidence, which recently occurred, shows the complete co-operation of automobile manufacturer and owner," states Elwood Haynes, pioneer automobile builder of Kokomo, Ind.

"On Aug. 31 a Haynes light six belonging to W. H. Hubbard of Mason City, Iowa, was stolen from a Mason City garage. As soon as Mr. Hubbard was informed of the theft he promptly notified the company at Kokomo. A circular letter was immediately sent to all agents throughout the country, giving a detailed description of the stolen car and instructing each agent to be on the lookout. On Oct. 1 a telegram was received from Ogden, Utah, stating that the thieves had been detected, were in the hands of the sheriff and that the car had been recovered.

"Such prompt and complete co-operation gives to the car owners a feeling of security which can in no other way be brought about. He feels that under all motor car circumstances he can absolutely depend upon the automobile manufacturer to stand behind his production and be always willing to extend a helping hand. He not only has the mere operation of the home office, but derives a benefit from the vast sales organization, which extends the world around, of which the home office is the head."

10,000 ADDITIONAL MEN FOR OVERLAND FACTORY

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Ten thousand additional men are to be employed by the Willard Overland Automobile company as soon as new additions now under construction, and others to be started at once, are ready for occupancy, according to Isaac Kinsey, one of the heaviest stockholders of the company. In a statement last night, the output of the machines is to be increased 1,000 a week, he said.

RECORD CONTRACT FOR ELECTRICITY

Willis' Company Will Secure 40,000-Horse Power Current.

What is declared to be the largest industrial contract for electric power ever given to a central station was placed recently by the Willis-Overland of Toledo. When the contract is completed, the generating company will be able to furnish the equivalent of 40,000-horse power of electric current.

Electrical engineers figuring on the work declare that the power is fully as great as that required for lighting a city of half a million inhabitants.

Five great power cables will be required to transmit this tremendous amount of current. Two of the cables were completed about a year ago. They are four and a half miles long, each carrying 33,000 volts, which is the highest voltage ever carried by an underground cable.

The cables hardly were in operation before the phenomenal rapid growth of the Overland plant made it necessary to install a third. This has just been completed, and its final tests have attracted the attention of cable manufacturers in all parts of the country.

On account of the importance of the cable and the tremendous load it must carry, as much attention was given to making the hundred joints as to the workmen were engaged in laboratory tests. Nothing was left to chance, the smallest details were guarded even to the extent of doing no work on rainy days or when the men's hands were covered with perspiration. This was done to preclude any possibility of moisture in the cable joints.

The cable, to be capable of carrying the load, had to test out for 23,000 volts. Six different tests were taken under a variety of conditions and each time the big power conveyor easily carried 33,000 volts, which was considered remarkable by the experts who supervised the work.

Good Hudson Record.
E. C. Patterson, the millionaire amateur automobile owner and driver, personally drove a Hudson with four passengers from Chicago to Minneapolis, via the northern route, a distance of 502 miles in 20 hours and 20 minutes. He returned via Cedar Rapids and Clinton, a distance of 566 miles, and made the return trip in 20 hours and 40 minutes. This is at an average speed of considerably over 27 miles per hour for the entire distance.

CLUB FOR SOPHOMORES FORMED AT BOYS' DEPARTMENT OF Y. M. C. A.

LESLIE GIDDINGS,
President of Sophomore Club.

RAYMOND LARSON,
Secretary of the Sophomore Club.

High school clubs are growing each year. Last year the Upper Classmen club included Juniors, seniors and sophomores. This year the Upper Classmen club was so large that only seniors and juniors could be accommodated, and so the committee decided to organize a club for sophomores only at the meeting held last week.

Leslie Giddings was elected president, Gilbert Holmstrom, vice president, Ray Larson, secretary, and Alex Tre-se, mascot. The club will meet at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. every Friday evening for dinner at 6:15 and will close promptly at 7:30. After the dinner the boys divide into groups for a 29-minute character building study.

The club stands for clean speech, clean sport and clean living. Any sophomore is eligible to join the club whether he is a member of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. or not. The only qualification is that he stands for the ideals of the club and tries to promote them through the student body of the school.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Football and Halloween Parties Occupying Minds of Students to the Exclusion of Classroom Work.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two things are at present occupying the minds of the university students to the exclusion of classroom work, namely football and Halloween parties. Every fraternity, club, literary organization and debating team is planning a dance for this evening with all of the autumn atmosphere obtainable, with the result that many neighboring farmers are wondering what has become of their large frosted pumpkins and well-arranged stacks of corn stocks. It is of automobiles noticeable during the still nights in the rural districts has something to do with the disappearance. At any event the same buzzing activity seems to be noticed about the university campus somewhat later in the evening. Rumor hath it, however, whether there be any truth in the accusation, that university students are concerned in impoverishing the thrifty farmer, that the campus will present very much the appearance of a rural community on Halloween.

Student talk is very professional these days on the subject of football. The copyist hopes and discouragements have followed so closely upon one another that all that is at a very tense pitch. On Thursday evening a monstrous mass meeting was held in the university armory as a send-off to the team which left that night to play Illinois. Thousands of students attended and responded to the importunities of various cheer leaders, who were sent on one after the other, to direct the vociferous energy of the enthusiastic students assembled. There were and interested professors. There seemed to be no doubt as to the outcome of the game but the idea was to make assurance doubly sure by instilling into the team every bit of confidence and encouragement which the students could express. After the meeting, the band led a parade to the Union station, where the team boarded the train and steamed away followed by the echoes of the final frantic cheering.

The extension department which, with the agricultural, is prey's pride and favorite, has been growing rapidly

In scope and influence. President Vincent is constantly urging a state-wide campus, which implies that the university is to extend its direct influence and opportunities to all parts of the state. The fact that over 13,000 students were enrolled in the university courses last year, while only about 5,000 visited the campus during their study shows that this movement has already gained some headway. There are night schools in various parts of St. Paul, Minneapolis and other cities throughout the state, and there will be more in the future. Many correspondence courses have been introduced and lecturers are sent into the country districts to advise the farmers and the management of farms. There are also lecturers who go to the more populous districts to speak on more cultural subjects such as correspond to the course in the academic school. This year a lyceum course, including 167 towns, has been planned which will include visits by the University Club and dramatic organizations as well as lectures.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority won the annual Carling cup race by a considerable margin. The race is five miles, team competition, each sorority represented by a team of men who are competing for the university track team. The Kappa were able to charm the noblest and swiftest runners into their service and thereby triumph over the rival sororities. The cup is a large silver trophy presented by the Carling of St. Paul and is to go to the sorority winning it three successive times.

The Agricultural college students are having a little training in the difficult art of teaching. They are called upon to instruct the pupils of the agricultural school, which is of high school ranking. The courses taken in the two institutions are very similar, the difference being that the college is open only to men of university standing while the school is accessible to men who have not had a chance to complete their high school course or who cannot attend school for the entire term on account of work on the farm. The agricultural school opens something over a month later than the college and closes earlier in the spring. It is in connection with this school that the short courses extending over one or two weeks are offered to older men who can spare no more time from the actual farm work.

Miss Rebecca Moore of the school of chemistry was honored with second prize for ability in chemical research in a contest which included twenty-seven of the leading colleges in the country. The contest was conducted by Alpha Sigma Beta, a chemical fraternity based on scholarship.

The growing number of foreign students at the university has resulted in numerous organizations intended to clarify the understanding of the various countries represented. The latest of such activities is the formation of a Minnesota branch of the International Hindu Student's club, and the Chinese club. The object of the first is to develop an American spirit, for it is easily noticeable among the American students that they have more admiration for America than for Great Britain. In fact, they are in this country for the single purpose of studying American conceptions of independence and individual rights. When they speak their eyes sparkle with the interest in the intellectual freedom of their people. They are determined to retain their own government is determined to retain. They come here to gain sanction even to found schools or publish newspapers for they say an American name is required to serve such institutions from interference.

A convocation of the entire university was called on Thursday to greet a gathering of prominent speakers. President Vincent led the meeting and introduced in turn Governor Hammond, Governor Perrie of Michigan and President Bryan of the University of Indiana. Each spoke briefly and very well encouraged the students in tasks which they had been quite at loss to appreciate.

PATROLMAN CONNOR WAS LOCKED UP

Early Morning Search for Burglars in Oak Hall Building Leads Him Into Trap.

Early Friday morning, before Aurora's chariot was ready for its westward drive across the heavens to herald the coming of a new day, Patrolman "Jack" Connor had a new experience.

He was locked up.

It would have remained a dark, dark secret, but someone thought it was too good to keep and let the cat out of the bag.

Shortly after 3 a. m., when all policemen are alert, Officer Connor found the door to the Oak Hall building, Second avenue west and Superior street, ajar.

He entered softly, glanced around the hall and then tiptoed upstairs, looking for burglars and congratulating himself that something was going to happen pretty quick.

While he looked, the janitor finished his work, but on his coat and went out, locking the door securely and never seeing the officer.

A lengthy search revealed no burglars, so back the patrolman came. He stopped at the door and swore (the record says) an Irish curse, for it was firmly bolted.

After trying windows and doors innumerable, he went upstairs and leaned from a second story window until the friendly figure of Patrolman Olund appeared around the corner, going in the direction of the cat box across from the Rex theater.

Frantic wig-wags from the window, and cautious shouts failed to arouse Olund, so finally Connor, in desperation, blew a long blast on his whistle. Olund jumped, stared around him, laughed, and then started for a ladder.

Now Officer Connor wants to know who told.

SCHOLARSHIP FOR GIRL IS OFFERED

Duluth College Alumnae Will Help Move for Higher Education.

The Duluth branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae offers a $300 scholarship to a girl graduate of any Duluth high school or the normal school, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The money will pay the expenses at any university or college during the first year, and the move by local college women is made to stimulate a greater interest in higher education. It is pointed out that but 5 per cent of girl graduates from high schools attend college.

Next Tuesday morning Miss A. Ziegler, teacher at the Central high school, who has been placed in charge of the fund will meet all girls interested and explain the provisions of the scholarship.

The "Barefoot" Tire—and Why.

WHEN you take your Shoes off tonight, do this: Bear your weight on your right Foot and, without lifting it off the floor, press it forward and backward firmly.

Then observe that only the bony and muscular Structure of your Foot moves forward and backward, while its Sole stays fixed on the floor.

That demonstrates the rolling motion of flesh and muscle, the elastic Cushion quality which reduces friction in walking, and prevents slipping (backward, forward, or sideways).

It supplies that CLING quality, which gives Traction without Friction.

It protects the Bones and Sinews of the Foot against the Wear and Tear of action, as a lubricant protects Metal moving parts, while providing the wonderful "Barefoot" hold on slippery surfaces.

CONSIDER now the means by which Tires have been given maximum Traction,—i. e., by means of a "sand-papery" texture in the Rubber of their Anti-Skid Treads. Assuredly such Tires do give Traction.

But, every time the Brakes are put on, to make such Tires grip the road, the relatively hard, unyielding, and comparatively brittle, texture of the Rubber in their Treads causes these Treads to grind away on the pavement, to WEAR OUT fast at the point of contact.

The sudden efficiency of their grinding-Traction also tugs so sharply on the Rubber Adhesive between the layers of Fabric in Tire as to separate these layers.

There is little "give" to them—just as there is little "slide" to them.

So, they gain Traction at the expense of Mileage.

Naturally such Tires require a great BULK of such Rubber in order to deliver reasonable Mileage before worn out.

And, therein they differ radically from GOODRICH "Barefoot" Tires.

Because—The Safety-Tread on Goodrich Tires is made of a very unusual, secret, and exclusive Compound, which we will here call "Hyper-Rubber."

It is much lighter, in weight, than the Rubber used in other makes of Tires, being free from the "sand-papery" ingredients that are heaviest and inert.

Observe, that every pound saved on the weight of Tires (or any part of a Car below the Springs) is equal to a saving of 30 pounds when supported above the Springs (ask your Engineer).

Its lightness, however, is secondary to its STRETCH, its enormous STRENGTH and Longevity.

AND here is how it acts in Automobiling,—When the weight of the Car bears on this clinging "Hyper-Rubber" Tread, and the power is applied to go ahead or reverse, the stretch in the Sole (or Tread) of the Goodrich Tire acts as a sort of Lubricant between the Fabric Structure of the Tire and the Road.

Then the Hyper-Rubber "Toes", of the Goodrich Safety-Tread Tire, CLING to the pavement (instead of grinding against it), just as your Bare Foot would cling to a slippery surface—without Grind, and so, with the minimum of Frictional Heat or Wear for maximum Traction.

Goodrich "Hyper-Rubber" is made into Goodrich Motor Cycle, and Bicycle, Tires, as well as into Goodrich Rubber Boots, Over-Shoes, Soles and Heels.

PREPARE FOR CONVENTIONS

Both Democratic and Republican Committees to Meet in December.

Will Select Cities in Which National Conventions Will Be Held.

New York, Oct. 30.—Chairmen of both the Democratic and Republican national committees last night issued calls for meetings in Washington to select cities for the coming national conventions. The Democrats will meet on Dec. 7 and the Republicans Dec. 14. William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee anounced that a meeting of the committee had been called for Dec. 7 to decide where the next national convention shall be held. The committee will meet at the New Willard hotel in Washington.

Chicago, St. Louis and Dallas have applied for the convention. The two first named have offered to meet all the expenses of the national committee. Dallas has offered the use of an auditorium and a bonus of $10,000.

Some Favor New York. In favor of putting New York into the contest, but as yet no formal application has been made by representatives of this city. It has been more lull since a national political convention was held here.

The date for the meeting of the committee was set after McCombs had conferred with President Wilson by telephone. The date was agreeable to the president, Mr. McCombs said.

In addition to naming a convention city, the committee will decide all contests regarding membership of the committee and devise ways and means for raising money for the conduct of the campaign, both before and after the convention. At present there are only two contests in sight, one from Kentucky and the other from Oregon.

Line of Republican Campaign. In addition to issuing his call, Chairman Charles D. Hillis of the Republican national committee set forth the probable line of campaign to be followed by his party. It will include: Criticism of the Wilson administration's handling of the foreign affairs in Europe and Mexico.

Charges that Democracy has failed to keep its promise of an economical administration and has failed to keep its 1912 platform pledges, including the declaration in favor of a single term for the president.

Attacks on the administration ship bill and other administration measures. Mr. Hillis declared that there was no lack of interest in the presidential race. Active organizations, he said, are in the field for Senators Burton, Weeks, Cummins, Borah, Smith and Lowmings, he said, are Justice Hughes, Elihu Root, Phelan, C. Knox Charles Warren Fairbanks and Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania.

He also said that he had positive assurance that former President William Howard Taft will not consider another nomination for the presidency. Besides selecting a convention city the Republicans will arrange for the appointment of various subcommittees and make other arrangements for the campaign.

ORPHEUM-STRAND TO CLOSE. High Class Photoplay House Will Shut Doors Temporarily.

The Orpheum-Strand theater, which opened Sept. 16, will be closed temporarily following the performance tomorrow night. This announcement has been made by Manager T. J. Robson. No regular performances will be given during the winter, but special attractions will be presented from time to time by the promoters, the F. & H. Theatrical company of Chicago. The first film to be shown will be "Uncle Sam at Work," which will be presented the second week in November.

Edward Furni, treasurer of the theater, will become manager. Mr. Robson will leave for Chicago, where, it is expected, he will become manager of a playhouse.

BORAH, CONSISTENCY AND GEOGRAPHY

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald)—It is not quite fair to horn off the Hon. William Edgar Borah from the G. O. P. trough because he voted for William J. Bryan for president in 1896. He was young then, and 16 to 1 was a very popular cry in his neck of the woods. Let us remember that both John A. Logan and Daniel E. Sickles were "Copperheads" until the big war of 1861-65 was well on foot—vide their speeches in the Thirty-sixth congress. It was said of Martin Van Buren that he was a "Northern man of Southern principles," and it may be said that Mr. Borah is a standpat with progressive principles. If Mr. Borah could forgive Woodrow Wilson for his gold-bug vote, why should not Mr. Penrose excuse William E. Borah for his free silver vote? In the Garden of Gethsemane Peter denied his master thrice; but he gave an excellent account of himself on the Day of Pentecost.

Mr. Borah is not alone in his early heresy. In his "prentice days" Gen. Jackson was for the bank, which smote with the club of Hercules a long time after. Henry Clay started out an enemy of the bank and got to be its strongest champion. Daniel Webster, as late as 1824, was the ablest free trader our country has produced, and soon thereafter he was the strongest champion of a protective tariff. John C. Calhoun began a protectionist, and in 1832 was ready to dissolve the Union, or nullify its laws, which was the same thing, because of the protection in the "tariff of Abominations" of 1828.

Consistency is the bugaboo of little minds, we are told by Thordis Capelle, and politics, domestic and foreign, furnish a thousand illustrations to establish it. In 1852, Oliver P. Morton was a "dough-faced" champion of all the South contended for on the slavery question, yet he became the most distinguished of the Northern "war governors" when the slavery question was appealed to the sword. Justice would uphold a plea of infamy on the part of Borah, if the charge of Bryanism shall be lodged against him.

The possible exception of Cabot Lodge, Mr. Borah is the ablest man on the Republican side of the senate as that body will be constituted when the senate of the Sixty-fourth congress shall be convened. I don't think him as strong a man as his late colleague, Mr. Heyburn, but he has taken a higher rank as a senator than that exceptional able man ever attained. As a debater he is not in the class of John Sharp Williams, and I do not believe he could long stand before Furness, Mr. Simmons. His reputation is chiefly founded on the fancy that he is a better brand of politics than that Root stood for, or that Lodge stands for. In the Republican national convention of 1912 he championed Roosevelt, but refused to become a Bull Moose, and voted for Taft. He is said to be very strong out West, but New York, New England and Pennsylvania run Republican national conventions. Woodrow Wilson has given evidence that he is a very great man. Mr. Borah has given evidence that he is a rather bright man. That is the difference between the two. The people know 'em both and will decide between them in the very improbable event that Borah shall head the Standpat ticket.

Another thing that hampers Borah is the state he hails from, which has but four votes in the college. Thomas F. Bayard would have been nominated for president had he not lived in the little state of Delaware. Seymour and Cleveland were both nominated because they hailed from the great state of New York, and to them we may add Samuel J. Tilden. Had Thomas B. Reed lived in Indiana or Illinois there is little doubt that he would have been nominated for president, and had James C. Blaine lived in Ohio, instead of in Maine, there is little doubt that he would have been elected president. Geography plays too big a part in our politics. Thus a resident of the South has no more chance of the presidency than he would have if he lived in the state of New York. The Constitution made ineligible to that dignity the man who resides south of the Mason and Dixon line. If to his own splendid abilities John Sharp Williams added the strong qualities of Andrew Jackson and all the excellent qualities of Abraham Lincoln, he could never be president because he hails from the rebel state of Mississippi. And I venture to say for him that John Sharp would not change state with any man in America though a life term in the White House were offered as "boot" in the swap.

Even in the states this geography nonsense maintains. In Vermont from east of the ridge and the other from west of the ridge, and so the two congress districts are marked. But there is New York, which, when I first came here, was represented in the senate by Roscoe Conkling and Francis Kernan, both from the same little town of Utica. John T. Morgan and Edmund W. Pettus, when senators from Alabama, were both from the same little town. The Ashland district of Kentucky—the blue-grass section—has given more trains to congress than any other in the Union, and I have in mind the old Quincy district in Massachusetts and the old Nineteenth of Ohio. Geography is another bugaboo that ought to be drummed out of politics. It would help if Borah, of the little state of Idaho, were nominated for president by the G. O. P.

of complications that involve an eloquent, the peace of mind of the South's father and three brothers, the breaking up of an established curse and the bar of a family skeleton. Meanwhile the baron "drinks in" the smoke from countless cigars, maintains his imperturbable good nature and shows himself such a good sport in more than one instance that you rather wish he appeared more than he does in the story.

Even as it is you find yourself sympathizing rather with the hero than with the hero-or-heroes—in many instances.

Unadulterated Romance.
THE FORTUNES OF GAIN. By Mary Johnston. New York: Houghton-Mifflin company. $1.40 net.

Those who have complained of late that Miss Johnston has led them, fascinated by the climate of a tale they met the cold douche of an unhappy ending, will have no fault to find with this bit of romance. The tale is of the Twelfth century, of the time of the crusades, and the glory and glamor of the knight in full armor, warm with love and the sun of Southern France. The tale is of Garin of the Black Castle, esquire of Raimbaut the Six-fingered, who, hesitating between torn service to the church and mailed service to romance, is directed in his choice by love.

Pondering his future as he goes, he finds a hard girl struggling in the grasp of a knight. Later, following an idle fancy, he sees from the woods a girl surrounded by a train of maidens, and knows love though he does not see his loved one's face. The girl in the woods is a little girl, a "ugly princess," daughter of Gloucester the Good, whom men say is not fair, but whose beauty is in the eyes of the people. And Audart is Jael, the heretic.

Driven from the country by the battle of the cross and of Savaric, his powerful father, Garin takes his sword and sails to Holy Land, to bring succor to King Baldwin of Jerusalem. From thence he comes, seven years later, as Sir Garin de l'ile d'Or, famous as a knight and a soldier, and a troubadour-singer of his own songs, whom he calls "the Fair God."

The return of Garin of the Golden Island is timely. Audart, sought in marriage by Jaure, rejects his advances, and war is declared. Rochefort, Audart's uncle, is besieged by an overwhelming force, and finally beset by slight chance of much prolonged resistance. To Garin, the thrilling opportunity to face four thousand desperate perils, hand in hand with Audart—but not yet knowing that he is the son of the Fair God, he is not three but one—comes relief for the afflicted state by appealing to the sympathies of Richard the Lion-Heart, Duke of Aquitaine.

are tournaments, joustings, romantic love, mighty battles, all the panoply of feudalism, with a strong, sweet music running through the dawn of liberty, the stirring of the Middle Ages toward class consciousness, and the dawn of a new era of freedom for those so fortunate as to retain an affection for pure romance.

his romantic cruise through Western seas in a small sailing vessel built for that purpose, is a real person—very real indeed. Indeed, anybody will agree who reads the account she gives through her story voyage. Moreover, she is a woman who has lived, and who has her own story to tell. The accurate continuous narrative of the adventures of the "Shark" makes the story a real one. The tale is the way Mrs. London decries the story. It is part of it. For the rest, she writes of it as she sees it, and she shows keen observation and an accurate delineation of the human side of the experiences she met with, and with humor and anecdote, she tells of her adventures on sea and land, and she tells of the people she met, and the people they fell among. There are many good photographs, and nearly 600 pages, all entertaining.

Character that Stand Out.
SPRAGUE'S CANYON. By Horace Annesley Vachell. New York: G. O. P. Doran company. $1.25 net.

Few writers succeed better than Mr. Vachell in making their people stand out prominently and clearly to the reader's mind. He has a knack of character delineation and development that is worth studying for its own sake. He gives his people a story that is independently interesting.

ambulance in Flanders, May Sinclair opens her "Journal of Impressions in Belgium." May Sinclair is an English novelist, who writes of the war in Belgium, not even an attempt to disguise the sense of the horror of the war. It is a story of the war, of the mental reactions upon her of the events she witnessed. It is a story of the war, of the mental reactions upon her of the events she witnessed.

Napoleon From a New Angle.
THE FORTUNES OF NAPOLEON. By James Morgan. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50.

The title of this volume suggests two interpretations—that of a descriptive journey along the pathway of Napoleon, and that of a story of his life. Both interpretations are correct. The author, besides the usual researches into original authorities, began at Corsica, where Napoleon was born, and followed his career through the thousands of miles, following his career through life from city to city, from post to post, from his beginnings to mighty triumphs to downfall, obscurity, and death. He writes of the scenes of the events of the war, of the mental reactions upon her of the events she witnessed. He uses the customary original sources of history. Both the story and the background are brought out brilliantly. It makes an exceedingly interesting story.

"The war of the nations," says the author, "is the tragic sequel of the Napoleonic wars. Some of the parties may have changed sides for the moment, but in their motives and their aims, and I have depicted the earlier as the forerunner of the later conflict." An effort has been made to find Napoleon's rise and fall something more than the miraculous "destinies of a legendary superman" or the meaningless sport of blind fortune. In short, I have represented a period of chaos, was called out by the crowd of embers and vindictive exercise of common men against a privileged few, to sweep away ancient systems and to build a new one in the name of the great revolution, to be enthroned above monarchs of long descent. In short, I have represented him as the servant of a mighty power, and as a man who, once he was planned, and which, with the pitilessness of nature, cast him away when blinded by personal ambition, he was no longer faithful and useful to its purpose.

Some Virile Verse.
SONGS OF THE WORKDAY WORLD. By Hector Bradley. New York: George H. Doran company. $1.00 net.

In their introduction to the "songs" the publishers seek to raise the question whether there is not in progress a sort of renaissance in poetry. Where there never has been and never will be need for such a thing, for it will always keep its hold on the real people.

The Great Lakes, the Copper Country of Michigan, the mines of Alaska, the tollers here and there and everywhere, above and below ground all get their representation and recognition in the common humanity of it all. Who hasn't felt the strain and monotony of the long "week" as it is expressed in the poem "The Miner's Week"?

I've been working twenty years, even now it's only half past three. The verses included in this volume have appeared from time to time in various magazines, and the collection within covers was well worth while.

New Money-Extracting Ideas.
MONEY-MAKING ENTERTAINMENTS FOR CULINARY AND CHARITY. By Mary Dawson. Philadelphia: David McKay. $1.00.

The title tells the story, save that the ideas presented are often new and ingenious, and that the book ought to be helpful to those seeking new and pleasant methods of charming money out of the public purse month after month.

For Jaded Palates.
THE SOMETHING-DIFFERENT DISH. By Marion Harris. New York: David McKay. $0.50.

The hundred recipes in this book are certainly different in name. They include such piquant exciting names as Toad-in-a-hole, Cock-a-lukie, Bubble-and-Squeak Singing, and so on. Moreover, they are different in make-up, too, and seem practical and tempting to the appetite. They include soups, puddings, cakes, fish, meat and chicken dishes, etc.

De Luxe Children's Giftbook.
THE WATER BABIES. By Charles Kingsley. With Illustrations by W. Heath Robinson. New York: Houghton Mifflin company. Board, $2.00.

Kingsley's delightful classic never found a finer expression than in this example of the bookbinder's and illustrator's art. The illustrations are especially caught the whimsically humorous spirit of the tale, and his pictures are fitting types of the amusing characters of the story. The container, even, is something new—a box with a window.

A Story of a Dog.
INTO HIS OWN. The story of an Alsatian, by Clarence Budington Kelland. Philadelphia: David McKay. $0.50.

Possibly this pleasant little book doesn't belong in the juvenile department, for it appeals strongly to the interesting attachment of a boy who, between humanity and its four-footed chum, which adults feel no less than children. At any rate, it is a story that young and old will like, telling the adventures of an Alsatian pup of high degree that escaped from the kennel during a fire, became a tramp, fell into good hands, and later, as an unknown, won the championship from its father.

A Fine School Story.
DEAL WOODS. By Laura Griswold, author of "Twisting of Deeds." New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25.

In this, the fourth of his series of school stories for boys, as in its predecessors, the universal boy interest is dominant and supreme. It is wholeheartedly, entertaining, deals with athletics, camping, hunting, trapping and the like. It is more than that, the story of a friendship that grows up between two boys of widely different characters, and the effect of that friendship on the boy's life.

The Merry Beggar and His Pipe.
THE MERRY BEGGAR AND HIS PIPE. By Cornelia Meigs. Illustrations by Frances White. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25.

In this pleasantly fanciful tale are related the experiences of a beggar as he travels the country over, playing his penny flute. Always knowing the best of the hero when he is in greatest distress—but he helps the good as well as the bad. The beggar stands for the soundness and sweetness of life, and for the better nature that is within the worst. So the tale is moral and wholesome, though for the mere tale's sake it is charming indeed.

A Patriot Girl of a Revolution.
A MAID OF '76. By Alda Arthur Knipe. Illustrations by Emma Brown Knipe. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25.

Though the heroine's father is a loyalist—a Tory—she is a patriot through and through. This presents a difficult situation, in which she must keep the balance between her loyalty to her father and her love of country. Through the activities of a spy, who discovers in her possession papers apparently incriminating, she becomes involved in thick difficulties. How, and her own quick wit, she solves matters, remains true to her country and even brings her father around to her way of thinking, makes the very lively and captivating story, which will surely interest girl readers.

of the hero when he is in greatest distress—but he helps the good as well as the bad. The beggar stands for the soundness and sweetness of life, and for the better nature that is within the worst. So the tale is moral and wholesome, though for the mere tale's sake it is charming indeed.

A Patriot Girl of a Revolution.
A MAID OF '76. By Alda Arthur Knipe. Illustrations by Emma Brown Knipe. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25.

Though the heroine's father is a loyalist—a Tory—she is a patriot through and through. This presents a difficult situation, in which she must keep the balance between her loyalty to her father and her love of country. Through the activities of a spy, who discovers in her possession papers apparently incriminating, she becomes involved in thick difficulties. How, and her own quick wit, she solves matters, remains true to her country and even brings her father around to her way of thinking, makes the very lively and captivating story, which will surely interest girl readers.

Those Old Teeth

ODAY the name "rheumatism" is almost a curse in medical circles—though it still figures prominently in popular circulars. A diagnosis of "rheumatism" especially a diagnosis of "chronic rheumatism," may be all right for the patient to make—to the patient it probably signifies some definite disease—but for a physician to perpetrate such a diagnosis is a sorry joke, that is, if he does it seriously.

Studying the mouth as a situation of septic foci, Dr. H. L. Ulrich found that more than half of all artificially devitalized teeth had blind abscesses at their roots—pus foci of which the patient was perhaps unaware. In 800 cases examined, 1,350 dead teeth were found, and our old friend the streptococcus was there in every case bacteriologically examined. Other troublesome cocci were present also, but streptococcus viridans was the ever faithful.

THE FIRST BUSINESS WOMAN TO BE MISTRESS OF THE WHITE HOUSE

No Other "First Lady" Has Been "In Trade," as the English Say—What Type of Woman Mrs. Galt Is, What She Has Done and What She Is Doing.

Today the searchlight of the nation's interest is directed straight upon Mrs. Norman Galt. A simple little statement of a dozen words or so was given out at the White House last night recently, and the next morning Mrs. Galt awoke to find herself nationally famous. As the awakening daylight traveled from the Eastern coast to the Far West the country awoke itself to find a new star in its firmament of favorite women, says the Kansas City Star.

Now that the national capital and the nation in general have recovered from the surprise of President Wilson's engagement to marry, every effort is being bent toward finding out who Mrs. Galt is, what type of woman she is, what she has done, what she is doing and how she is like to measure up to the brilliant standards set by certain previous hostesses of the White House.

These are the topics of conversation in thousands and thousands of homes and gatherings of every sort. As the fiancée of the president, Mrs. Galt is the most talked of person in the United States today.

A Her Maker. What the searchlight reveals to our eyes is a woman of unusual beauty of face and charm of personality, a woman who has been the favorite of the different circles in which she has moved and yet a woman domestically inclined, a home maker. We see a woman whose years appear to be much less than her late thirties, one whose firmness for the out of doors and the open air sports has added the beauty of glowing health to that which she inherited from a family noted for its good looks.

We see a woman of keen mentality, fond of books, as President Wilson is, a woman deeply interested in the world and world politics, though not a suffragette. Mrs. Galt is also an accomplished musician. The piano is her favorite instrument.

Such is the woman who until now has been little known outside her own circle of men and women of the permanent population of the brilliant social lumina, but who now is to become the leader of the society of the capital city for the next two seasons and possibly for four more.

Brilliant Season Expected. And it is now an accepted fact that the wedding late in November or early in December will be the signal for the opening of the most brilliant social season Washington has seen in many a year. The only element which is regarded as standing in the way of an unprecedentedly gay and active winter season is the complicated and touchy diplomatic situation resulting from the war.

In her nineteen years in Washington Mrs. Galt has had a career of unusual activity. As the wife and later the widow of one of Washington's successful business men, and as the daughter of another act which until recently never appeared within the charmed administration circle, she has been a part of the social life of the city. When she opened the way for the commingling of these two social sets, more and more the democratic wife of the president invited Washingtonians to her entertainment.

In this way, it is pointed out by some who have watched the capital seasons come and go, Mrs. Galt has been the way for Mrs. Galt to meet the president. Mrs. Galt belonged to that highly cultured and successful circle of prominent Washingtonians which the wife of the president drew to overlap the circle of the White House.

For almost a hundred years the jewelry store of the Galts has been one of the landmarks of Washington. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Norman Galt bought out the interests of the members of the Galt family and since then she has been in sole possession of the firm. While Mrs. Galt has been in the hands of her brothers she has kept close watch on the business and has proved herself a capable and practical business woman. For the first time the White House will have as mistress a woman who has made good in the world of trade. Her store is estimated to be worth $300,000.

The Charm of Her Home. Mrs. Galt's home, which she has shared with her mother and an unmarried sister, has long been noted among Washington homes for its charm. With its simple and splendid homelike atmosphere, it is just off Dupont circle, in one of the best residential districts, though it is one of the more modest places there.

President Wilson found the charming home atmosphere strongly appealing during the trying days of the spring and summer. When momentous state matters were crushing down upon him and his cabinet from the cares of his office and from the loneliness of the White House he found refuge in the daily French drawing room in the home of Mrs. Galt.

Frequently, too, the president's daughter, Miss Margaret Wilson, and her cousin, Miss Grover Cleveland, have been entertained there. But only have been other guests present, as until the departure of the president's household for Cornish in the early summer, no member of the Wilson family accepted any formal invitation, even from the closest of friends.

How Mrs. Galt Hovers. There were few days, however, that a White House motor car was not seen to stop at Mrs. Galt's door, sometimes with the president as its occupant, but quite as often with one or two of the women of the Wilson family calling for their new but most congenial friend.

Mrs. Galt is tall, with a healthful build, which adds to her facial beauty. Her eyes are dark brown, as is also her hair, of which she has an abundance, and which at first appears black. Her features are regular and her complexion clear.

The future mistress of the White House compares well in appearance with that other presidential bride, the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland, who until now has been the great beauty in a long line of distinguished women who have played the role of "First Lady of the Land."

Not the least of the many attractions of Mrs. Norman Galt is her excellent taste in dress. The shortage of imported materials or the failure of dyestuffs have no terrors for her. Since laying aside mourning several years ago she has evolved a style of costume in white and black and in the softest grays which is at the same time modish and most becoming.

For some years after the death of Mr. Galt she wore the deepest mourning, later adopting crepe de chine in both white and black. Her taste in her afternoon and evening gowns, with serge velours de laine and broadcloth for street wear.

At Cornish last summer while visiting with the executive household she invariably wore white tailored skirts and soft blouses for the morning, white silk, sometimes white chiffon for evening, with any number of charming white muslins for times in between. All through the spring season she was noticed to wear a corsage of violets, since her return from Cornish, orchids, now known to be the choicest blooms of the White House conservatories, have succeeded as her floral adornment.

Deliver Her Own Car. A white serge tailored suit on new smart lines, with the coat in attractive military fashion with white silk braids, is to be worn almost any pleasant afternoon. With this Mrs. Galt wears white kid low shoes, white silk hosiery and a small black hat.

Mrs. Galt is fond of motor driving, along with her other outdoor diversions. For several years she has kept a car and has done her own driving. Golf and baseball are her favorites among the sports. Her enjoyment of the great national game was clearly shown a few days ago, when, with the president, she saw the second game of the recent world series in Philadelphia. Like any of the other members of the future first lady's family, she was comparatively a poor man, as were most of the men of the South in the period just following the Civil war.

The Bollings became related through marriage to several of the outstanding families of the Old Dominion. One of them, Judge William Bolling, a sister of Thomas Jefferson of Monticello. Tracing Her Indian Lineage. Love for the out of doors and for open air exercise is one of Mrs. Galt's inheritances from her girlhood when the winding mountain roads of southwestern Virginia knew her daily. Walking has retained its pleasures for her, and she has been a frequent visitor to Washington now know her just as well. In this lies the secret of her perfect health and poise.

Perhaps a part of that ardent love of nature and for nature's freedom may be due to the fact that Mrs. Galt's ancestors were one of the Pocahontas, the "dear old Jew," traces the connection without a break. Crookston, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twelfth annual convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association will be held at Fergus Falls Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 8-9, and a program of educational merit has been arranged in addition to special entertainment features to be provided by the people of Fergus Falls, which will be in charge of a committee named by Mayor A. B. Cole as follows: C. R. Wright, A. G. Anderson, George C. Manor, O. F. Ueland and G. W. Frankberg. Crookston has had the convention for many years and Fergus Falls bids fair to outdo the hospitality of the Queen City.

The detailed program is not completed, but among the features will be addresses by State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. J. Farrell, C. G. Selvig of Crookston, president of the association; Prof. G. Announce Season's Winners. A big feature of the program will be the announcement of the winners in the six big dairymen's contests, conducted by the association the past season. There are now in the Red River valley over 200 farmers who are keeping dairy herds, and as against 40 records is a pet hobby of President Selvig, who has an enthusiastic record of pure-bred dairy stock and a wonderful increase in the number of herd records kept is one of the tangible results of the association work the last two years.

The dairymen's contests are: First, creamery association with largest per cent of butterfat in cream; second, individual farmers keep best, most accurate and complete records; third, creamery association wherein largest number of pure-bred dairy cows have been purchased between Feb. 1 and Oct. 1, 1915; fourth, creamery association wherein largest number of cows are in use; fifth, creamery association where-

STREET FOR PLAYGROUND

Council Makes Provision for Jackson School Children With Safety Zone.

City Depositories Designated; Dock Land Lease Authorized.

Jackson school children now have a playground in the street fronting the schoolhouse.

This morning the commissioners adopted the resolution introduced by Mayor Prince, establishing a safety zone in the street during several periods of each school day, so that the children may play without fear of accident. The entire block on Third street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues west, will be partly closed to traffic during the recess periods and before and after school hours. Stairs and with pelling will be placed at each end of the block, leaving about fifteen feet on the north side for traffic.

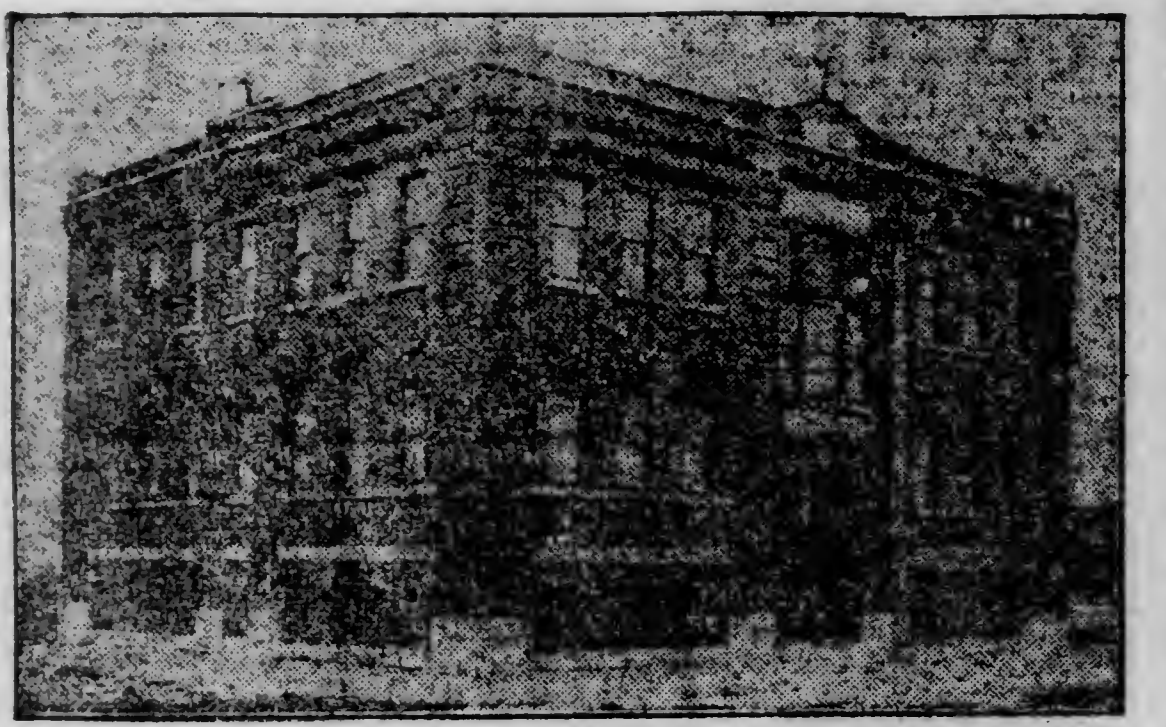

In addition, the council this morning approved the bonds of the local banks designated as city depositories for two years beginning Monday, Nov. 1. The banks and amounts follow: Allstate National, $170,000; American Exchange, $170,000; City National, $115,000; Northern National, $20,000; St. Louis County State, $20,000; Western State, $140,000; Citizens State, $120,000; Duluth State, $7,500, and Central State, $7,500.

The city attorney was instructed to make application with the proper state authorities for a ninety-nine year lease of the strip at the foot of Thirty-third avenue west for public dock purposes. Permission to use the land was granted by the city by the state legislature at its last session. The dock, however, must agree to make improvements within five years from the granting of the lease or forfeit its rights to the property.

Mayor Prince introduced the ordinance placing electrical inspection in the jurisdiction of the city. The ordinance requires two annual inspections before it comes up for passage. Harry returned with about thirty-five birds, as his share of the prize. All, in fact, returned with ducks. They keep them from starving for the next two weeks.

ROUGH TREATMENT BY BOXCAR BANDITS

Stanley Kwiat Robbed and Thrown Naked From Train.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bruised and still suffering from injuries received when he was robbed and thrown naked from a Great Northern freight train at Bemidji, twelve miles east of Crookston, Stanley Kwiat, a Polish laborer, staggered into the office of B. B. Lundgren, employment agent in this city, and asked for work. He had no money, so Mr. Lundgren purchased his supper and sent him to Blackduck to work for P. McDonnell on the road that is now being built from that village to Cass Lake.

In telling of his thrilling experience Kwiat said that he had been working in the Dakota harvest fields and had saved $75. He went to Bemidji and from that city was "beating it" to Bemidji on a Great Northern freight when four men entered the car as the train was nearing Bemidji and after robbing him, stripped him of his clothes from him and threw him into a ditch, throwing his clothes after him. He lay unconscious for about half an hour and when he crawled to where his clothes were he dressed himself.

After he was able to walk he again caught a freight and "beat it" to Bemidji. Arriving in this city he made his way to the employment office and told his story.

On Jan. 3 he will appear in Crookston to identify the three men that are now being held in that city as suspects of the robbery.

At the time the robbery took place at Bemidji the robbers, it is alleged, left the car Kwiat was in and going to the head of the train, held up the train crew and then left the train traveling across country. The trainmen notified the sheriff, Crookston and Deputy Rolstad disguised as a

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bileous, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscular. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty. Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10c per box at any drug store.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposition of the Federal government to abandon the irrigation project at Williston has aroused a great deal of interest all across the state. It is the only project that has been attempted by the state and many people feel that there should be a more extended trial.

The excessive cost of operation has been a great factor in the Williston project. Instead of making a fixed charge for the use of the water, the government has been operating on a fixed basis that has prevented many farmers from using the water who would have done so on a basis of fixed charges.

The attitude of the government appears to be that it is better to abandon the project entirely, lose what has been put into the deal, rather than to continue its operation in view of a certain loss. The farmers contend that the plant is operated on a fixed basis that in a few years the number of water users would be so increased the project would be self-supporting.

In view of the proposed abandonment of the project there is state-wide interest in the survey of the plant by the Director Cooper of the United States experiment station. He has been asked to go over the ground and report what effect the abandonment would have on the farmers along the project. It is contended that many men have purchased small tracts of land in the vicinity of the plant in operation to be permanent and if the plant is abandoned their financial conditions would be wrecked.

JAIL BREAKER IS RECAPTURED

Kenmare, N. D., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Landroy in a gun fight at Coulee, Montclair county, and who escaped from the Kenmare jail, is again in custody and today was taken to Stanley, where his hearing will be held. Kenmare officials, according to reports, admitted his guilt, evincing sorrow at his escape. He had been in the jail for several years and had fought over cards in a pool hall at Coulee. Landroy was shot through the abdomen. Both are transients.

CARLOAD OF FISH FOR BEMIDJI LAKES

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—A carload of crappies will be placed in Lake Bemidji and small lakes in the vicinity of Red Lake within the next ten days, according to Game Warden S. C. Bailey of this city, who received this information from Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, who is spending the week in this vicinity investigating the feasibility of opening Red Lake to commercial fisheries. The greater part of the carload will be placed in Lake Bemidji, but the remainder will be shipped up the Red Lake line for distribution in waters along that railroad but none will be placed in Red Lake.

MARSHALL MAY SEEK NORTH DAKOTA TOGA

Ellendale, N. D., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States senatorial contest among the Republicans of North Dakota may become a telly three-cornered affair instead of a two-cornered one. The county is likely to furnish the third candidate in ex-Governor T. F. Marshall of Oakes, now a national Republican committeeman. Mr. Marshall has frequently been a candidate for the senate and is still credited with ambitions along that line. He has recently completed a tour of the state in which he is said to have sounded out public sentiment.

BISMARCK WOMAN STATE CURATOR

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. M. H. Jewell of Bismarck, widow of the founder of the Bismarck Tribune, and one of the best known women in the state, is being considered for the position of curator of the North Dakota Historical so-

N. D. SOLDIER HONORED BY CONGRESS, IS DEAD

Thomas Stetteland, Who Made Record in Philippines, Accident Victim.

Grafton, N. D., Oct. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Stetteland, one of the twenty-four members of the North Dakota regiment in the Philippines awarded the medal of honor by congress, is dead, his body being found in the Snohomish river at Everett, Wash., according to word just received here.

Stetteland won the medal of honor for his bravery when he held off a band of Filipinos after his three companions, all Grafton men, had been shot down in an attack on a Filipino trench, and were surprised from ambush. Only Stetteland escaped the first volley, and he dropped behind a rock, from which point of vantage he successfully defended the dead bodies of his companions until help reached him. The Filipinos tried to gain possession of the bodies in order to obtain the rifles and ammunition.

For his bravery, Stetteland was awarded the medal of honor, but he refused to accept promotion to corporal, which was offered to him at the time.

The manner of his death is not stated, but it is believed to have been accidental.

GLENVILLE POSSE JAIL DESPERADOES

Men Who Held Up Train Captured After Gun Fight.

Glenville, Minn., Oct. 30.—Five men who held up a Rock Island freight train at Curtis Junction late Friday were surrounded by a posse of citizens when they reached this town shortly after dark, aboard a Minneapolis & St. Louis freight, and the train was stopped. One of the robbers was probably fatally wounded. His four companions were taken to the hospital.

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS IF KIDNEYS HURT

Says a Tablespoonful of Salts Flushes Kidneys, Stopping Backache.

Meat Forms Uric Acid, Which Excites Kidneys and Weakens Bladder.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The women, your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used by physicians to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

DRAMA VAUDEVILLE MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

DULUTH'S theatrical season to date has conclusively proven that the only way the so-called legitimate managers can combat the motion pictures, is not by cheapening their productions, but by offering high class plays by adequate companies.

Excellent patronage has been accorded the meritorious plays seen here this year. So good, in fact, has this patronage been that the word has spread around among the New York managers that Duluth has "come back." Managers no longer try to side-step Duluth or cut short their engagements here, but they are eager for a chance to play. There is no more talk of shortening the engagements, but efforts are made to lengthen them.

"On Trial" played to a tremendous business for an entire week. "Twin Beds" did good business, and "Daddy Long Legs" had excellent patronage. The attendance at "High Jinks" and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" was just what they deserved—small.

During the next two or three months, Duluth will see some of the most interesting men and women on the stage. Such actors as Cyril Maude, William H. Crane and Forbes Robertson will play in Duluth before the first of the year.

Duluth doesn't object to getting its plays a few months behind New York, but it will not accept second rate companies, and cheapened productions. Such actors as those mentioned would not permit themselves to be surrounded by inadequate support.

The solution of poor theatrical business seems to be in giving the public its money's worth, whether it is in 10-cent vaudeville or 10-cent photoplay, or $2 drama.

A Romaine Callender, who made many friends in Duluth through his work with the Baldwin Stock company, is apparently assured of a better engagement on Broadway. He is appearing with Ethel Barrymore in "Our Mrs. McChesney," and in writing to Duluth friends comments enthusiastically on the play and the work of the star.

The Duluth branch of the Drama League of America is completing its program of work for the season. The league will present several one-act plays, including the best of those offered in the contest for the $50 prize, and one long play late in the spring. The names of the one-act plays chosen have not yet been announced.

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER"
Favorite Comedy Will Return for Three Days' Engagement.

That rare combination of humor, pathos and characterization grouped under the name of "Potash & Perlmutter" will reach Duluth next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for a return engagement with matinee Wednesday. The story as recalled is not only full of delicious humor, but it has a charming love story running through it, and the side bits of characterization with which it is crowded make it a never-ending fund of delight.

Briefly the story of "Potash & Perlmutter" deals with the trial and tribulations of these two partners of the cloak and suit trade through their generous championship of Boris An-drieff, a young Russian, whom the representatives of the czar are trying to drag back to the country of his birth and to a lifetime in Siberia. They picket their all to go his bail and when, through their ignorance of the law, he starts for Canada to gain a respite from the trickery of the Russian representatives, and the partners are in danger of forfeiting their business and their homes, the story takes a serious turn indeed.

But Boris learns through the newspapers of the danger of his benefactors and returns in time to save them from ruin and to learn of his complete vindication. There is plenty of romance to add to the charm of the play, for Boris marries "Abba's" young daughter, while Perlmutter wins a "lady designer" with a "business head like Carnegie and a shape like Lillian Russell"—a young lady, by the way, who figures extensively in the good fortunes of the re-established firm.

BRIGHT FEATURES IN GRAND SHOW

Allen's Minstrels Head Attractive Bill for Week-End.

A more pleasing and entertaining program of vaudeville and photoplays than the present bill at the New Grand has not been seen there in some time. The entertainment is one of variety and variety.

Heading the bill are Allen's Cheyenne Minstrels, one of vaudeville's big-time novelties, formerly with Anna Held's all-star vaudeville company, presenting a musical comedy skit, "A Cowboy's Life at Twilight," which is a most pleasing combination of wit, jollity and melody enhanced by beautiful scenic and electrical effects. There is plenty of fun and a fine repertoire of songs.

The Misses Dale and Weber have a charming musical and singing offering. Both are plausibly pretty, endowed with excellent voices and play the violin with a feeling and skill that is remarkable. Attractive gowns add much to the offering.

Nadel and Rogers are singing and talking comedians with an offering full of jolly nonsense, interspersed with some clever stage business and a jolly lot of stories.

Pets, clever cat and dog aerialists, who perform many hazardous feats on the flying rings and trapeze besides going through a remarkable series of acrobatic and gymnastic stunts. A beautiful angora kitten, is a flying wonder and the feature of the aggregation.

Maurice Costello and Louis Baird head the cast in the photoplay feature, "The Animated Nooze Pictorial," a clever, cartoon burlesque. "The Child, the Dog and the Villain," a drama, and the Hearst-Selig News of events of interest from the world over make up the remainder of an exceptional entertainment.

On Monday the bill for the first half of the week will be headed by Howard Chase and his associate players in a comedy sketch, "When Ignorance is Bliss," "Five Polish Fellows," a comedy singing and talking diversion; Helen Primrose in songs and stories, and Willie Hale and brother in his vaudeville offerings. Henry B. Walthall, famous as the star in "The Birth of a Nation," and Warda Howard play the leads in "The Outer Edge," the photoplay feature in three reels. Two comedies complete the bill.

RUTH ST. DENIS WILL DANCE HERE

Will Present "The Garden of Kama" for Two Nights.

Not satisfied with the great success she has made with her original creations of Oriental dances, Ruth St. Denis, the famous dance artist who will appear with her company here at the Lyceum theater for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 8 and 9, spends her time between seasons studying out new dance plays for her already extensive repertoire.

She not only originates all her dances, but designs all the costumes, directs the staging of the production as well as the light effects, draws the designs of the scenery and selects the musical accompaniment for each new creation.

The latest of her dance plays which she will offer this season is "The Garden of Kama," a beautiful legendary pantomime from the Indian lyrics of Lawrence Hope's poems. "The Garden of Kama" is perhaps the most pretentious of all the dances Miss St. Denis has yet produced, as it not only calls for a very large cast of assisting dancers, but scenically it is of unusual proportions, requiring several complete sets, while the costumes carry out the true Oriental splendor and is lavish the Mona Diggings," will be seen at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday.

Within a short half block of the home office of the Universal in New York is the Forty-eighth Street theater, a high class legitimate house, the home of a long and successful run last winter of "The Law of the Land." Miss Julia Dean, the star of this great Broadway Universal feature, was also the star in the play mentioned. Shortly after her season closed she left for Universal City where under the direction of Robert Leonard, she made her first appearance as a screen star. As Molly Hanlon, a walk in a mining town, married, as she thinks, to a gambler, Miss Dean has many strong situations in which she shows herself a truly great artist. The settings are particularly fine in the Eastern scenes, and really strong in those of the Western mining town, Mona Diggings. During the action the entire town is burned to the ground and the scenes are remarkable. This play will appeal to every man and woman in your town.

FIVE STARS IN ONE COMPANY

"The New Henrietta" Is Revived With Notable Cast.

One of the bright and encouraging features of the current life of the theater is the revival of plays that have stood the test of time in character quality. Notably among these is "The New Henrietta," which will be the offering at the Lyceum theater on Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 12 and 13, with matinee on Saturday.

This play is credited with being the best comedy writing of Bronson Howard. The atmosphere of this story is distinctly American, the leading roles demand forceful and magnetic actors, and to make its dramatic and personal interest as keen today as in the time of its first production, Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes have keyed and toned the human story to blend perfectly with modern life, and Manager Brooks will present it with a cast of stars, each of whom is embodying a role for which he or she is as well suitable as if cut out and made for the purpose. William H. Crane, who originated the pivotal character of the moving plot, reappears as old Van Alstyne, a master portrayal of a familiar type of high finance. Thomas W. Ross is cast for Bertie the Lamb, the part Stuart Robson made famous in the earlier days of "The Henrietta." The frailties and virtues of this pampered son of a rich sire are to this subtle young actor like kindling to a fire, and a performance follows that ranks superior to anything seen in years. Maclyn Arbuckle, the third star in this happy conjunction of a great dramatist with unusual interpreters, gives flesh and blood distinction and humor to the aristocratic reverend of the hurrying story, and as may well be imagined by the world of those who know and enjoy his method, the result is delightful. The two other stars of this much-discussed revival quintette, are Amelia Bingham, in the congenial role of a sophisticated widow, and Mabel Taliaferro, as a glowing bloom of the springtime of life. The play is a masterpiece of comedy writing, and the several human roles that make it breathe and pulse with the spirit and change of interesting human nature are in the hands not only of great star actors, but of those who naturally fall into the individual requirements of the part.

DIGBY BELL COMING TO THE ZELDA SOON

DIGBY BELL Broadway Star Playing in Universal's "FATHER AND THE BOYS"

Digby Bell, singer and actor will play "Father," the William H. Crane role, in the Universal Film company's version of "Father and the Boys," at the Zelda theater soon.

Perhaps no other light opera singer has had greater success than Mr. Bell. He went from his home in Milwaukee to Italy in 1872 in order to study voice under foreign masters. He made his first public appearance in Malta as a concert singer, then returned to America to make his grand opera debut in Montreal some five years later.

Many singers with concert and grand opera aspirations are attracted to light opera. This happened in the course of Digby Bell's career and he made a remarkable success of the roles of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. He has since played with De Wolf Hopper, Lillian Russell and Arnold Daly. Some of his greatest musical parts were those in "The Tar and the Tartar," "The Black Hussar," "Neil Gwynne," and "Gloria Grotto."

"Birth of a Nation,"

D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," founded on "Thomas Dixon's" "The Clansman" and "The Leopard's Spots," is considered by such authorities as Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Dorothy Dix, Governor Johnson of California, Richard Harding Davis, and all the New York and Chicago dailies as "the greatest dramatic production of any kind ever engineered and perfected by man."

Burns Mantle of the New York Mail says of it: "It is worth $5 a seat to see 'The Birth of a Nation'—the mind falls and the typewriter balks before an attempt to either measure or describe Griffith's crowning achievement. 'The Birth of a Nation' is by all odds the greatest drama that has ever been seen in New York."

"Grumpy" Coming.

Dear old "Grumpy," the splendidly-drawn portrait of a retired British K. C. who is tender, irritable, explosive, considerate, decently profane, pathetic and crafty by turns, but always lovable, is the character that will introduce to Lyceum theatergoers the fine acting powers of Cyril Maude. Mr. Maude has made "Grumpy" an international success and local none of the playhouses are looking forward with delightful anticipation to the engagement of the distinguished actor and his company at the Lyceum theater in December.

Forbes-Robertson.

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and his English company, including Miss Laura Cowie, the young Scotch actress who scored such a decided success with Forbes-Robertson in the West last season, are on the final lap of Sir Johnston's far-flung American tour which opened at Richmond on Oct. 11 and includes only those cities he has not previously visited.

WILLIAM H. CRANE, MACLYN ARBUCKLE AND AMELIA BINGHAM. Three of the Five Stars in "The New Henrietta" at the Lyceum Nov. 12 and 13.

Scene from "The Soul of Broadway" at the Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Previously appeared in during his farewell tour. An interesting feature of Forbes-Robertson's tour is his new production of "Hamlet," which will be given with curtains instead of scenery as in the past. Special lighting effects have been arranged and his departure into this new field of staging promises to lend additional importance to his last American appearance.

At the Sunbeam.

The New Sunbeam theater for the coming week has a good line of feature photoplays. Many of the most popular stars will appear on the screen.

For Sunday, one day only, there will be several feature films. One of the most sensational of these is "The Battle of the Sexes." This is one of D. W. Griffith's best masterpieces, showing, in five reels, the great conflict of modern society. It is a war on the question of the single standard of morality. Another picture, altogether different, is "The Phantom Sweetheart," featuring Vitaphone's most popular stars, Anita Stewart and Earle Williams. The phantom sweetheart is said to be a vision of loveliness suddenly transformed into a demon of fury. Alice Joyce will also be seen in "A Business Buccaneer."

The second installment of "The Mysteries of the Grand Hotel," with an all-star cast, will be seen Monday and Tuesday. These plots of intrigue and thrilling adventure are immensely popular. Letters Entangled, a two-reel Seltie detective picture, is one of the most interesting of the week's offerings. Henry King and Earle Williams are featured. The Pathe News, featuring events of international importance, will be shown also.

One of the big attractions for Wednesday and Thursday will be the D. W.

Griffith Biograph Re-Issue, "Billy's Stratagem." Lionel Barrymore, Mae Marsh, Walter Miller and other leading players are in the cast. The Griffith name stamps this picture with its guarantee for excellence. John Bunny, who recently died, will be seen in one of his latest photoplays, taken just before his death.

For Friday and Saturday the eighth installment in the "Who Pays?" series will be shown. This number is called "Today and Tomorrow," and depicts a remarkable series of events in the life of a girl who flirted with time and was jilted and of a young man who gambled with fate and lost just before his death.

starred. Helme and Louie will furnish the laughs.

At Orpheum-Strand.

The Orpheum-Strand for Sunday, one day only, will offer the tense and interesting photoplay feature, "The Challenge of Courage." The picture will be played by a cast of high-class players, and the entire production will be along the same high-class lines that have characterized all the pictures managed by the Orpheum-Strand management. The large orchestra of twelve pieces will add greatly to the excellence of the entertainment.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

For news of Anna Held's plans for this season you will have to turn to the moving picture column. That enterprise has succeeded in luring the gay Parisienne from the legitimate stage and vaudeville as well.

"The House of Glass," the Max Marcin drama at the Candler theater, is said to be one of the big plays of the season in New York. This play is regaling a hit as great as its predecessor at this house, "On Trial," which started a record-breaking career there last season.

William Gillette is giving what he pleases to term "final performances," a new name for "farewell tour" of his former success, "Sherlock Holmes." The play is produced on a very elaborate scale with one of the best supporting companies. Gillette has ever had "Secret Service" will also be given a brief season after "Sherlock Holmes," so that in reality this famous sleuth is solving his last mystery at the Empire theater at present.

"Chin Chin," with Montgomery and Stone, has the record of all musical comedies beaten by quite a margin. This piece has played the sixtieth week of its run at the Globe theater and the advance sale of seats indicates that it will remain for a long time to come.

"Hip, Hip, Hooryay," the mammoth production now holding forth at the New York Hippodrome, is said to be the largest single attraction since the first days of "Ben Hur." Over 150,000 people have seen this production since its opening performance.

Betty Cahill, an English stage beauty, has been engaged for Morosco's production of "Saddle Love."

It is reported that another company of "The Girl Who Smiles" will be put on the road shortly. The New York company playing the Longacre theater justifies the launching of a road company.

At the suggestion of Frances Desmond, prima donna of "The Blue Paradise," many former women stars who have trod the boards of the Casino theater, including such notables as Marie Tempest, Lillian Russell, Florence Findley and others, are to have a prima donna night at the Casino soon.

Fanny Brice is filling the part in "Hands Up," made vacant by the withdrawal from that production of Irene Franklin.

"The Bargain," "What Money Can't Buy" are two of the season's productions that have already failed by the wayside. The first mentioned had two trials, the first failing under the name of "A Modern Love," which only lasted a couple of weeks.

A. H. Woods had the first try at it, and he sold it to the Shuberts, who tried to prove better producers, changing the name of it and putting it on for another hearing. The quieting audience was put on the place, however, shortly after its presentation by the Shuberts.

Julie Opp, who in private life is Mrs. William Faversham, has been ordered by her physicians to retire from the stage for an indefinite period. Miss Opp has been ill for some time, but played the part of Countess de Dasset in "The Hawk" throughout the New York run. Her place was filled by her understudy, Arlene Hackett.

Miss Madeline Madden, who is playing with Rita Jolivet in "Mrs. Boffin's Daughters," which opened at the Comedy theater last night, is a cousin of Minnie Madden Pink. By an odd coincidence, several years ago, she succeeded Rita Jolivet in the leading feminine role of "Kismet."

Kosloff, dancing "A World of Pleasure" at the Winter Garden, is staging a ballet in which Sahary-Djell will be the central figure.

There will be a temporary halt in the musical bookings of the Lyric theater after this week. Such dramatic offerings as "Peg o' My Heart," the London melodrama, "Life," and George V. Hobart's allegorical play, "Exposition," taking possession of the theater for the time being.

how he discovered that the much-discussed Crocker land was only a mirage. A very interesting article, with illustrations in tint, is "The Ways of the Woodchuck," by Walter Pritchard Eaton. The action in this number is contributed by Alice Brown, V. H. Cornell, Marie Manning, Basil King, Madge Jensen, Norman Duncan, Olive Howard Dunbar, W. D. Howells and Mary Esther Mitchell.

In Outing for November "The Trail of the Voyageurs" describes how four moderns hit the trail of the old French explorers up the Bois Brule from Lake Superior. "Two Deer at One Shot" is a daylight picture taken at a distance of twenty-five feet with a pocket camera. "The Hunters' Court of Pownatan" relates a case of buck and what happened to the men who were guilty of it. "Dimock, Dean of Outdoor Writers," describes the man who has introduced thousands of the charm and healthfulness of outdoor living. "The Trail of the Painted Post" shows what the Middle West is doing to show the way to those who follow the roads.

Don't take chances in the matter of Christmas presents. You don't want yours, like so many others, to be received with indifference or worse, and ten days after Christmas to be cast aside and forgotten. You take no such chance in giving The Youth's Companion for a year. Did you ever know of a home in which it came amiss, or of one in which it was not conspicuous on the library table or in some one's hands all through the year? It is worth while to take a gift of that sort.

It tells the American life in its stories and sketches, upholds the best contributions, and combines the practical and informing with the entertaining. It is a magazine that every subscriber who sends $2 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1916 will receive free all the issues for the rest of 1915.

and The Companion Home Calendar for 1916.

The November American Boy presents a new serial by Gardner Huntington which will appeal to the five boy who does not allow obstacles to interfere with his ambitions. "The Fighter" tells of the struggles of a boy in business in great city. The issue of the leading juvenile is truly a Thanksgiving number, with a boy cover reflecting the genuinely sincere spirit of the day. Two Thanksgiving stories of unusual interest are "Odd Stories of unusual interest," by Harold de Polo. An inspiring interview with Cardinal Gibbons is entitled, "What Is Success and How to Get It." A timely football article by V. E. Pritchard, Army star and All-American quarterback, explains with diagrams the inside of the new forward passing game in a way to make it clear to the average spectator. "Burned Away," a football narrative by C. H. Claudy, emphasizes in a gripping story the necessity of team work in the gridiron sport.

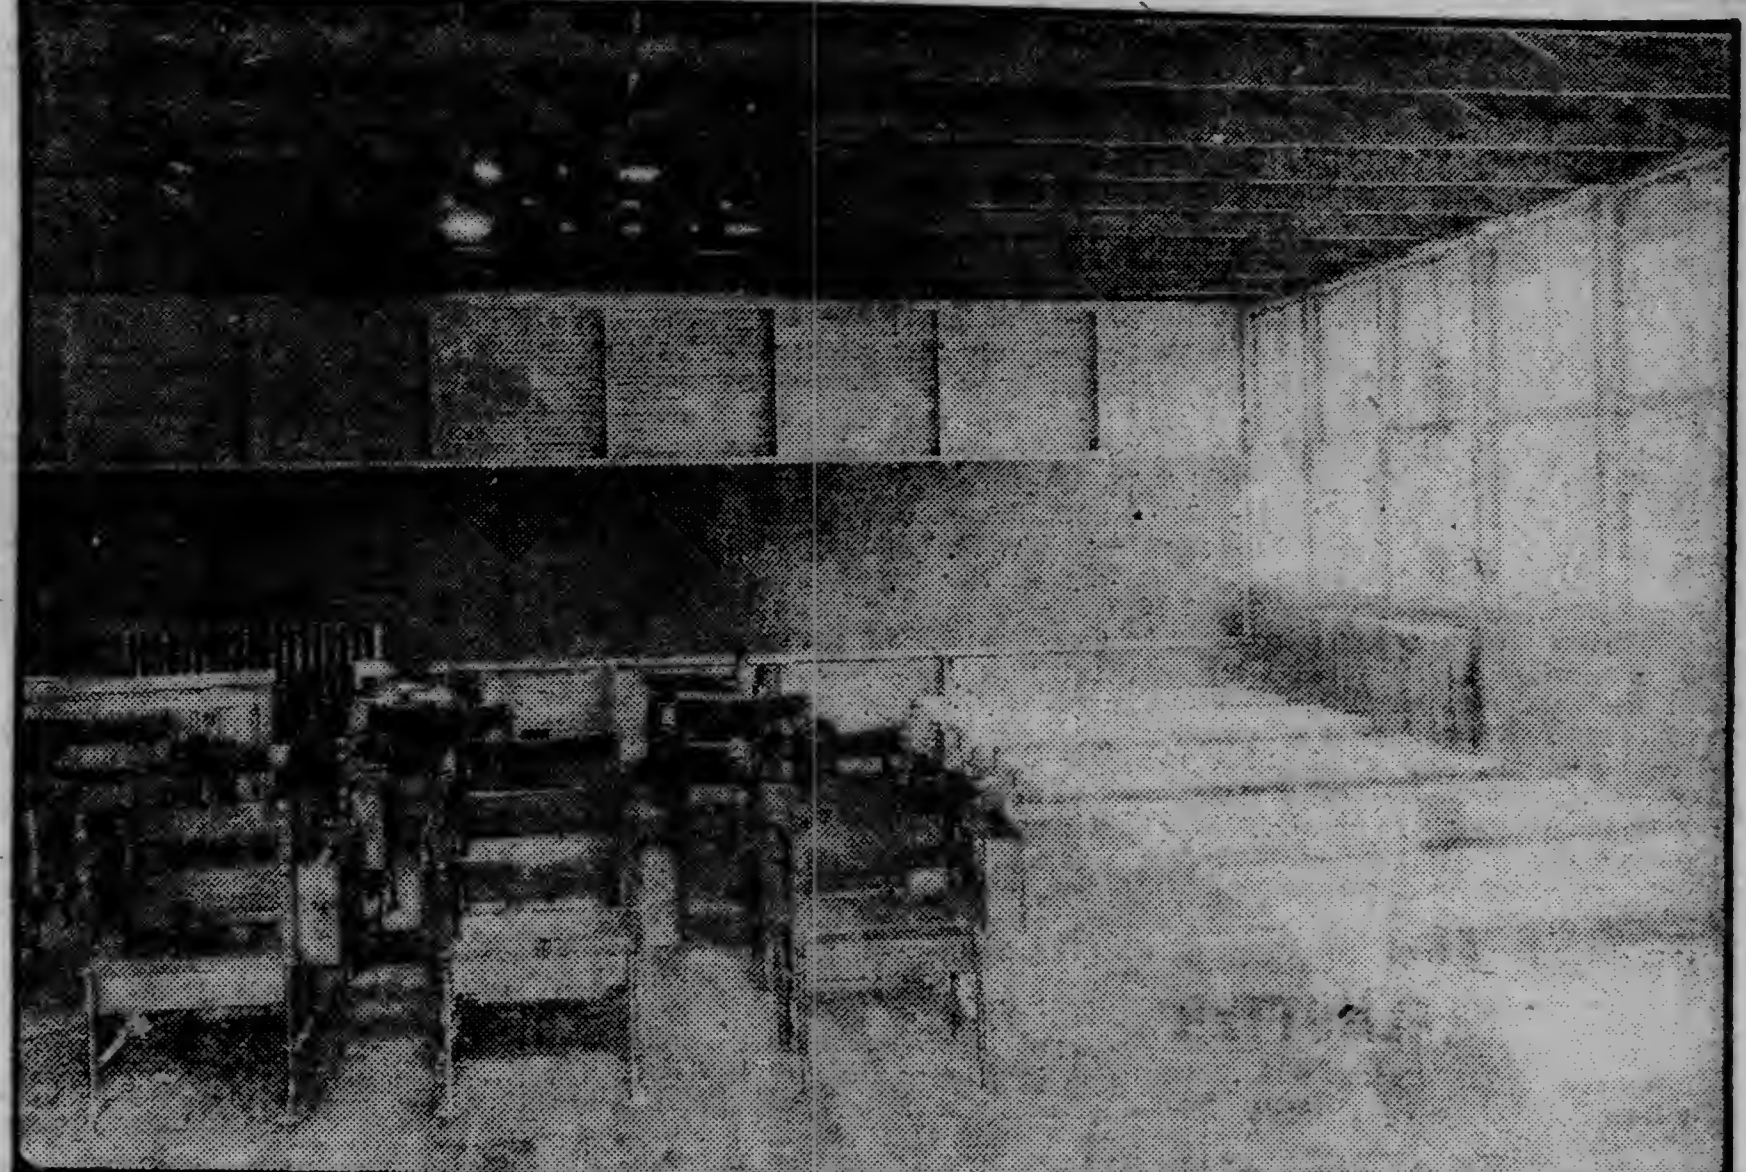

The Metropolitan for November has some vivid articles on the issues of the day by the best known author. Richard Harding Davis tells how the United States has been in providing aeroplanes for the army and navy. John Reed, in "Breaking Into Lukowina," gives a graphic account of this devastated land and its people over which two armies have marched. In "The Duty of the United States to Its Own People," Theodore Roosevelt says with much emphasis that our country has failed in its duty to its citizens. Well as in its duty to others, "The Big Fat Lummox," by Booth Tarkenton, is one of this author's inimitable two serials. "The Lion's Share" by Arnold Bennett and "Then I'll Come Back to You" by Arthur Johnson and Leroy Scott. There are the usual departments and an art supplement in rotogravure.

The October issue of the National Magazine will be found to be the most artistic and finely illustrated of all the many original and generously illustrated numbers sent out into the world during the last eighteen years. Especially beautiful are the sixteen full-color photo prints showing the Panama-Pacific exposition, as seen by the magical radiance of the nightly illuminations, whose completeness, vividness and richness and variety of coloring have never been attained before since the creation of the world. A large number of photo pictures illustrate most of the national and special buildings, and show devices of the great World's fair, as well as the portraits of many gentlemen and ladies, whose interest and efficiency have made—as Ortheris said—"the 'ole show pay." Bennett's illustrated poem, "October," fitly introduces Joseph Mitchell's monthly resume of "Affairs at Washington," which will recall to all readers diplomatic and financial crises which were fraught with very important possibilities of peace and war, profit and loss, political success or isolation; the president's record; the development of American financial strength and influence; the all-absorbing questions of national self-defense, and Mexican policies. The splendid and epochal G. A. R. convention and parade at the national capital, the coming campaign of 1916, and its leaders, are but a few of the many features of this monthly symposium.

EAT, SLEEP AND STUDY IS PROGRAM AT DULUTH'S FIRST OPEN-AIR SCHOOL

THE OPEN-AIR SCHOOL CLASSROOM, SHOWING SPECIAL CHAIRS WHICH ARE MOVED AT WILL, AND A ROW OF COATS.

THE LUNCHROOM, ADJOINING THE CLASSROOM, WHERE PUPILS WILL EAT THREE MEALS DAILY.

Eat, sleep, study and be merry, instead of eat, drink and be merry, might be the revised motto of children in Duluth's first open-air school, which opened this week with fifteen pupils enrolled.

For that's what they do every day—they eat and sleep principally, and study between times. At least that's what they will do starting Wednesday, when girls of the domestic science classes in the Irving Junior high school, nearly begin serving specially prepared lunches.

"School never was so much fun before," said Miss Norma George, formerly a teacher at the Jackson school, selected to have charge of the class.

"I'm sure they are going to learn a lot, and do better than they would otherwise, as soon as they get used to all the new features."

This school, a radical departure from anything hitherto attempted in Duluth, is patterned after special classes in large cities which are placed on roofs of high buildings or in the suburbs.

"We can give a child more fresh air in a school like this than in any regulation building, no matter how well it is constructed," says Supt. R. B. Denfeld, "and lots of fresh air makes a child healthy. That is what we want."

Visiting nurses on the staff of the city health department examined the pupils in West Duluth grade schools last week and picked out the boys and girls with pale cheeks.

From these fifteen were selected to form the first open-air class. They are not children who are tubercular, as is sometimes imagined, but merely ones who are not strong and who are, therefore, more susceptible to disease.

More May Follow. Supt. Denfeld, after conferences with Dr. J. H. Andrea, school physician, has become very enthusiastic over the possibilities of the open-air schools, he says, and more will be established if this one at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Nicollet street is a success.

On Monday the children are going to have their pictures taken, and next spring, when the term ends, the photographer will pay them another visit.

"You'll see the difference," said Dr. Andrea today.

At 9 o'clock each morning the children will assemble in the lunch room, shown above, which will be kept as warm as any school room, and dress for class.

They will don their macintosh combination suits, mackinaw coats for the boys and gray ones for the girls, and put on their heavy woolen mitts before going next door to the class room.

When they take their seats it will be in adjustable desks, specially selected for a class of this kind. At each desk there is a sleeping bag, which reaches to the child's waist and keeps him warm.

The lunch room feature of the school is one of its most important advantages, according to those in charge of the work, because children are bound to improve physically with proper food and regular meal hours.

In the middle of the morning, and also in the middle of the afternoon, the class will turn from books and pencils to the lunch room, eat a light lunch, and then return to the class room for a nap. The woman's council will supervise the lunches, which will be run on a plan similar to the "penny-lunch" system used in regular schools.

With its wide open windows and zero temperatures, the class room will be a sanatorium for children who are not ill, but merely liable to illness more than the average child.

ARCHIE REPLIES TO HIS LOVING FRIEND BILL'S LETTER--HE'S SINGLE

They Don't Punt in These Days Like Pat O'Dea Used to Drive the Ball—Wonder What's Become of That Red Headed Girl That Was So Absent Minded?—Arch and Bill May Meet in Madison.

BY BRUCE.

EAN CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 20.—Dear Bill: Your letter received and the contents noted, as the absolutely blonde lady who worked for dad, used to say. Sure I'm working in a sawmill—me with a Ph.D. I'd sooner have a cold. The only advantage that I have been able to ascertain in connection with working in a sawmill, Bill, is that board is cheap. Please don't strike.

What you said in your North Dakota epistolary effort concerning football takes me back into the glorious days and nights that have passed. Back in those days I was a hero—some nights I was arrested. Now I'm working in a lumber mill and only a plane young man. Spare me, 'tis my last offense.

So Minnesota plays Illinois today, eh Bill? I had a new pair of long pants and a bad headache the first time we met the Illini. Let me explain the headache, Bill, by stating that the game was played in the morning; yep, in the morning, back of the West hotel. I guess I started young. I snowed something awful the night before the game. They had scrapers and horses and men hauling the snow off the field so that they could play. They made a big pile of snow at each end of the field, right behind the goal posts. When Minnesota scored her first touchdown one of the backs plunged through the line and out of sight into the snow bank. They found the player after awhile and returned the game. We were beaten, Bill.

Say, Bill, remember the time you and me stole that red lantern off a fenced-off place and went and put it on the front of a street car. Don't you remember, it was about 1 o'clock and the last car for the university was due. A lot of sleepy and well-slept students was waiting for the car, which was supposed to have a red light in front. They all piled on that car which, I remember, didn't go anywhere near the darned old U.

So Minnesota plays at Madison this year, eh Bill? I think I'll take a day off from the sawmill and like down to old Madison. There is no place in the world quite like Madison after a football game. The Ann Arbor students all say that Ypsilanti, Mich., is the greatest place in the world after a football hero after a game, but little old Madison always did make a hit with me, Bill.

I guess it was before your time at Minnesota. Doc Williams had his squad out at Sun Prairie, Wis., some jerkwater place. Quiet and all that sort of stuff. Well, the second team is sent on to Madison ahead of the first team. The citizens of Madison came lined up around the lobby of the Park hotel to get a line on the team. "What a great bunch of fine-looking Wisconsin men," said an admiring Wisconsin man.

"This is only the second team," said a Minnesota man. "My God, man!" said the Wisconsinite, "break the news more gently," and he headed for the bar. But the worst part of it was, Bill, that Wisconsin crimson, lambswool and otherwise manhandled us that time 18 to 0.

I read where you said you'd seen Chassey Bolton and had fanned long after curfew rang. There's nothing like the past, Bill. Maybe I'm getting old and wise, as the sorority girls used to say in their sophomore year, but football don't seem like it used to be. Hang it, Bill, every time I go to see a game now memories of some of those old games come floating back to me.

Now, Bill, they don't punt like they used to, and somehow things are different. I remember when Pat O'Dea first came down to Minneapolis. The game with Wisconsin that year was played in the little bandbox back of the West hotel. We'd all heard about the great Australian punter. Well, all of them Wisconsin fellows, we blankets around them like a band of Indians, ran out on the field and a tall, slender chap threw off his blanket. Some one passed him the ball and then he did a funny little hitch kick some way and let go at the ball.

I was reading the other day about the world's record for holding the breath. I just forgot how many seconds some physical culture freak held his breath, but you never can convince me that he holds the record. I think about ten thousand people that was looking at O'Dea make that kick is joint record-holders of the long breath record.

There was a crack like an experienced and hardened sophomore smacking a fresbie during the exciting period of a cane rush. Up went the ball, kind of turning over and over in the air. When you was a kid, Bill, maybe you have had someone buy you a nice red balloon and then it slipped out of your hand. Remember how you stood and looked at that balloon mounting higher and higher and getting smaller and smaller, with the tears just starting in your eyes. Well, that's the way that ball looked.

When Pat hit that football with that funny, hitch kick of his, there was a big "ooh!" went up. Then there was silence. When that ball got so high it looked like a pea it started to come down. When it finally hit the ground, we all suddenly caught our breaths and vowed that there were eight wonders instead of only seven in the world.

Your letter, Bill, stirred up a lot of old football memories. Isn't it Kipling who says something about Ean Claire, but I can still look at a flatiron or a broom handle without cringing. Bill, I'm not a pessimist or a woman hater—I love them all, God bless em, especially the blondes; but do you know that that red head I met in my junior year put me back about ten years. I've never had the nerve to try again.

I sure did like that girl. Small, red hair, blue eyes, long lashes and a nose that turned up slightly. The junior prom and a lot of lights and some soft music with a couple of dreamy halts near the middle, started me.

We were sitting out a dance when I grabbed her hand, or both, maybe, and started to tell her my love. I was right in the middle and pleading for the little love in a cottage idea, when she looked up at me out of a sort of daze and says, "Archie, they say Maria Sanford claims Venus had a perfectly foolish face." The shock was a hard one, Bill. Don't chide me.

Plan to meet me at Madison. We'll go into that place and the cadents carve their names on the tables and lift a couple. Regards to Chassey Bolton. Tell him the waiter he used to recite poetry to in Shiek's late Saturday nights is dead. I think he's pretty responsible.

Sincerely your old pal,
ARCHIE.

POE, FAMOUS ON GRIDIRON, KILLED

Former Princeton Star Meets Death as Private in British Army.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—J. P. Poe, Jr., a famous Princeton football player in the early '90s, was killed Sept. 22, while fighting as a private in the British army along the northern boundary of France. Word to that effect was received yesterday from the London war bureau by relatives in this city.

Poe was born in Baltimore forty years ago. He won international fame as a captain in the Honduran army when, with a handful of men in a fort at Amalpa harbor, he opened fire on a Nicaraguan gunboat, sending it scurrying away under the impression that the Hondurans had a big force at the fort.

When last heard from, Poe was a member of the "Black Watch" regiment. Shortly after the start of the second half this play of O'Dea's was pulled. I claim that it was the greatest kick ever made on any field any time—get me—the greatest of all time, Bill.

Wisconsin had the ball somewhere around Minnesota's 45 or 50-yard line. We piled in and held Wisconsin for two downs and then O'Dea dropped back for a kick. Gilmore Dobie was playing left end and the second the ball was passed he charged through and dodged the defense halfback and tore at O'Dea.

Dobie was on Pat before the lanky kangaroo had a chance to move. Well, Bill, since you wasn't here, I'll tell you what O'Dea did. He tore out toward the side line with Dobie chasing him, ready to make a tackle. While on the dead run this O'Dea was facing the goal posts, clear off in the distance and at an angle, and kicks. True as a die the ball sails between the posts.

That took the spirit out of our team. It would have taken the spirit out of a naturally fresh book agent that had met with slight encouragement. They can all talk about their Charley Brickleys and the others, but, Bill, Pat O'Dea for mine.

Well, I guess I'll close. Did you say you were buying or selling hogs? I almost forgot—no, I'm not married. Yes, there are lots of pretty girls in English Boy Too Clever for Chicagoan, Especially at Long Range.

CHARLEY WHITE LOSES TO WELLS

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 30.—Matt Wells, English lightweight, was accorded the newspaper decision by a shade over Charley White, Chicago, in a sensational ten-round bout here last night. Popular opinion conceded Wells the win.

White started terrific right and left drives but the shifty Briton picked them off his gloves and retaliated with overhand swings that connected with the Chicagoan's face.

Persistent holding on the part of Wells when his opponent tried to fight him out, counted against Wells for a clean-cut decision.

White landed about ten solid blows during the contest but was unable to follow up. Wells either holding or out-boxing him, and never allowing White to get set. Both boys drew blood.

Wells clearly won in the third, sixth, eighth and ninth rounds, while White took the fourth, seventh and tenth. The others were even.

The Badger had been molded into a team from what a former Maroon wrote recently is the best material he ever saw.

Their full strength will be in the contest with Bow River, Everett, Mass., announced that they had signed up Johnnie Dundee, New York lightweight, and Joe Rivers, California, to box ten rounds at 134 pounds at 8 o'clock, Nov. 8.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS WITH GREAT RECORDS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—Tentative plans for a post season football game between the teams of Everett, Mass., high school and Central high school of Detroit are under consideration. Judging from the records of these two schoolboy eleven last season such a contest should produce play of a most interesting character.

Both teams had played remarkable football in 1914 and had work to date has been on a par with that of last year. Everett won all thirteen games during the 1914 season, running up a total of 600 points to opponents' zero. The defeat of the Oak Park (Ill.) high school team by a score of 80-0 was the feature of Everett's schedule.

WESTERN CONFERENCE AT SEASON'S SEMI-FINALS

Minnesota-Illinois Game Is Looked on as Toss-Up.

Wisconsin Is Picked to Win From Staggs' Maroons.

Day's Result Will Settle Contenders for Big Nine Title.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Four undefeated eleven of the "Big Nine" will fight it out today to decide which pair of teams shall clash for championship honors. The games bring together the Universities of Wisconsin and Chicago at Chicago, and Minnesota and Illinois at Champaign. The losers will be eliminated from the "Big Nine" championship race. The games attracted intense interest throughout the West, as it has been years since two such important contests have been played in mid-season.

Shrewd followers of the gridiron picked Wisconsin to triumph over Chicago, but were reluctant to select the probable winner of the Minnesota-Illinois scramble. Earlier in the season, despite reports of a bright outlook at Minnesota, the champions, to most followers of the game, looked able to repeat this season the triumph of last year. With Pogue, Clark and Macomber holding over, the backfield strength of the Illini was assured, providing they kept in shape, and though Solon was among the certain at that time among the Minnesotans, the better balanced team at Champaign was given the preference.

Confidence Weakens. But the unexpectedly good showing the Gophers made against Iowa, despite the loss of Solon, and the failure of Illinois to do better than tie with Ohio, made some of the prophets waver. The importance to Zuppke of Clark and Pogue was manifest in experts' opinion, and it was pointed out that with Solon absent the speed of his attack was greatly diminished. On the other hand, Solon's disqualification failed to wreck the Gophers. With Wyman, Bierman and Ballerlyne, besides Long, considered one of the best quarterbacks in the section, Minnesota developed a surprisingly weight enough to cause trouble.

The result, with no comparative scores on which to base predictions, that critics generally are disposed to expect a hard fought, close battle. That Clark and Pogue will take part in Illinois is doubted and stories that Bierman may leave for Minnesota are hardly credited. The game, to a great extent, should show more open football than either of the teams have exhibited so far this season and both are forced to desperate measures, are likely to cut loose trick plays.

Chicagoan's Favorite. In the role of dark horse, Chicago concedes weight and speed to Wisconsin. The Badgers have been molded into a team from what a former Maroon wrote recently is the best material he ever saw.

Their full strength will be in the contest with Bow River, Everett, Mass., announced that they had signed up Johnnie Dundee, New York lightweight, and Joe Rivers, California, to box ten rounds at 134 pounds at 8 o'clock, Nov. 8.

defense is far from dependable, judging from Ann Arbor reports, and Syracuse comes with a victory over Iowa to its credit and a runaway game against Rochester among its achievements of the season.

Meetings between eleven of the East and the Pacific coast have been so rare of recent years that much interest attaches to the contest at Lansing. There is little question as to the class of the Michigan Aggies and their friends expect their fast backfield to assure their winning.

Notre Dame takes on a fighting opponent in South Dakota, but it is not believed the latter eleven can show strength which previous teams it has not against teams in this immediate neighborhood have shown.

Indiana entertains a team which is a stranger to this section in the person of Lee. The Hoosiers expect to win.

Illini Are Confident. Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30.—Confident of its ability to defeat Minnesota, even with Harold Pogue, the star halfback, in no condition for a grueling game, the University of Illinois eleven expects to win its championship football honors.

Each Zuppke planned to start Klein at left half and if Pogue's condition warrants to send him into the game when Illinois is within striking distance.

Pottery Clark, At Western quarterback, has fully recovered from his injuries and was expected to be a big ground game for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin's Favorite. Chicago, Oct. 30.—Holding a slight advantage in weight, the University of Wisconsin eleven was made the favorite to triumph over Chicago in their annual football game here today.

Preparations had been made to handle a crowd of 25,000 persons, as unusual interest has been taken in the "Big Nine" championship race. Four special trains brought close to 4,000 supporters of the Wisconsin eleven to the game.

Syracuse Picked to Win. Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30.—The first important intercollegiate football game of the year was that between Michigan and Michigan here this afternoon. Michigan's poor showing against the Michigan Aggies last week determined the ground for hope of victory over the power of the Wolverines, anticipating a reversal of form, looked for at least a hard battle and a low score.

Michigan was able to present a somewhat strong team, but the game, then because of injuries, being in the lineup today. All the Syracuse players were in prime condition and appeared confident of winning.

Notre Dame Expects Victory. South Bend, Ind., Oct. 30.—Notre Dame followers are expecting a victory this afternoon when the South Bend plays the South Dakota eleven. Coach Cortwright of the visitors says that only three of his regular forwards will be in condition to start the game. Notre Dame is reported as being in excellent condition for the fray.

HARD FIGHT FOR CENTRAL

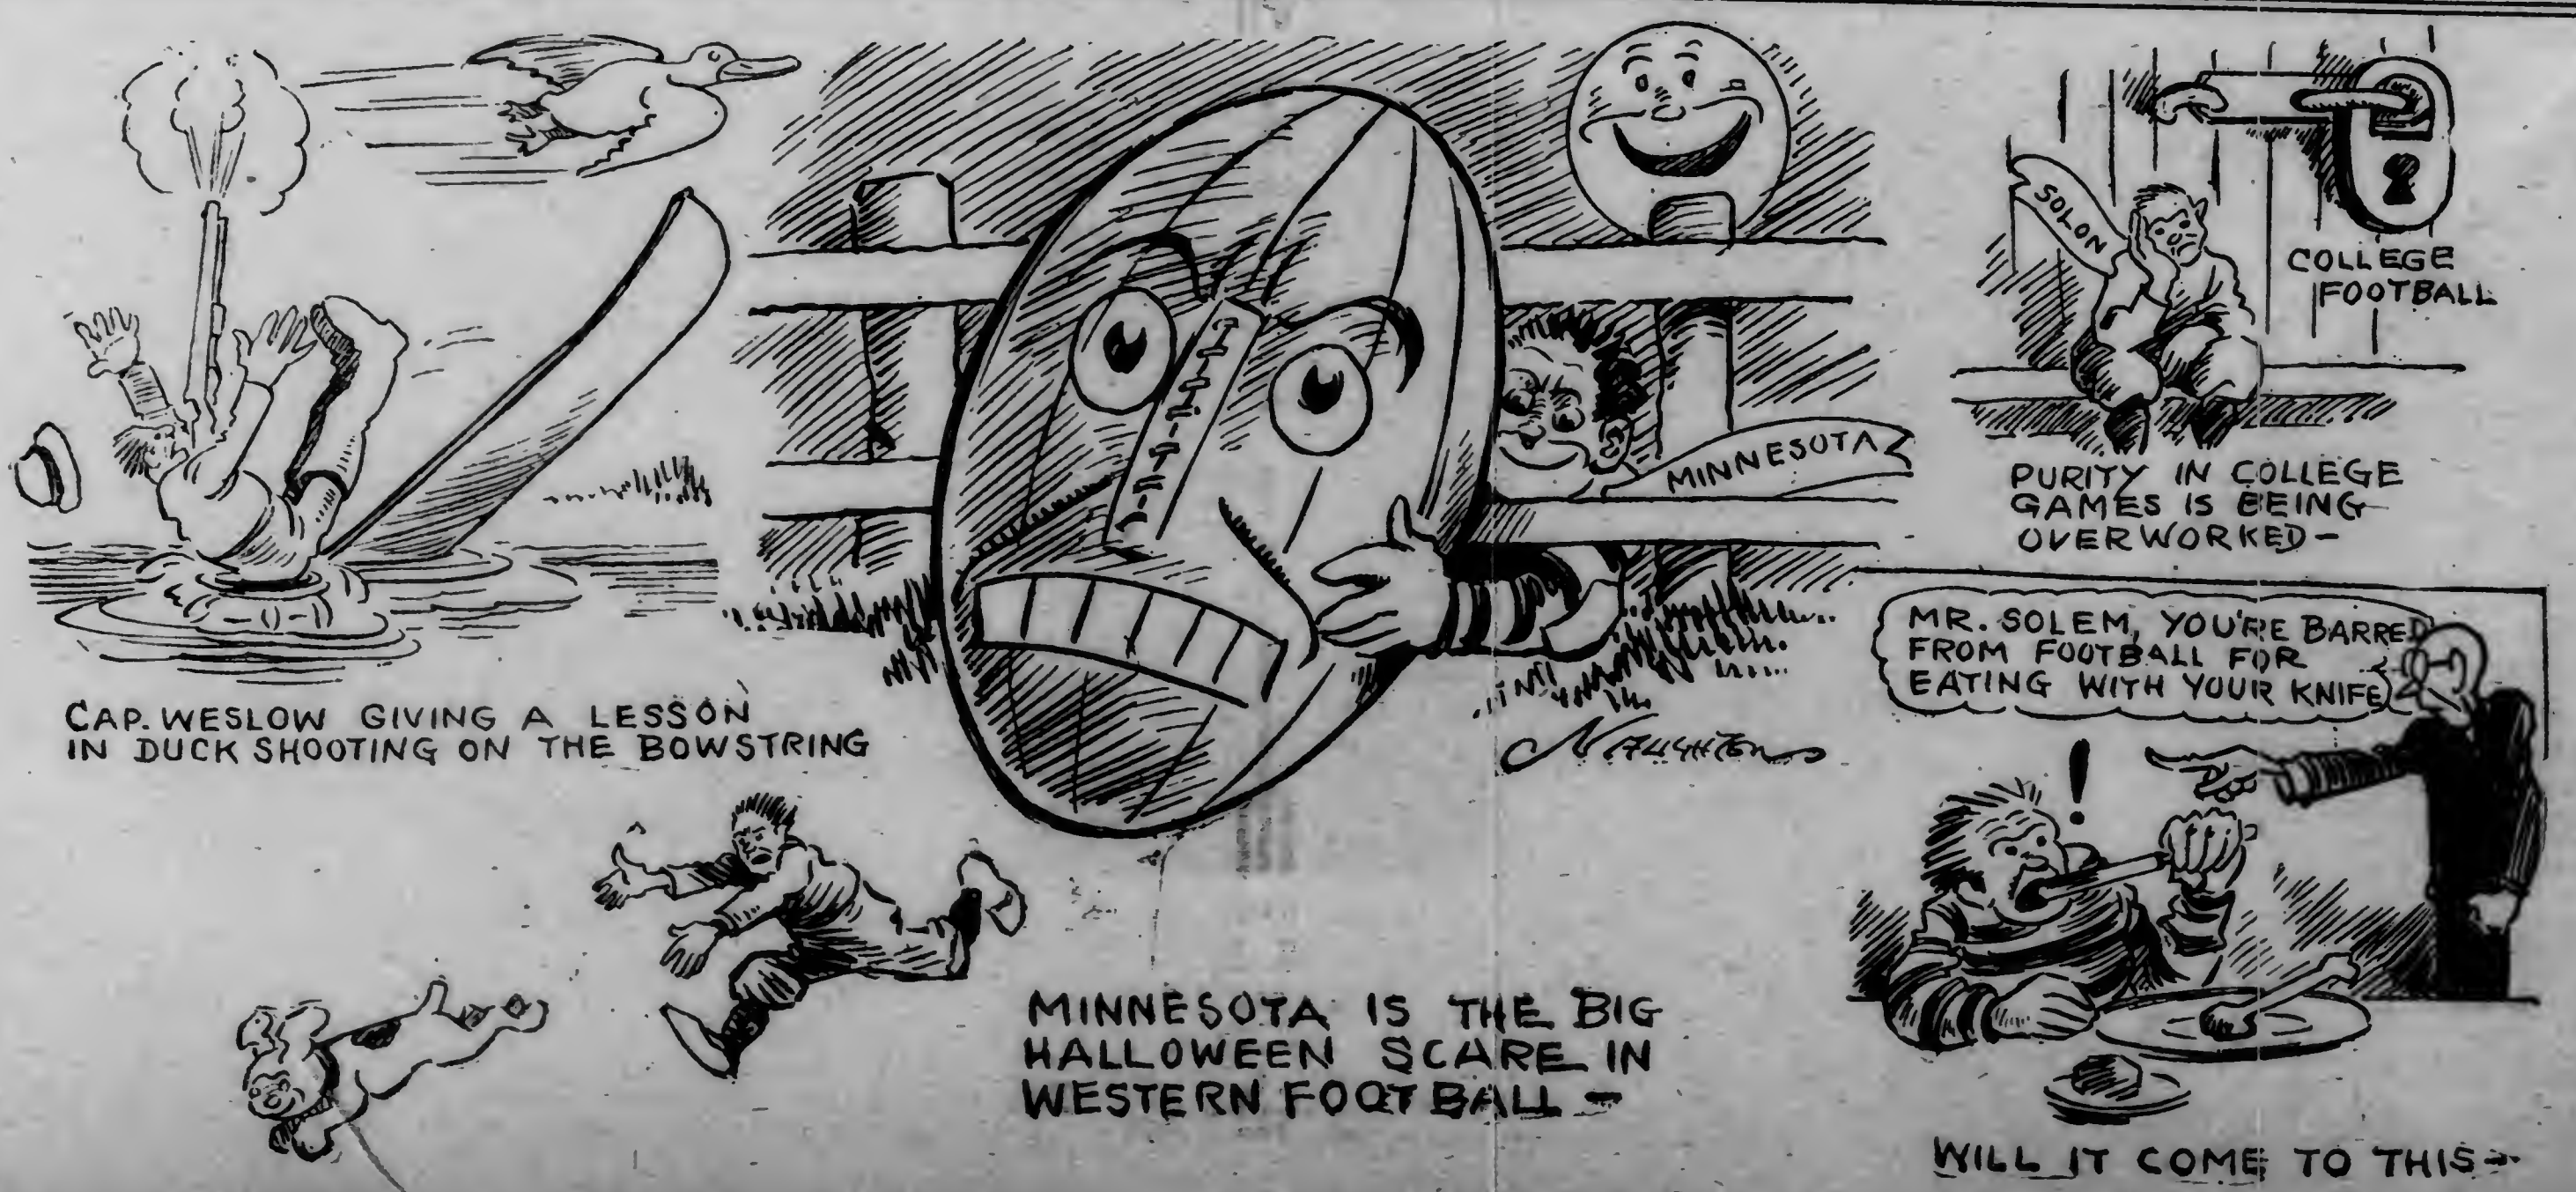

Crippled Duluth Eleven Faces Heavy Virginia Team.

Rangers Claim Championship; Hrutford Takes Place of Warner.

Central high school's football team, together with a good crowd of rooters, left this morning for Virginia, where they will oppose the crack Virginia high school eleven this afternoon. The team has been without the services of Coach Blake for about two weeks and "Shorty" Calkins, head of the Duluth football team, has been acting in that capacity for the last few days. The eleven will be badly crippled to face the husky range champions, but they will certainly put up a great fight.

Last year they defeated the locals by the score of 3 to 0. This year they have practiced the same aggregation back in the fold that represented them last fall, and they are out to give the Duluthians their worst "kick" of the season. Hitting high defeated Superior Central by the score of 14 to 0, and yet Virginia had no trouble in defeating the Hibbing eleven by the score of 54 to 0. Virginia overpowered Gilbert by the unbelievable score of 115 to 0 and has routed several other range teams by high scores. As a result the Virginians are not only claiming the championship of the range but of the state as well. They are especially desirous of getting a game with the St. Paul Centrals, champions of the Twin Cities, but they must first defeat the Duluthians. This they are certainly intending to do. The Virginians have one of the most powerful backfields in the state and have never failed to present a stonewall defense this fall against all opponents. Capt. Byrne, Joe and Bill Rooney, Carson and Spain, all well known in Virginia athletics, are expected to cause no small amount of worry for the Duluthians.

The locals have been working hard all week for the contest, although Capt. Warner has not been able to get back in the game, due to his injuries received in the St. Paul game. Walsh may be played, although he will not be in at the start. Skull, Hrudford, Central's star dash man, who came out for practice last Monday when he learned of the despondent state of affairs in the football camp due to the innumerable injuries, will be started at right tackle, in the position formerly held down by Capt. Warner. He has never played football before but has a lot of pep and is, of course, very speedy. He is full of fight and will never give up. Sullivan was finally passed by the eligibility board when he braced in his studies, and he will be started at his old position of guard. Jenoff and Rosenberg will be started at ends. Hrudford and Richards at tackles, Orlanstrom and Sullivan at guards, Denfeld at center, McIntyre at quarter, O'Brien at fullback, and Lawton and Lewis as halfbacks. This lineup is expected to put up a good showing against the rangers, although they will be greatly outweighed.

SOLON EXPECTED TO RIP
ST. PAUL LINE TO SHREDS

Minnesota Football Star Will Be Eagerly Watched in Duluth-Banholtzer Contest—Steve Hopkins, Colored Star, Is Highly Touted By St. Paul Followers.

With the great Lorin Solon to rip and tear at the St. Paul forwards, hating, at critical stages of the game, 180 pounds of college-trained sinew and muscle, Duluth expects to defeat the crack Banholtzer football team tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park.

Against the demon line-breaking ability of the former Minnesota university football captain will be opposed the best colored football player ever turned out in St. Paul. Steve Hopkins will be at full back and fast dasher, and on a dry and fast day is expected to work havoc in line flurries and off tackle plays.

Solon is expected to prove a revelation. It is not believed that the St. Paul line men will be able to check the rushes of a player that the forwards of the big Western college teams failed to stop. With a line breaker of the great class of the Minnesota star to fall back on, Duluth should defeat the visitors in a hard fought game.

entrance of Duluth into big league independent football. The most talked of player west of the Alleghenies will make his first local appearance—one of the greatest gridiron stars that has ever played on any college team in America will appear as a member of a Duluth football eleven.

It is quite safe to say that scores of spectators will be vastly disappointed if Solon doesn't fight his way over the white chalk line in progress in tomorrow's game. As in three of his sensational football careers at Minnesota, Chicago, Illinois and Iowa, so, too, the sandy-haired hero of many a college gridiron battle is expected to tear asunder the line of the husky St. Paul team.

McKenna, fullback on the Michigan Aggie when that team was sweeping the West, will be one of the officials in tomorrow's game.

Apparently the Pacific coast is developing another cinder path flyer in Frank Sloman, the youth who recently broke the American intercollegiate record for the quarter mile by running that distance in 48.15 seconds. An idea of this schoolboy's speed can be gathered from the fact that he has gathered thousands of 440-yard dashes have been broken in the past few years. Sloman's record has been broken but three times.

In 1901 C. Long set the time at 50.15 seconds when it remained until Ted Meredith cut it down to 48.45

Aggies of Oregon and Michigan Meet Without Mutual Knowledge.

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 30.—The football game here this afternoon between the Aggies of Oregon and Michigan furnished the unique spectacle of two teams representing colleges 2,000 miles apart, going into contest with no definite knowledge of each other's strength and ability.

No scouts from the opposing camps had watched previous games. Newspaper stories telling of style of play and results of earlier clashes with other opponents furnished about the only foundation the contending teams had upon which to build a defense.

The Michigan farmers, however, head attack and had been drilled especially to break up that sort of play.

FULTON IS COMING.

Mike Collins and His Heavyweight Stop in Milwaukee.

Fred Fulton is expected to arrive in Duluth some time today. The big, Rock-ester heavyweight and Manager Mike Collins remained over in Milwaukee last evening to witness the battle between Matt Wells and Charley White. According to calculations, the pair were to catch a late rattler out of the Cream City.

Ferry Kellar, the big fellow who has been fighting in Australia, is expected to arrive here the first of the week. Both Fulton and Kellar will complete their training here. Fulton will have Jack Moran with him and the two heavyweights will work out daily in the Zenith Athletic club's gymnasium. Freddie Gilmore may come on to work with Fulton.

Jimmy Asht, the crack light-Duluth bantamweight, will also come up about Tuesday. The little fellow is working in Cook's Minneapolis gymnasium at the present time.

St. Paul followers of Fulton presented the big fellow with a floral horseshoe just before the battle Thursday evening with Arthur Pelkey. The big crowd of St. Paul night fans made the trip over to watch Fulton work.

PLAYERS STAY OUT.

Yale Will Not Reinstate Summer Baseball Rule Violators.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30.—Yale will not reinstate the five athletes who recently withdrew from intercollegiate competition, so long as the Yale rule concerning playing so-called summer baseball stands in its present form. This was made plain by Prof. Robert S. Crowin, chairman of the Yale Athletic committee, who made public a letter he had written to Dean Le Baron Riegs of Harvard. Both Harvard and Princeton had written to Prof. Crowin, expressing the desire of the undergraduates of those universities that the athletes be allowed to rejoin

IMPROVEMENT

Eastern Situation One of Development of So-Called Big Fellows.

Harvard and Yale Face Strong Opponents; Princeton Expected to Win.

New York, Oct. 30.—Whether the Harvard and Yale teams have begun to improve after their defeats earlier in the season is the big question that may be solved in Eastern gridiron battles this afternoon. Both Blue and Crimson teams will again face eleven capable of putting them to a severe test. Yale's chances of victory over the strong Colgate eleven at New Haven were regarded before the game as dubious.

Harvard men hope that the Crimson team will show some of its old-time ability in the match with Pennsylvania state at Cambridge. In view of Penn State's victory over Pennsylvania, the Princeton looked for an easy victory over Williams at Princeton while the Dartmouth eleven anticipated a hard battle with Amherst at Amherst.

Unless Yale shows remarkable improvement in form, Colgate is likely to make the meeting between the two teams at New Haven an interesting one for the Blue, as Washington and the Harvard did last Saturday. The Harvard eleven has proved a powerful scoring machine this season, and in the four games to date, has rolled up 104 points to their opponents' zero.

Harvard succeeded in holding Penn State to a tie game last season, but will face a harder problem today since to be on edge in this contest, and it is not likely that Harvard will come back against the Penn State team, making the outcome of the game problematical.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 30.—Harvard planned to send in the strongest team available against Pennsylvania State college at the stadium today, and hope of preventing a repetition of last year's defeat in the Cambridge game. The coaches were hopeful of a much better showing today than against Cornell last Saturday.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30.—Colgate's unbeaten and undefeated team will play with Duluth against the crack Banholtzers of St. Paul at Athletic park tomorrow.

TO SETTLE THE HOCKEY MATTER

Fans Want Amateur League Games Played in Curling Club.

It is expected that the question of hockey will be threshed out during the coming week by the directors of the Duluth Curling club and the representatives of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league.

While there is some difference of opinion between the directors and hockey league representatives at the present time, it is not believed that the differences are of so grave a nature that an understanding can not be reached.

The majority of fans throughout the city are really anxious to have the league prosper and prosper. It is admitted on all sides that the best way to settle the matter is to permit it to play its games in the curling club.

Practically all of the star players of last year are ready to play again this year. If the league plan goes through this season will be even higher than that of last year, when the league enjoyed the greatest success in its history.

JOE STECHER

PINS AMERICUS

Nebraska Farmer Boy Defeats Easterner in Jig Time.

Joe Stecher, the sensational young Nebraska farmer boy, recently defeated Americus at Lincoln Thursday evening in straight falls, winning the first fall from the Baltimore man in six minutes and twenty-three seconds, while the second and deciding fall won in two minutes and thirty-three seconds.

Americus conceded the third fall to the husky farmer boy when the dead-leg scissors hold was fastened around the body of the Eastern man. Stecher rushed in at the call of time and the second bout and the husky Americus all over the mat, pinning the shoulders of the blocky Eastern man to the mat by sheer strength.

While the Season Is Still Young the Pin Spillers Have Already Broken Several Records—Great Game Expected Between Oak Halls and Shark-crafts.

Another week of bowling has passed in the major league and the Oak Halls retain their hold on the leadership, with the Sharkcrafts second and the Big Duluth third. The league has not yet begun to improve after their defeats earlier in the season, but failed to drop back to fourth place in the averages, the Big Duluths leading the league in the matter of team averages with a mark of 831.

It fell to the lot of the Oak Halls to roll the high three-game average so far during the present season. The Sharkcrafts have rolled up to the high average of 2,863 to date. The Sharkcrafts also broke into the top record columns during the present week by rolling 1,016 for the high game score. A great game is promised next week when the Oak Hall league leaders hook up with the Sharkcrafts. The game separates the two teams and some lusty battle is looked for.

Burns of the Oak Halls leads the individual bowlers, with Ottersen of the Sharkcrafts in second place. Both of the Oak Halls rolled two nice games during the present week. He was absent during one of the games but in the two games Lettune worked in he got a 412 and 217 score, a total of 629 for two games.

All of the players are going at a great pace, considering the fact that it is just the start of the season. If the speed struck thus early in the season is maintained there will be some great games during the course of the bowling year.

Greater interest is being displayed in the major league games this season than ever before in the history of bowling. The high quality is being responsible for this enthusiasm upon the part of the fans, who are coming to be a real bowling center and the work of the major league players so far the present season has had much to do with this.

FOOTBALL FANS OFTEN MAKE REFUSE THE GOAT

Is Blamed By Spectators for Imposing Penalties That Were Called By Other Officials.

BY WALTER H. ROCKERSALL.

Although numerous changes have been made in the football rules since the installation of the forward pass and ten-yard rule in 1906, the code is not so hard to understand as most persons believe. It is true there are more penalties in the present game than under the old regime, but a careful study of the code will clear up any number of points which the average fan is puzzled to understand.

Each of the four officials has certain plays which come under his jurisdiction. It seldom happens that one arbiter will overrule a point made by another, although the referee is the boss of the game. In most cases the referee has sole jurisdiction over the ball. If the umpire calls a foul, the referee must take the ball and pace off a fifteen-yard penalty. It is a frequent occurrence to hear someone shout disapproval of the referee when he is simply carrying out the order of the umpire, field judge or head linesman.

The penalties in numerical order are: (1) A team is penalized two yards when it calls for time more than three times during the first two periods of the first half without making a substitution. (2) A team is penalized five yards when it takes too long to make a substitution. (3) A team is penalized five yards when it takes too long to make a substitution. (4) A team is penalized five yards when it takes too long to make a substitution. (5) A team is penalized five yards when it takes too long to make a substitution. CITY COUNCIL ORDERS BIG CHANGE IN BIDDING SYSTEM Methods Adopted Twenty Years Ago Are to Be Dropped.

Voss Explains Plan to Avoid Leaks in Finances.

Revision of the city's entire purchasing system, which has been in force for the last twenty years, was ordered by the council at a special session this morning.

The resolution ordering the change was introduced by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, the details having been prepared by O. B. Thayer, city accountant. It will be made effective immediately and will stop any possible chance of double payments, department leaks or loose systems, according to the finance head.

The resolution which was adopted rescinds all former measures conflicting with it but permits the various departments to do work for one another without coming under this new rule.

Statement by Voss.

The following statement was given out this morning by Commissioner Voss in explanation of the new purchasing system:

"Prior to the ordering of articles and services necessary for a department to carry on its duties and activities, the contracting department is to make a written requisition, in detail, for the articles and services needed. For the month this requisition consists of four copies, named respectively: Purchase order, purchase requisition, duplicate and receiving report.

The first copy, or purchase order, after being certified to by the city auditor that it is authorized by a requisition to the vendor and is his only authority to deliver the goods or services specified therein, and for which the city will hold itself liable for payment. This purchase order is to be retained by the vendor, but the auditor's number thereof must be indicated on all bills or invoices covering articles or services delivered to any of the departments of the city on such purchase order.

"The second copy, or purchase requisition, original, after being certified to by the responsible department head and the commissioner of such department, that the articles or services specified therein are necessary for the department, and are to be used for the benefit of the city of Duluth, and that sufficient funds have been appropriated and unexpended to pay the amount thereof, is to be surrendered to the city auditor, and is to be retained by him to attach to the invoices or bills of the vendor when they are received for payment.

"The third copy, or purchase requisition, duplicate is to be retained by the department and is their record of the transaction.

"The fourth copy, or receiving report, is retained by the department until the receipt of the articles or performance of the services specified therein. A certification covering the date of the receipt of the articles or performance of the services, and a verification of the quality and quantity thereof, is signed by the party who actually received the articles or under whose immediate direction the services were performed, and by the department head. The receiving report is then attached to the proper invoice or bill of the vendor, and turned over to the city auditor.

Vendors are required to make all invoices or bills in duplicate indicating city auditor's purchase order number thereon, and deliver to the city auditor, who will transmit them to proper departments for the attachment of the receiving report, and the department to the accounts to be charged therefor."

INCREASED FACILITIES OFFERED HOMEOWNERS

Several years ago a great impetus was given to the movement among mechanics and wage earners to own their own homes by the sale of suburban real estate upon the installment plan. The advantages resulting therefrom are becoming more and more apparent every day in the large addition of contented and prosperous homeowners.

A sale of high-class real estate has been put on the market this week in the Lakeside district upon the installment plan of 50 cents a week for 100 lots 60 feet wide and 120 feet deep. To anyone looking for a home site, this would seem to be a home site which might be taken advantage of by anyone, no matter how poor.

This is a special sale in which the real estate firm has secured the cooperation of the lumber companies to furnish the purchasers of the lots building material on remarkably easy terms.

GIRLS GET PERMISSION TO WEAR MEN'S CLOTHES ONE NIGHT

If you promise not to tell a soul—cross your heart you hope to die—you may read this story.

The girls (yes, this is a story about some girls) haven't breathed a word to a single person, so it wouldn't be fair to give them away. Would it?

One of the girls has a brother who owns a cabin, and who has heard many a story of interesting "stag" parties held in the cabin, so when a friend said "Let's have a party," the girl said:

"All right, and let's make it a 'stag' party."

So that's what they're going to do.

They're going to the cabin this afternoon, and stay over Sunday, and there isn't going to be a boy within miles.

And listen, here is the secret part—every single girl is going to wear boys' clothes. They've even taken Chief of Police McKercher into their confidence and got permission to wear trousers for one night only.

Can you imagine that?

For a whole day they are going to climb trees, and chop wood, and let their hands get dirty—and act like real boys. Perhaps they'll even swear, but nobody will know about that.

There are twelve girls in the party, and they all work in one of Duluth's wholesale grocery houses. You can identify the house by learning where there is a shortage in second-best male suits.

The little bird who was naughty enough to tell all this couldn't remember the girls' surnames but this is the way they were known when he flew in through the office window one day not so very long ago: Effie, Helen, Mabel, May, Gertrude, Elsie, Mammie, two Marys and two Esthers.

Now remember, you've promised not to tell!

HALLOWEEN STAGE IS SET

Recreational Director All Ready for Municipal Observance.

No Curfew—All "Kids" Young and Old May Stay Out.

Everything is set for Duluth's third annual Halloween celebration this evening.

The parade, led by the Third Regiment band, will start at 7 o'clock and the children are all expected to be in costume of some kind. Tin pans, cans, anything to make noise, are welcomed by the officials in charge of the parade.

The line of march will continue down Second avenue east to Superior street and then east to Lake shore park. The boys will be started on the arrival of the marchers, while four large floats will be lit on each corner of the grounds.

Director Batchelor, aided by several assistants, will stage the Halloween games on a platform, while dancing will be the program on the grounds. The band will play throughout the evening.

Local produce exchange donated fifteen barrels of apples and these, together with the 400 pounds of peanuts purchased by the city, will be distributed as soon as the festivities are all under way.

Those who will assist Mr. Batchelor are Park Manager Cleveland, Robert Herr, Leland Bartlett, Miss Ruth Allen, Miss Alice Lee and Miss Louise Ghe.

Commissioner Silbertstein announced this morning that the curfew which will not blow tonight, so that the children need have no fear of being arrested.

This morning Mayor Prince announced that all the commissioners will attend the celebration.

TURN DOWN OFFER OF PARK PROPERTY.

"After you get it, what are you going to do with it?"

This popular phrase came into the discussion at the council meeting this morning when the commission were considering the offer of a piece of land near Woodland, offered this week by the city of Duluth.

As a result Mayor Prince was authorized to turn down the offer.

It was pointed out that, although the city is desirous of opening a park near Woodland, the large tract would not be of use for many years to come and that the finances of the city at present do not warrant the expense.

Preparing for Suffrage Meeting

National Association Arranges Elaborate Program for Convention at Washington, D. C.—Conference Will Replace Mass Meetings—Delegates Will Tour Government Buildings and Visit Congress.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—The annual convention of the National Suffrage association, which will be held in this city during the week of Dec. 13, is already occupying the attention of Washington suffragists, even though the eyes of the world are turned this week towards the three big Eastern states which vote next Tuesday. The various local committees and subcommittees are busy at work, to the end that the convention wheels may be well oiled by the third week in December.

Sixty-five Organizations.
This annual convention was held in Washington two years ago, at which time more than 600 regularly appointed delegates attended. In view of the enormous impetus given to the movement by the campaigns of these two intervening years, it is expected that the number of delegates from every state will be more than doubled.

The association includes sixty-five organizations, representing the country from Maine to Hawaii. The local committee is making elaborate plans to provide for the convention of delegates and the speedy transaction of business. The convention headquarters will be at the New Willard, one of the leading hotels in Washington. It is situated near the White House and other government buildings, yet in the heart of the business and shopping district, and easy of access from all points.

Those delegates making their headquarters at the Willard will not have to go outside of it for any reason save the one great mass meeting on Sunday. The whole tenth floor will be given up to the suffragists for the week. This includes not only the two ballrooms for the main meetings, but three smaller rooms and two large corridors. These will be used for consultation and conference rooms, check room, and for the display of literature and suffrage novelties of the National Publishing company.

Busy Time for Delegates.
The program, so far as it has been announced, indicates busy sessions for the delegates throughout the entire week. This year's program includes not only business sessions in the daytime, but evening conferences as well. These latter take the place of the mass meetings open to the public which hitherto have always been a feature of suffrage conventions. Only one big mass meeting will be held at the theater Sunday, Dec. 19. This change is due to the increase in the business of the association, which has made it necessary to allow the day sessions to be free for the transaction of business. The conference two of which will be held simultaneously each evening, will be devoted to a discussion of practical methods for carrying on the suffrage work, both through federal and state amendments, and will cover such topics as publicity, congressional district organization, campaign organization and suffrage literature.

Congressional District Organization.
One of the most important conferences held during the week, which will extend probably over two evenings, will be the conference on congressional district organization. The organization of all the states by districts is a work which was begun and has been carried to completion by Mrs. Medill McCormick during her two years' incumbency of the chairmanship of the national congressional committee. This organization makes perfect the co-operation between the national and the state committees in the work for a Federal amendment, giving, as it does, a backing of constituents to the congressional lobby of the national committee.

The social features of the annual gathering, while made as attractive as possible, will be planned so as not to interfere with the main purpose of the convention, which is to discuss and decide upon the activities and policies of the association for the coming year. Among other things there will be one big reception to the delegates given by a prominent Washington hostess.

Information Bureau at Station.
The College Equal Suffrage league will maintain a bureau of information at the Union station for two days preceding the convention for the convenience of the delegates. Miss Mary O'Toole, secretary of the league, has already secured a permit for the booth, which will be richly decorated with suffrage colors and furnished with maps and guides. A group of young girls from the college league will be on hand each day to dispense hospitality to arriving delegates. This booth will be in charge of Mrs. Charles J. Windle, treasurer of the College Equal Suffrage league.

Besides the usual social features, which are being arranged by the local committee, has instituted a new plan for the entertainment of delegates in the form of personally conducted tours of congress and the government buildings. Members of the Washington branch of the league and the Washington Woman Suffrage council will serve as guides for the groups of delegates during the hours when there are no sessions. It is thought that the delegates to the city may see some of the interesting points of the Capital City which they might otherwise be unaware. Miss Florence F. Stiles, president of the league, has charge of this feature.

Annual Council Meeting.
The National Equal Suffrage league, of which Miss M. Carey Thomas of Bryn Mawr is president, will hold its annual council meeting and subscription luncheon on Saturday, Dec. 18, at the New Willard hotel. The league is the largest of the organizations affiliated with the national committee to send in their names. The league and the Washington Woman Suffrage council will serve as guides for the groups of delegates during the hours when there are no sessions. It is thought that the delegates to the city may see some of the interesting points of the Capital City which they might otherwise be unaware. Miss Florence F. Stiles, president of the league, has charge of this feature.

Lodge Notes.
A committee of the Ladies' auxiliary to the Twin Falls Lodge of Masons, No. 28, is arranging for a ball to be held in Tower hall, Supor, Nov. 28.

Theosophical Society
The Duluth lodge of the Theosophical society will hold its regular lodge meeting for members only Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the lodge room, 20 Temple building. A special session open to those interested in theosophy, will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the same place. Morning study class meets at 10:45 o'clock.

Church Meetings.
Westminster auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church will meet at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. H. Burnett, 1801 East Fourth street.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller will speak on "Our National Defense" Tuesday evening, following the dinner of the Endowment club, which will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the church parlors.

A. Kerr, 4623 Pitt street. Mrs. Frank Crosswell will be the leader.

Former Missionary to Turkey
Will Speak at Pilgrim Church

Miss Sophie Holt, a missionary of the Congregational church who was exiled from Turkey last August will speak at the vespers service of Pilgrim Congregational church, which will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Unitarian church. Miss Holt will have been a pilgrim since she was 9 years old. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holt of West Fifth street.

Illini Club Will Meet
Mr. and Mrs. George C. Olmstead of 1214½ East Fourth street will entertain the Illini club at auction bridge Monday evening. The club is composed of alumni of the University of Illinois living in Duluth and the vicinity. Members from the range towns will attend this meeting.

Old Kid Gloves Will Help Make Soldiers Comfortable
Every woman in Duluth can help materially in the French and Belgian relief work by cleaning and mending her cast-off kid gloves to the Y. W. C. A. These gloves, rare to be used in making wind-proof vests for the soldiers.

The relief organization for the war sufferers has received many pairs of gloves but needs others. As the need is urgent the Duluth women are asked to send in their gloves at once.

Mrs. Clara B. Morton, organist at the First Baptist church, will play piano and piano this year. Her specialty is voice building. Mrs. Morton, who has been a pianist since she was 9 years old, received her musical education in Boston.

OUR skill and long experience enable us to test your eyes in the very best manner.

Charity Ball Will Be Brilliant Affair

Decorations Will Be Elaborate—Many New Names On Invitation List.

The Charity ball which will be given Nov. 19 at the Spaulding promises to be an exceptionally brilliant affair, judging by the number of newcomers, as well as old residents, who have signified their intention of attending by responding to the plea of the invitation committee to send in their names. The invitation committee worked yesterday at the home of the chairman, Mrs. L. C. Barnett, from 5 o'clock until 4, when Mrs. Mills Bunnell took them for an automobile trip around the Boulevard. This break in the work necessitated a continued meeting today. The invitations will be mailed the first of the week. Those interested in the ball are asked to send in names at once, so as to be taken by the committee. Many invitations have been sent to the range and the committee in charge is hoping there will be more responses than last year, as the Children's home does a great deal of work for the entire county. This can be assured by reference to Miss Monroe of Virginia, Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing, Mr. Everett and other representative charity workers of the county.

The decorating committee is busy on the elaborate plan of decoration. It will give the ball not only to raise funds for running expenses of the home, but to start an entertainment fund to provide larger quarters and larger grounds. There are now in the home twenty-five babies besides 100 children.

WHISKEY COSTS ONLY 12 CENTS A GALLON

A Kansas City man is mailing a free book giving the formula by which the Whiskey Trust makes their $5 per gallon whiskey for only 12c per gallon. Mr. Marcel, located at 518 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo., has published a book entitled "Secrets of the Whiskey Trust Exposed," and "Why Is Marcel a Socialist," in which he shows how the whiskey trust takes a bushel of corn, a pinch of barley malt, a penny's worth of yeast, and makes five gallons of whiskey at a total cost of less than 50c, and then sells it from four to five dollars a gallon. He explains how the whiskey barons make their millions and shows who pays for their mansions and automobiles. The book is a fascinating story of a great crime against the consumers of whiskey. Mr. Marcel is mailing out thousands of these books exposing the secret formula of the whiskey trust on account of the trust's fight against him. Any one interested should write for the book, as it will be sent free. Advertisement.
